years at Franklin College I still want to see Kappa Delta Rho survive and prosper.

Strange that I only recognize two or three names in the list of contributors to Loyalty Fund in QUILL AND SCROLL from Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho. LAMBDA CHAPTER IS HOST TO 39TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

The 39th Annual Convention is now history. We came to Berkeley saw the beautiful West Coast and conquered the problems that made it one of the important conventions in our history. August 24-27 were full days in Berkeley, from the first buffet supper to the last picnic in the redwoods.

Buffet Supper

Informality reigned at the first meeting of delegates and guests on Thursday evening when everyone gathered around the Lambda table to get acquainted. In the meeting which followed Dean Clyde Johnson was the main speaker: his topic - Chapter House Discussions. Stressing the importance of discussions among the actives on controversial subjects he asked delegates and guests to carry back to their chapters a plea for organized chapter discussions in which both sides of questions are aired. He called for scientific approach to problems to be solved by openminded adults.

THE CONVENTION

The formal meetings began on Friday morning with reports from delegates and officers. A departure from regular procedure was instituted with mimeographed chapter reports in detail, to be Front row: Bill Larsen (Iota), Morry Albertson (Rho), Jack Dull (Delta), Garland Y. machine on the forthcoming directory would save about \$700, enough to pay for the machine. Its use was advocated for all $K\Delta P$ publications. To meet the budget for 1950-51 the Convention voted to retain the off-set method of printing at a saving of more than \$600 in the yearly budget.

Your editor predicted a more general use of the Vari-Typer for chapter publications and rushing pamphlets as soon as it is released from the grueling job of taken back to the chapter actives who could study them at their leisure. Having written reports to replace the former oral reports of delegates was heralded as an advance in getting information of each chapter to all KDRdom.

The Editor's Report

Your editor made a detailed report on the present status of the KDR printing program. He explained that the use of the Vari-Typer had saved more than $150 on the Spring Issue of our magazine and that the use of the setting up 5500 names and addresses. He reported that several large fraternities had installed the Vari-Typer and were pleased with resulting savings. His written report asked all chapters to send in news as it happens to be sure of its insertion in the next issue of the Quill and Scroll.

Change in Constitution

By far the biggest question to come before the Convention was on the so-called discrimination clause, in effect since the adoption of the constitution. Although an extra session on Sunday morning was needed to finish the discussion, harmony was restored after a heated debate when the delegates mustered a majority of votes to remove the restrictive clause from the constitution. Opponents of the non-restrictive clause were appeased by proponents of the new clause with the assurance that members in the future would be chosen on merit and not by any zeal to use the fraternity as a guinea pig for social experimentation.

Another change in the clause pertaining to the purposes of KAP was passed by a large majority. The clause re-stated the purposes of our fraternity in the light of contemporary education and, to combat communism, calls on all members to dedicate themselves to Christian principles.

Formal Banquet

The formal banquet was held in the beautiful Lido Deck of the famous Hotel Claremont atop the Berkeley Hills. The toastmaster was Merritt Rowland, Λ '26, past director who did a notable job at perhaps the best attended convention banquet in our history.

Speaker of the evening was Dr. Baldwin M. Woods, AXP and vice-president of the California extension division. He philosophized on the contemporary fraternity and university, using his numerous experiences to illustrate his talk.

The banquet was attended by many wives of members from both the host chapter, Lambda, and the East. Several additional tables were set up to accommodate the many guests.

CONVENTION CLOSE-UPS

CONVENTION BANQUET PERSONALITIES At the head table, Merritt Rowland, MC supreme and coordinator of the program. At the piano, JandeJong, Delta'52, the KDR Paderewski of the keyboard. The soloist, Dale Monroe, Nu'51, the Indiana thrush.

Ted Tronoff, Λ '48, entertained the whole gang at the family bungalow near Santa Cruz on Sunday following the extra morning session. Easterners got a look at the gigantic redwoods in the Big Basin, through which the route passed. Refreshments were plentiful at the picnic. Swimming was enjoyed by many at a community pool.

JUST BEFORE THE COPS ARRIVED.

The Rukus at Lambda is a famous event. It starts out, innocently enough, with an informal discussion (above) following a buffet supper. With the aid of California grapefruit juice it was not long before the guests were raising their voices in praise of California, so high in fact that the neighbors became totally unappreciative of the vocal spirit evinced by the KDR's on convention. A kindly but firm persuasion convinced them that they were losing sleep, - somebody else's.

CONVENTION RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, many individuals and groups have contributed to the success of the program of this 39th Annual Convention of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity and to the pleasure and convenience of the convention delegates and members, therefore be it

RESOLVED: that the 39th Annual Convention of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity express its deep appreciation and gratitude to: LAMBDA, the host chapter and especially to

BROTHER MERLE GARING, chairman of the Host Committee,

BROTHER HOWARD FRIESEN, president of Lambda chapter and assistant chairman,

BROTHER STAN COLBERSON, president of Lambda Alumni and assistant chairman, and

To all others who in any way contributed to the success of this program.

Larry Meyer - Balfour Award Winner

MAKE WAY - CHAMPION COMING!

By Lou Silvasi

Although the men of Kappa Delta Rho throughout the country have boasted innumerable outstanding athletes, there are always a few more select men who surpass the normal requirements for fame and glory. The men of NU chapter at Indiana University are more than justified in feeling just that way about Larry Meyer, a brilliant swimmer from Bloomington, Illinois.

Corky, as he is sometimes called, has gone beyond fulfilling the potentialities he displayed while swimming for Bloomington High School more than three years ago. He was the first prep swimmer to win two state championships in swimming and diving in Illinois high school history and made the highschool all-America swimming team. In addition. Corky received an honorable mention on the all-state football squad, and he also starred with his highschool baseball team.

Larry was undecided when he came to Indiana whether to choose swimming or football. He chose swimming, although to this day he claims to like football better. He saw that his opportunities and talents were better in swimming so he wisely made that choice.

He wasted no time in showing his ability, and in his sophomore year he made the varsity swim squad and proceeded to set a few records. He broke the varsity record for the 150-yard backstroke and also broke the pool record here at Indiana for the 150-yard individual medley. His impressive performance won him the honor of being elected team captain for the 1950-51 swim season.

At the end of the season, Larry continued his swimming and was the only I.U. swimmer in the N.C. A.A. meet of 1949-50 held at Columbus, Ohio. He surpassed expectations by placing in the meet. He then entered the Big Ten championship meet at Ann Arbor and again made a fine showing by placing in three events. Corky accomplished all these feats during his sophomore year, and one would think that it was just about enough for one year; however, he had different ideas and entered the state A.A.U. meet at Columbus, Indiana and also the Shakamak open at Jasonville, Indiana. Here he took part in seven events which included 27 races. When it was all over, Corky had won 20, placed second in six, and came in fifth in the other. He had set three new state A. A. U. records.

Well, this should have been enough, but again Larry decided to keep moving, so he took part in the Shamrock Cross-River Swim at Lousiville, a race across the Ohio from the Indiana to the Kenside. Larry won the event and beat his nearest rival by twenty meters. His rival happened to be a four-year winner of the event.

By the end of the summer, Larry was awarded the Balfour Award of Indiana University for bringing honor and distinction to his school. He was also voted all-American in the 150-yard individual medley by the College Swim Coaches of America.

Larry is only twenty years old, stands about five feet eight inches high and weighs 155 wringing wet. He's a dark complexioned lad with coal black hair and a winning smile. He likes all sports and is very modest about his own feats. In swimming he prefers his best event, the 150-yard individual medley. Corky is one of the most popular men in the house. He was initiated in the spring of 1950 and certainly has brought much credit to himself and the house.

This year Larry will start his junior year at I.U. and many an expert eye will be watching him. The men at NU are confident that he will add many links to his chain of successes, and why shouldn't he? Isn't he a man of Kappa Delta Rho!

SUCCESSFUL RUSHING BOOKLET

By Don Whiteley

In spring, a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but in the fall his fancy turns to thoughts of rushing and pledging. That, at least, seems to be the attitude of the brothers of the Lafayette RHO chapter.

Under the new Lafayette rushing system, the freshmen are invited to visit the houses on Thursday nights for four successive weeks. when the four weeks have gone by. the brothers have selected a large number of promising freshmen, most of whom are invited to dinner sometime during the following week. During this week of intensive rushing, the brothers get a better chance to pick out the most likely prospects and work on them. At the end of this week the fraternity sends to the dean a list of the men it would 12 like to have. The frosh gives the dean a list of the houses he likes best. When the house he picks has also picked him, he becomes a pledge.

Because of the large number of men visiting the house during the first four Thursday nights, the members of RHO decided that some way had to be established whereby a definitely good and lasting impression of the house could be made on the frosh during his first visit. The answer to the problem appeared in the form of a booklet which is given to each freshman when he visits the house.

The attractive 4x6½ inch booklet was prepared and edited by Junior Tribune Bob Leighton with the help of nearly everyone else in the house. On the inside front cover, the names and addresses of

(See page 17)

Your editor is pleased to publish the following letter in answer to his editorial on scholarship in the last issue of The Quill and Scroll. He is glad that his efforts stimulated thought on this important subject.

One kind criticism I must advance regarding a note in the Spring issue of QUILL AND SCROLL under the inappropriate title A PARADOX. There is certainly no paradox in evidence there. When the Indiana Activities Office suggests that fraternity averages should equal the all-men's average they are certainly more than justified. Why should they expect or condone an average lower than the all-men's average? As Fraternity men we should go one step farther and insist that the fraternity average be above the allmen's average at all universities.

We must put in the total scholastic equation the variables of which we talk viz: motivation (of the group) and optimal study conditions (quiet, tutoring, exam files, etc.). I fail to see how there is any mathematical miscalculation nor tendency to intellectual snobbery. Rather, the fraternity is armored with an excellent sales point i.e. the scholarly atmosphere.

No selectivity is involved as you suggest. Instead, those men of average intellectual ability are motivated by their fraternity colleagues and are guided in improved methods under excellent study conditions.

I only wish to point out that it is sometimes easy to allow our enthusiasm to fog the issues involved. Above all, such enthusiasm is dangerous if (1)

"I don't care if you are a five-letter man. I want you to learn the 26 in the alphabet."

fraternities are to survive and (2) if we are to understand the national policy of one particular fraternity $K\Delta P$ as approving relatively inferior academic successes. Truly $K\Delta P$ must seek then country clubs or bridge groups, not men interested in educational improvements.

Dean Foster, Nu '42

The editor of the Quill and Scroll assumes full responsibility for the editorial comment in the article referred to by Brother Foster. Your editor feels that part of his job is to stimulate thought on some problem connected with fraternities.

Your editor never intended to give the impression that scholastic achievement should be disregarded by KDR or any other fraternity. What he did mean was that it did not add up when a university says that a boy is intelligent enough to be admitted to college but too dumb to be admitted to a fraternity.

Furthermore, if the fraternity men at any college outnumber the non-fraternity men at least some chapters would have to be below the all-men's average. That is nothing but a mathematical fact. If all the men in any given college belonged to fraternities just one-half of the chapters at that college would be below the all-men's average.

No fraternity can survive today by choosing only men on the ragged edge of scholastic oblivion. It can do a job with men of average ability by setting up a program that places the proper emphasis on study habits and scholastic achievement. In this your editor is in complete accord with Brother Foster.

However, your editor still believes that if a college sees fit to admit any student to that college, they assume that he can do the scholastic work required.
Should every student admitted maintain a scholastic average above 90, to strike an average would place exactly 50% of them below the all-men's average, although their marks are in the genius class. Averages here just don't make sense to your editor.

BLIND MEN

Doc Moseley, executive-secretary for SAE, speaking at Indiana Greek Week recently, compared the way the public feels about fraternities to the way that the blind man felt about an elephant after touching only one part of his body. Are you doing your part in informing the public of the lasting value of fraternities?

ARE YOU AN ACTIVE ALUMNUS?

'What one absorbs from four years of fraternity life is a knowledge of how to get along together. What one carries with him into post-college life is the sentiment of brotherhood-the skill and the resolution to share life together in a cooperative enterprise based upon the principles of Christian fellowship and honor. It is for this reason that I refer to the fraternity as potentially the inmost heart of college life in American education.'

Thus does Dr. Cook, Dean of the Breadloaf School of English at Middlebury sum up the advantages of being a member of a fraternity. His chapter in The Pathfinder provides the nucleus for a strenuous pledge training program inaugurated last year.

Are you an active alumnus? Do you slink away in shame when anyone mentions fraternities or does your chest swell with pride when you think of all it meant for you to belong? Do you take pride in what you are unselfishly doing to make others get a worth-while meaning out of life?

It is a significant observation that the alumni who gave the most to their fraternity while in college carried the most with them into the world. It is a fact that the busiest and most successful alumni are the ones who help KAP to give a full life to those who follow. It is these 'snobs' who give the lie to the ignorant enemies of fraternities.

Are you an active alumnus or do you just belong? Your interest in your chapter and your fraternity give the answer. We hope you find in your answer the honor without which the world will end in oblivion.

"Life is not a goblet to be drained, but a measure to be filled."

AWARDED PLAQUE

At the opening convocation of the 1950-51 school year, RHO chapter at Lafayette College was awarded a scholarship plaque by the Dean of Students, Frank Hunt. The plaque was in recognition of being above the all-college scholastic average for the school year 1949-50. RHO chapter had risen from eleventh to third place among the 19 fraternities on campus. The plaque now occupies a conspicuous spot in the chapter living-room.

HAVE YOU CONTRIBUTED?

An impromptu glee club of Lambda actives and alumni entertained at the never-to-be-forgotten banquet at the Claremont. Their repertiore of California songs was much appreciated by many of the 'foreigners' from the East who had never heard them before.

OUR 1950 LOYALTY FUND

1950 is the fifth year for our LOYALTY FUND. The contributions so far have been generous but are far behind last year.

WE'VE DONE WELL - BUT

Over half of our contributors for the first four years haven't been heard from yet. We think they will not want to break their perfect record. Other fraternities raise $15,000 to $20,000 with Loyalty Funds. We don't think KDR men are less loyal.

WHY A LOYALTY FUND?

Every organization today is being squeezed with lower revenues and higher costs. Your QUILL AND SCROLL costs twice as much as it used to. Rail travel for your executive secretary and officers is doubled. The only way to close the gap is with our LOYALTY The only way to close the gap is with our LOYALTY FUND. The actives have voted to raise the initiation fee, but they can't bear the whole burden. The alumni have to shoulder some of the costs to maintain our position.

ONE GRADUATE STUDENT HAS GIVEN $10

this year to the FUND. He is still in school but he believes in his fraternity. Surely we have enough alumni who believe enough to spare something, even if it's only a buck.

ONLY ONE QUARTER OF THE

loyal KDR's have sent in their contributions this year. We believe the other three-quarters have forgotten it. We cannot believe they intended to let our actives down. One alumnus has contributed twice when he discovered the need. Many of the 108 have contributed generously.

WON'T YOU JOIN

the LOYALTY FUND today? Use the postage free envelope inserted in your last QUILL AND SCROLL - or better yet - save us that four cents postage by putting your contribution in your own prepaid envelope. No matter how small or large, your name will be added to the list of Loyal KDR's who are keeping your fraternity vital and alive.

WHERE TO SEND IT?

Just address: THE LOYALTY FUND, 443 Grove Street, Rahway, N.J. The postman will do the rest - but do it now. SEND IN YOUR CONTRIBUTION TODAY.

RUSHING BOOKLET

all the brothers and pledges are given. The first page of the booklet has a picture of our consul, Morry Albertson, and a message from him which states the principles of KAP. The second and third pages form the center spread of the booklet and have an eye-catching layout. In the center is a KAP shield with lines extending radially outward from it. Each of these lines leads to one of a list of 22 campus activities in which KAP's are active. Actually, the list isn't complete but space limited the number of activities given. The fourth page has a message from the pledgemaster which explains what is expected of a KAP pledge. The inside back cover gives the history of KAP briefly and also the history of RHO chapter briefly. On this page also are listed the members of the Lafayette faculty who are KAP's.

From all reports the booklet has done its job well. It has given the freshmen a concrete idea of what a fraternity is and what to expect of it. The activity list is especially impressive and they begin to take seriously this fraternity which is so active on campus. They also approve of our motto, Honor Before All Things, which is printed at the bottom of each page and on the front cover. But, best of all, it has brought many of the men back to visit us for a second time and that is what it was designed for.

Kapping the Klimax

Now that the trip to California is in the past tense everything is almost back to normal - almost, that is, except for all the memories of the many hours spent with many perfect hosts from Lambda Chapter and California - Still can't forget the grandest of banquets at the Claremont, and the never-to-be-forgotten Rukus.....I always wondered just why they had so much fun; now I know.....

A most enjoyable visit on the way out was with Frank Anderson, Cornell KDR, who is a forest ranger at the West Gate to Yellowstone National Park...the only regret: that time was too short to stay longer.

But back to work.....the directory ought to be made up by the first of the year....the most difficult part of the job is trying to get 5800 alumni to send in their correct addresses....there are still 525 lost.....the optimistic part of the picture is that we have found over 800 since last spring.. Subscribers can expect to get their copies by next February...

CHAPTERS

Lambda's Alumni Smoker was perpetrated on October 20. Hollywood scouts were present to watch the 20 pledges put on a Harold Lloyd farce. Television - BEWARE! Xi Colby chapter just celebrated their silver anniversary of the presentation of their petition to KDR. The installation was held May 29, 1926. President Blakeley helped them celebrate their 25th October 27-29. Many alumni were also back for the big event..... Les Balmain reports that Phi Oklahoma had a smoker on November 15 with more than a dozen invited guests.

Jim Clabby, Oregon State, won a free trip to the California game by writing the best essay on Why Oregon State College Needs a New Stady.

Stadium - after seeing the game Jim is reported to have written another essay, Why Oregon State College Needs a New Team.

Three fathers and sons of PI. In the usual order (father first): Walter and Dick Garman, Al and Bob Peeling, and Al and Dave Hamme. All three sons are in the class of 1953 and were initiated together.

Lachrymose Limericks
By John Edward Allen

When I was young and sappy - A dream-deluded chappy - I chanced to think
That printer's ink
Would make me rich and happy.

But, now that I am forty, And less naive and sporty, I wonder why It was that I Essayed an inky sortie.

At case and stone and Lino
As friends as well as I know
I've sought in vain
For years to gain
A lot of fancy rino.

And so at times I hanker To be a tramp or banker And rove at ease The seven seas Upon a yacht or tanker.

But what the hell! I reason. Such thoughts as these are treason! For we who drink of printer's ink May all arrive in season!
