THE 1920 CONVENTION.

Leo T. Wolford—Epsilon '12.

The Annual Convention of 1920, which was held at Franklin College, Franklin, Indiana, November 12th and 13th, established the high-water mark for accomplishment. The minutes of the convention, which are to be published, clearly demonstrate that fact. After it was all over, we wondered how so much had been done in so short a time. There were two things about this convention, which nobody present could fail to observe; one was the systematic order of business under the direction of Brother Ewart and the other was the carefully laid plans of Epsilon Chapter for our entertainment. Without these, we could not have adjourned with a clean slate.

Our meals were prepared and served at the Baptist church and the convention banquet was held there. The business of the convention was conducted in a large assembly room of the Epsilon chapter house.

The first meeting was on Friday night. At that time, reports of the committees were received and acted upon, after which the convention, as a committee of the whole, considered rather informally some of the more important constitutional amendments which had been suggested and which were to be voted upon by the convention upon the following day. It was decided at this first meeting that any changes which should be made in the constitution should be passed by a two-thirds vote of the delegates present. Although the existing constitution did not seem to require such a majority (it was silent on the question), the delegates imposed upon themselves this limitation by consent of all present.

The Saturday session, which lasted throughout the day except for a short lunch period, clearly proved that the delegates had come with a determination to finish in the most acceptable manner the difficult work of revising the constitution. No day since the founding of our fraternity has been as important in its history as Saturday, November 13, 1920. It was apparent that all of the delegates had considered carefully and studiously what side to take on each suggested change; there was no lack of conviction and no lack of courage on the part of any one to state his views and clearly present his reasons therefor. On the other hand, every phase of the old constitution was taken up and considered carefully and judiciously, and with such deliberation that in no case was there a serious disagreement when it came time to take a vote. Everybody was urged to say without reserve what he thought on any amendment; the result was that we had free discussion on every point. The principal reason why I have faith in the completeness and in the lasting effect of this constitution before it has had sufficient time to prove itself, is that the delegates at first disagreed on almost every sentence that went into it, but the final document was born of honest compromise and, as finally adopted, contains the composite judgment of the informed representatives of the whole fraternity. The constitution which is submitted to the fraternity in this issue of the Scroll was not made for the convention by any one man or by any group of men but it is the actual product of the brains and labor of the convention itself. After all of the amendments were decided upon piece by piece, the resulting new constitution was adopted without an objecting vote. We know now that we are absolutely united in fundamentals; the test of any society's ability to act unitedly in whatever it undertakes, is that it can, with perfect harmony and deliberation, repair its own foundation.

It was decided to hold the convention next November at Penn State College, State College, Pa.

OUR TRIP TO THE CONVENTION.

Prof. F. C. Ewart—Delta —.

For two of the Grand Officers, the convention at Epsilon brought back most delightful memories. It recalled to Don Belden and myself the trip taken a year and a half before, when we went out there to install our fifth chapter, thereby becoming a real National fraternity, with five chapters in three different states. We thought of the enthusiastic group of men whom we found at that time, a group which had the traditions of ten years of fine service in upholding high ideals, and which had just been waiting for a national with ideals similar to its own. We recalled how, after returning from the installation banquet, Brother Thurston brought out a K.D.R. plaque all ready to replace the Phi Alpha Pi sign on the front of the house, so that the earliest passerby might know that the fraternity had gone national; for everything had been kept strictly secret, so that the matter was a complete surprise to the student body. At the banquet we asked them to be the nucleus for other chapters in the Middle West and they promptly said they would do so. The first fruits of this were seen in the organization last Spring of the Zeta Psi fraternity of Purdue University by charter members from Epsilon who transferred to Purdue for technical work. The Grand Officers visited them just previous to the convention and their petition for a charter is now before the fraternity. Another excellent local, Delta Pi of the University of Illinois, is also petitioning for a charter, so that the prospects for growth in the Middle West are excellent.

On our return from visiting this local, we had the misfortune to be in a wreck, in which our sleeper was overturned, but by some miracle we all escaped injury. This accident caused a delay in our arrival at Franklin, but there was still time for a session on Friday evening. It was largely one of informal discussion upon the Statement of Principles, which prepared us for harmonious action the following day upon this subject of prime importance. Saturday's sessions were long and full of important business. Thanks to the New York Alumni, a thorough revision of the Constitution had been worked out with great care. There was, of course, a difference of opinion on many points but the spirit of the convention was fine and I believe there is a far better understanding between the various chapters than ever before.

The sessions of the convention were held in the commodious Fraternity House which is very conveniently located across from the college. Epsilon is to be congratulated upon having secured this favorable home. Meals were served by the Baptist ladies and the convention closed with a banquet in the Baptist church, at which there were toasts by members of the faculty and also by representatives of other fraternities at Franklin. The Epsilon brothers entertained us in fine style and it was exceedingly appropriate that an alumnus of this chapter was selected to be our leader for the coming year. Let us give Brother Wolford our enthusiastic and whole-hearted support and co-operation.

THE REPORT OF THE G. C.—November 12, 1920.

At the last convention it was requested that a set form for the admission of new chapters be recommended.

As the result of the experience of the last two years, the following recommendations are made:

First—The G.C., upon learning of a likely prospect, shall send a copy of our statement of principles and, after briefly outlining the history of the fraternity, shall ask whether the local endorses these principles. If so, he shall ask for references which shall include: First, a prominent member of the faculty who knows the group well. Second—The Pastor of the church which most of its members attend. Third—A well-known business man in the town where the local is situated.

If the correspondence with these men shall prove favorable, the G.C. shall arrange with the Grand Officers for a visit to the prospective chapter. This committee shall send a report of its findings to the various chapters before a vote shall be taken as to granting a charter.

The following form letters are recommended, to be sent to the references:

First, to the member of the faculty:

As President of the Kappa Delta Rho Fraternity, I wish to ask your opinion of the members of such and such a fraternity. Are they men who are thoroughly in sympathy with Christian principles and ideals? What can you say of their scholarship? What of their participation in student activities? Are they influential men in the student body? Have they a faculty member? In what esteem are they held by the other fraternities? How long have they been organized? Have they ever been refused admission by a national fraternity?

Secondly, to the Pastor:

I am writing you for your opinion on such and such a fraternity. What is their reputation in the community? Are they men who are thoroughly in sympathy with Christian principles and ideals? To what extent do they enter into the church life of the town? Do they stand for the best things and are they of a strong, virile type? The main object of our fraternity is character building and we want to be sure that a prospective chapter has our ideals before we grant it a charter.

Thirdly, to the business man:

Will you kindly give me your opinion of the members of such and such a fraternity. What is their reputation in the community? Are they prompt in meeting business obligations?

The G.C. shall not encourage a local to petition for a charter unless the investigation shall prove favorable. The petition shall include the statement of principles or ideals of the local, its history, a list of its active members with their pictures and a statement of the classification, college honors and college activities of each, together with a copy of the last college annual.

REPORT OF THE CHARTER COMMITTEE—Nov. 9, 1920.

It is the opinion of the Charter Committee:—

1. That a charter should be presented by the G. Chapter to each local after being admitted to the fraternity and after becoming a duly qualified chapter of it. The charter should be evidenced by a charter certificate signed by the fraternity (National) officers and with the seal of the fraternity affixed. A charter certificate should have a prominent place in each chapter room of the existing chapters as well as of the ones to come. Similar charters are issued by most fraternities and lodges, and it is comparable to the certificate of incorporation which shows that a company has the right to do business.

2. That such charter certificates should be an engraving of a distinctive character or design upon parchment or linen paper. This is customary. The certificate should be about 20 x 27 inches, being neither too large or too small. The name of the fraternity should be at the top, with the monogram encircled with the words: "Honor, Truth, Justice and Virtue," from the ritual. The date of the founding, and a specific grant of the charter in appropriate words, signed by the G. Officer would then follow, with a place for the fraternity seal. The verbage is a matter of detail which should be left to the charter committee co-operating with the executive committee.

3. That the design should be drawn by one of the engraver's artists, approved, of course, by the charter committee. This will eliminate confusion, delay and assures us of a design that can be readily engraved. If the design were to be submitted to each chapter for approval, it might take several years before one entirely satisfactory to all is decided upon, and the committee in the exercise of its discretion would probably agree upon one that would prove neither too hideous nor too beautiful.

4. That the original cost of the engraving of the plate would be about $350, with 12 engraved certificates. This expenditure can be financed by requiring each chapter to purchase a certificate at $25 or $50 each, and each new chapter would pay for it in the form of a charter or installation fee.

If the convention is of the belief that the Charter Certificate should be prepared, (and it will have to be done eventually), we recommend:

1. That a resolution be adopted specifically authorizing the charter committee to draft an appropriate charter certificate.

2. That the charter committee be authorized to engage an engraver to draw the design and engrave the plate, the committee to request bids from a number of engravers. Total cost not to exceed $500.

3. That the National treasurer be authorized to pay to the engraver selected the initial deposit that may be required, and also to make the final payment.

4. That the National treasurer be authorized to assess each chapter its proportionate share of the cost. (Resolutions 3 and 4 are necessary because none of us individually can pay a bill of from three to four hundred dollars. And also all financial matters should be handled by the treasurer).

5. That a resolution be adopted requiring each chapter to display in a prominent place in the chapter room its charter certificate properly signed and sealed.

6. That each new chapter be required to pay an installation equivalent to the assessment provided in No. 4.

The above recommendations if approved by the convention will permit of prompt action in satisfying a want, and it will permit of action, instead of conferences and delays. If the convention is satisfied with the work of Brother Bologiano and myself, I suggest that we be authorized to continue our work, and Brother Gilchrist, who is permanently located with the Corporation Trust Co. here, be added to the committee, making it a committee of three instead of two.

For the Committee,

Fraternally,

(Signed) O. A. SCHLOBOHM.

It is hoped that the chapters will respond promptly with their notes, and also with their finances, for the January number is now overdue and will appear as soon as possible after this issue. A Directory Number will be published as soon as possible, therefore it is extremely important that the chapters send in lists of their brothers at the earliest possible moment. Some chapters have already done this. A complete directory is an urgent need at the present moment. Alumni must also do their share by sending in their addresses together with their subscriptions, and by doing it promptly.

Be sure to read the last page of this issue very carefully. It means money to someone.

Through the kindness and thoughtful generosity of Prof. Ewart of Delta, this issue of the Seroll can be sent to each of the new chapters at the University of Illinois and Purdue, respectively. Prof. Ewart sent a check for twelve dollars and seventy-five cents so that fifty-one copies may be sent to these chapters, one copy for each brother.

This issue has been delayed due to the fact that the G.P., elected at the last convention, could not serve in that capacity, and thus the minutes were unavoidably late in being compiled and sent out. The January issue will appear very soon after this number and will be devoted entirely to the eight chapters.

As will be noted under the roll of chapters, Kappa Delta Rho has expanded even farther to the westward. Two chapters have been added just as this number goes to press. The January issue, appearing in the very near future, will contain complete news of the installations at Eta and Theta.

As announced in the last issue of the Scroll, the quarterly numbers will hereafter appear in the months of January, April, July and October. This number is the last one for 1920, and most of the annual subscriptions expire with it. It is hoped that all alumni will promptly send in their subscription fees in order that future numbers will not be delayed, and that the Scroll may enlarge both in actual size and real usefulness to the fraternity. It is the duty of every alumnus, not only to subscribe for himself, but also to urge others to subscribe.

KAPPA DELTA RHO SONG CONTEST

The following extract was taken from a letter to the Scroll, written by Prof. Ewart, former G. C. and is self-explanatory. It only proves more conclusively Prof. Ewart's unselfish and generous interest in his fraternity.

"For a long time I have felt that we ought to have more Kappa Delta Rho songs. In order to stimulate competition in the writing of good Fraternity songs I am going to offer $25.00 in prizes; $15.00 to the Kappa Delta Rho man, undergraduate or alumnus who composes the best song with original words and music, and $10.00 to the one who composes the best song to be set to some familiar tune."

The Rules for the Contest are as Follows:

1. The songs are to be submitted to Prof. Ewart on or before May 1, 1921.
 2. Any Kappa Delta Rho undergraduate or alumnus is eligible.
 3. All songs are to be submitted under an assumed name. The real name of the contestant should be sent to Prof. Ewart in a sealed envelope with his assumed name written on the outside.
 4. A contestant may offer as many songs as he desires.
 5. The songs will be judged by a committee appointed by the G. C.
 6. Fifteen dollars will be paid to the composer of the best song with original words and music.
- Ten dollars will be paid to the composer of the best song with original words to be set to some familiar tune.
