KAPPA DELTA RHO
FRATERNITY

Summer
1952

The vast expansion of secondary education in this nation has created a new engine of democracy; it is of the utmost importance how this engine is to operate in the future. If we so desire, it can be used to restore fluidity to our social and economic life each generation and in so doing make available for the national welfare reservoirs of potential talent now untapped. At the same time, by stressing the democratic elements in our school life and the comprehensive features of our organization, we can promote the social and political ideals necessary for the harmonious functioning of an economic system based on private ownership but committed to the ideals of social justice.

Interfraternity Conference

Change in Printers

Beginning with the next issue The Quill and Scroll will be printed again. For the past two years the KAP Varityper has been used to set up all the material, then it is printed by the photo-offset method. Now we are pleased to say that we are going back to good old letterpress.

The Board of Directors, at the June meeting, were in unanimous agreement that if a printer could be found to give us a contract within our price range that it would be advantageous both for appearance and also for economy of time to go back to our original method of printing.

The offset method has saved us money, at a time when it was desperately needed for expansion. The Varityper has more than paid for itself. It will still be used for stencils, bulletins, and special brochures. Its use for these will surely enhance the appearance of much of the mimeographed material that goes out from the national office.

The Correll Company of Easton, printers to Lafayette College, have taken over the publishing of your magazine. The next issue will go to press on August 10 so as to maintain their printing schedule.

Regional Conferences Hold Spring Spotlight

If a fraternity is measured by the strength of its internal organization, Kappa Delta Rho has no peers. No better illustration of this strength may be found than in the regional conferences held in the early spring of this year. These conclaves reflected the strong interest and the justified pride of the active members in their fraternity. Never have the conferences been so well-attended or met with such success. In these meetings the chapters are cementing closer relations among themselves and adding even greater strength to the national order.

THE MEETINGS

The Eastern Regional Conference was hosted by Zeta on the Penn State campus. Attending the Third Annual ERC were: Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta, Zeta, Iota, Pi, Rho and Psi Colony. The conclave met on March 29 under the leadership of Jack Haines (chairman), Tom Lazaroff and Dick Kartlick (all of Zeta). Executive-secretary Hugh S. Penman officiated at the conference.

The Pacific Coast Regional

Conference convened on the campus of the University of California at the Lambda Chapter house on April 6. California's Expansion Director Donald Edgar and Pacific Coast Field Secretary Bill Zimmerman guided the meeting which was the fourth annual conference on the West Coast. A large delegation from Corvallis, Oregon, represented Sigma Chapter.

The Midwestern Regional Conference was called to order on April 26 at Eta Chapter in Champaign, Illinois. Kenneth Jacobs (chairman), James Mitchell and James Fleischer (all of Eta) headed the conference meeting. Answering the roll call were: Epsilon, Eta, Kappa and Nu.

THE RESULTS

Each conference divided itself into special committees to discuss specific areas of chapter operation (e.g. pledge-training, alumni relations, etc.). This enabled the conferences to cover a great area in a limited period of time. Later the conferences met in general assembly. The committee chairmen reported the recommendations of their committees. Issues of general interest were then brought to the floor for discussion.

In the realm of public relations, the conferences concurred in their recommendations to:

1. Encourage inter-chapter relations (e.g. athletic competition, co-sponsored social functions, etc.).

2. Foster closer relations between chapters and parents through open-houses, mothers' clubs, dads' suppers, newsletters to parents.

3. Abolish the old-style Hell Week.

4. Improve campus relations by serenades, exchanges with sororities, participation in campus activities.

The importance of a chapter publication was thoroughly discussed. The conferences recommended chapter newspapers as essential to a good alumni relations program. Such publications were considered highly significant in the relations of area chapters with strong alumni organizations such as the Chicago Alumni Association, the San Francisco Alumni Association, and the Indianapolis Alumni Association. It was agreed that alumni be urged to contribute material to their chapters for a greater coverage of news in the chapter publications.

Letters from the chapters to the executive-secretary's office indicate that the delegates to the regional conferences obtained a wealth of information and concrete suggestions through their exchange of ideas with neighboring chapters in their region. Even now a few chapters are beginning to form plans for the conferences of 1953 and Kappa Delta Rho embarks on a new era of national strength, united in brotherhood through chapter interchange of ideas.

Psi Neophytes Initiated

This is the team from Zeta Chapter who initiated sixteen members of Theta Pi Pi into KAP on May 3, 1952. Standing: Jack Haines, David Maver, and Robert Matasick; seated: R. Stewart McKnight.

Another step toward the establishment of Psi Chapter took place at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, May 3, 1952, when sixteen members of Theta Pi Pi, Lycoming College local fraternity, were initiated into full KAP membership.

Initiation took place under some of the most unusual circumstances in KAP history. The chapter is housed in a section of the men's dormitory, using a dormitory room as a lounge. It was much too small for any initiation so some outside place had to be found. The Williamsport Airport became the solution.

The large dining room on the second floor was ideally suited for space, and it could be locked for privacy. The only disadvantage was that its spacious windows looked out over the field. With such expanse of windows the first initiation of Psi members took place with all the seriousness and ritualism of any initiation. It was a memorable occasion. Even the planes cooperated, not one departing or arriving during the ceremony.

The Initiation was preceded by the formal banquet in the same room. Dean of Students G.

H. Gramley, and Lycoming President Dr. John W. Long were guests and spoke about the founding of another national fraternity on campus. They referred briefly to the growth of Lycoming College into a four-year degree-granting institution and expressed the hope that fraternities would aid in making campus life a full one. Fred Closs, Expansion Director, who had helped in planning the initiation, and Don Wolfe, national editor, also spoke briefly. Executive-secretary Penman welcomed the Psi men into the ranks of KAP, reminding them of the obligations it put upon them to do their best both in school and out.

The initiates represent four states, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey. Making up the degree team were members from Zeta Chapter including Senior Tribune Jack Haines, retiring Consul Robert Matasick, Consul-elect David Maver, and R. Stewart McKnight.

Members of Psi Colony initiated into KAP were:

1952: Gilbert E. Love, Altoona, Pa.; Douglas E. McWilliams, Shamokin, Pa.; Paul A. Sabin, Psi Colony of Kappa Delta Rho. They were all initiated into membership on May 3 except one. He will be initiated at a later date.

Homecoming Day, October 12, 1951 will be a memorable day to two KAP's for on that day William H. Edmunds, '17, an attorney and trustee of Middlebury College, and Professor Reginald L. Cook, '24, head of the American literature department and director of the Breadloaf School of English, received the annual Middlebury Alumni Awards at an alumni luncheon. It was strictly a Kappa Delta Rho affair with both recipients being alumni whose interest in their chapter has been maintained, along with their interest in their Alma Mater. The awards, handsome hammered pewter plates, were presented with the following citations as recorded in the Middlebury College News Letter:

'WILLIAM H. EDMUNDS, Vermont bred, graduate of Middlebury College in the class of 1917 and of Harvard Law School, member of one of the best-known law firms in the state, trustee of the college since 1945, giving unsparingly of your busy time to the onerous and unrewarding position of Chairman of the Alumni Fund, the Alumni of the College take great pleasure in bestowing upon you on this occasion the Alumni Award.'

'REGINALD L. COOK, graduate of Middlebury College in the class of 1924 and of Oxford University, outstanding athlete while in college, Rhodes Scholar, distinguished teacher at Middlebury for over two decades and for many years director of the Bread Loaf School of English, author of important works on Thoreau and of many charming poems, the Alumni of the College honor themselves in honoring you with this Alumni Award.'

Zeta Has Athletic Hopefuls

Zeta Chapter at Penn State has had the proud distinction of having several outstanding athletes as members the past few years. Of particular mention are Owen Dougherty, football captain for 1950, and Pat McPoland, star end of the team for the past two years. This year Zeta has pledged two more outstanding athletes whose exploits may add more lustre to the athletic history of the chapter.

Dave Simon, defensive football end, is one of the hopefuls that the coach is expecting great things from this fall. A 180-pounder from Brownsville, Pa., Dave is kept quite busy in training but finds time to be one of the boys for he is well-liked by the boys of the chapter. Although quite modest about his achievements he was named the outstanding player of the Penn State-Nebraska game in which he proved to be the game-saver with a few well-executed shoestring tackles. In the Michigan State game he was particularly tough on the Spartan runners with his defensive work. Zeta is proud of Dave's record.

A Hatboro, Pa. boy named Bob Gehman has set Zeta on the track map. Also very modest, his record shows that he took the Pennsylvania Interscholastic A.A. championship in 1949. He ran the first competitive mile of his collegiate career against Navy last spring, coming in third. The coach now has him doing the mile, and although he is built small he has the style and physique of a real champion. Zeta is rooting for Bob to go places in track circles, and no pun intended.

BOWLING CHAMPS

Kappa Chapter strolled off with its first University Intramural Championship in any sport in at least ten years recently when the bowling team met and bested all comers for the ten-pin crown.

The keglers won a league play-off battle and then proceeded to bowl their highest score of the season in outpinning some 20 other league winners for the Ohio State fraternity Championship.

SCHOLASTIC CHAMPS

As in most colleges, Penn State's fraternity system fosters forms of competition in which each member puts forth its best to capture the laurels that are granted. The three basic fields of contention are athletic, social, and scholastic. The latter should probably come first for that is the field of supremacy that Zeta Chapter is now boasting about.

In the spring of 1950, they had a little too much social life, and, as with the mathematics equation, the balance was obtained by a receding of scholastic standing. In the battle of brains they ended the semester in 46th position. This was the spark that was needed to set the machinery in motion that was to bring eventually their item of pride. Through much more careful pledging and buckling down where it was needed, steps were taken to improve the showing. When the fall semester of 1950 came to a close, they noticed the following accomplishments:

First, they were now fifth rather than the aforementioned forty-sixth. The average, which had been 1.16 was now 1.61. (At Penn State the grading system is based on a high of 3.00.) The sophomores, who made up the pledge class, had finished first in the entire system with five of them in the upper twentieth of their class.

One night last April Zeta had quite a celebration when Consul Bob Matasick and Senior Tribune Jack Haines returned from the Inter-fraternity Council banquet carrying a trophy almost as big as either of them. The trophy, which they polish with pride frequently, has been on display in the library since that night. 'We shall endeavor to remain on top for the years to follow, for it is a great feeling to know that the primary purpose of KAP and of college is being tackled with success,' says everyone at Zeta.

Kappa Loses Roettger

Kappa indeed lost a fine man and a born leader to the alumni when Norman Roettger left by way of graduation this June.

Norm hails from Green Camp Ohio and majored in psychology. Norman is now serving a 'hitch' in the Navy as an Ensign in the Supply Corps. After his discharge Norm plans to further his education by taking additional work at Yale Divinity School.

Norman, who leaves behind a long record of achievement, was very active not only inside the walls of Kappa, but also in many of the organizations on the campus at Ohio State. He was a member of Psi Chi honorary fraternity and was president of the Psychology Club.

Kappa is sure that the person elected next to the office of consul will have his work cut out for him if he expects to surpass the fine work and achievements that have been accomplished by one Norman Roettger.

RHO GIMMICK

Rho Chapter always comes up with some unique display for the annual IF display at Lafayette College. This past fall's animated leopard snapped his scissors on the ever-evading tail of some new brand of chicken. The designer was Neil Hansen, '54, who worked out the wiring problems with the aid of his E. E. course.

Another Year

With the close of the 1951-52 school year we look back with pride on the accomplishments of the actives during the year. Scholarship went up according to the report of Dean Crosen of Lafayette, KAP Scholarship Chairman. He seems generally optimistic about the future of KAP in the classroom. Social activities were conservative but sufficient according to the pocketbooks of the individual chapters. Most of them were indicative of the creative ability of the members in presenting something new. Athletics came in for its share of glory, too, although most of the achievement was made in the realm of intramural sports. In all, the chapters showed a willingness to cooperate with the institution toward the better resolution of a more rounded college life.

We can all look back with pride on the year just closed; the actives for the record they have made, the alumni for the support that has meant so much to the actives, and the colleges for the cooperation they have received from KAP in the classroom and on the field.

What Is the Answer?

The average under-graduate of today finds his life so full that time is at a premium throughout his entire college career. Rarely can a chapter achieve the feat of having 100% at a chapter meeting. Extracurricular activities on the campus are scheduled for every evening and if the members are living a full college life, at least a few are obligated to attend. College life of today makes it almost an impossibility to get all the members of a fraternity free on any evening of the week.

Many consuls would like an answer to the dilemma. If the board bill is to be raised he wants every man in the chapter to vote on the matter, yet some are

Do You Know!

By George E. Shaw, Historian

Colby College has done a remarkable job. Some fifteen years ago it was decided that if this institution was to expand it must have more room than was available between the railroad tracks and the river in Waterville, Maine. A beautiful location with some 200 acres on Mayflower Hill outside of the city was purchased. Architects and engineers drew up plans for a new functional campus with recitation halls, chapel, library, dormitories, and a row of fraternity houses. Funds had to be raised to do all this. Then came World War II. It has been a struggle, but today all of Colby College is housed on Mayflower Hill and the plant and equipment is unsurpassed in New England. As an alumnus of a competing institution I take off my hat to the men who have accomplished this undertaking.

Of particular interest to members of KAP is the fact that our Xi Chapter is one of the chapters to which a site for a house was assigned. Six chapters are already housed but our boys and one other chapter are still in a section of the dormitories. Xi has raised some $12,000 but will need $50,000 more. The houses already erected cost around $115,000, of which the College will loan $50,000 on long-term mortgage. It is the writer's understanding that gifts to Colby ear-marked for KAP will be counted towards the sum to be raised.

In these days of high income and estate taxes, I can think of no more desirable or worthy institution upon which to bestow gifts than Colby College. In my opinion there is less 'boon doggling' in Maine than in Washington and if I were a wealthy individual I would rather see my estate used by a New England college than by the present administration. The Colby alumni have been thoroughly canvassed and it has occurred to the writer that perhaps somewhere among our 6,000 KAP's there might be a few who would care to look into the Colby situation either for themselves or for interested clients. If so, I am sure that Pres. J. Seelye Bixler or Vice-president A. G. Eustis would be glad to give whatever information is desired.

Our National Treasurer, Donald G. Leach, is in close touch with the situation and can tell about our Xi Chapter which stands at the top of the list in scholarship and other campus activities.

Chapter Eternal

John C. Burtner, Σ '23

Belated word of the passing of one of KAP's distinguished journalists was received late last year with the notice that one of the West's outstanding writers on agricultural subjects, John C. Burtner, Σ '23, died on December 22, 1950 at his home in Corvallis.

After his graduation in 1923, Brother Burtner went to work for The Oregon Journal but returned to his alma mater a year later as an instructor in journalism and agricultural press editor. He became agricultural extension editor at Oregon State, and enjoyed the reputation of never missing a deadline in his many years of turning out news releases for daily and weekly papers of Oregon. His articles on agricultural subjects appeared often in national magazines.

Besides Kappa Delta Rho, he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, Sigma Delta Chi, was active in Methodist church activities in Corvallis, and served as chairman of the Wesley Foundation committee at the school.

A daughter, a junior at Oregon State, two sons, two sisters and four brothers survive. Walden, Σ '30, of Yakima, Wash. is one of the four brothers.

Dr. Pleasant Lee Powell, Franklin Honorary, and professor emeritus of religion at Franklin College, died on March 3 following a heart attack. Dr. Powell was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Franklin from 1905 until 1910, coming there from the Baptist Church in LeRoy, N.Y. He left Franklin to become pastor of the Baptist Church in Hamilton, N.Y. until 1914 when he became professor of homiletics at Colgate Theological Seminary. In 1919 he returned to Franklin to become professor of Biblical literature and religion. He was Dean from 1923 to 1938 and acting president in 1926 and 1927. Always active in community betterment projects, he was elected the first president of the Johnson County Council of Churches. A member of the Franklin Kiwanis Club he served as president in 1924. A graduate of Denison University in 1897 he was making plans to attend his 55th reunion this spring.

His widow, Dr. Margaret Williams Powell, Dean of Women at Franklin, survives, also one sister and one brother. His first wife, nee Miss Bertha Martin, died in 1928.

Charles A. Fryling, I '13

Charles A. Fryling, Bucknell '13, lost his life by drowning in the Susquehanna River on March 14 near his home in Sunbury, Pa. He was 61 years of age. Proprietor of the Fryling Stationery Company for many years, he was well and favorably known over a large area in Central Pennsylvania. He was an enthusiastic Rotarian, active church and Sunday school worker, an eager participant in community and civic life, a member and vigorous supporter of the Northumberland Historical Society and a past officer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Glenn and Edgar, both members of Iota Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

unable to attend. If a constitutional question is to be settled he wants a discussion with all members present. Perhaps some ingenious consul will come up with the answer some day soon, and when he does we hope he passes it on to those who are non-plussed by the problem. He will do a great service to fraternities and should be heralded as a hero, - or something.

When stock was taken after all Directory orders were filled, your national office found itself with several hundred on hand. We felt that if some of the alumni could just see it they would value it.

We have, therefore, taken the liberty of sending out to selected alumni copies of this handbook of KAP. If you can use it we feel repaid for our trouble. The dollar is a small price for the labor that went into it. If you can't use it won't you donate an eight-cent stamp so some other KAP may have the chance to see it.
