national interfraternity conference

AN ITEM IN IOTA'S spring alumni newsletter attracted my attention. I'm excerpting sections of Mark Gebhardt's (Iota's 1971 Consul) reflections on his years at Bucknell. "Every senior sees the fraternity system and Kappa Delta Rho undergo many changes, but in the last few years the changes seem greater than usual. . . . Change is a very necessary part of any organization and the entire fraternity system must adapt to existing conditions if it is to survive . . . The one part of Kappa Delta Rho that should not change, however, and ironically the one that has probably changed the most, is that of brotherhood. Regardless of its definition, brotherhood should be able to bridge the gaps of class, political belief, religion, locality, etc. and join friends together in enjoying one another. Kappa Delta Rho should be a place to relax and put aside the tensions of school, (but somewhere along the line) fun was phased out. And, . . . if there is one thing I could leave with underclassmen, it would be to not be afraid of doing something just for fun . . . We are becoming too sophisticated in our complex modern society: . . . (the) chapter is a place to bag around and appreciate the four short years we have together as friends."

It isn't only Iota chapter, but all of our chapters, all of our colleges and even the nations of the world. There is a consistent inability to appreciate laughter (especially directed at ourselves) and a tendency to take everything too seriously. A Jew can tell a joke that is disparaging of the Jewish, but let a non-Jew tell it and it's racial discrimination. (For Jew, you can insert Irishman, Catholic, Protestant, Colored, Greek, Italian, ad infinitum). The boiling point of many people is far too high . . . the presumed "enemies" far too many . . . the polarization too acute.

In the words of the popular song of a few years' back, "What the world needs now is love, sweet love", . . . and what is brotherhood, but love of your neighbor? But singing about it and proclaiming it is not enough as is evident from the state of the world today. The fraternity can and should be a small starting point of brotherhood, but let's keep the fun in it. Too much seriousness can negate the whole proportion. □

Reaction

Opinions expressed in Reaction are those of the writer only and do not necessarily reflect national policy. We welcome reader's letters and assume that all mail is free for publication in Reaction, unless otherwise stipulated. Editing for style and economy is not unusual.

August issue

There were several errors requiring correction in our first attempt at an issue devoted entirely to the Alumni Fund. The following names were inadvertently omitted from the issue:

Walter E. Garman Jr., Pi '48

William C. Moller, Sigma '52

One name was also listed twice for Sigma.

The following four names were incorrectly spelled. We apologize to these brothers:

Merritt G. Smalley Jr., Lambda

James V. Booher, Nu

Glen P. Goffin, Xi

Greg Vaniscak, Omega

Another Boo-Boo

The mention of Andrew Lilliston in the May issue Alumni Worldwide column resulted in the following letter:

"My husband, Andy Lilliston-Nu '68, and I have recently received the May 1971 issue of The Quill and Scroll via his parents. We would all like to thank you for your article on page eleven informing us of Andy's 'double life'!

You were correct in that he has recently completed one year of service in Vietnam, returning with a Bronze Star for meritorious service. However, the longest he was ever in Japan was 3 hours during a plane lay-over on his way home last December!

We are currently living in Lawton, Oklahoma where Andy is stationed with the Command and Leadership Brigade at Fort Sill. In this capacity, he is working with officer candidates. In addition, he has recently been promoted to the rank of Captain.

Andy hopes to return to the University of Virginia for Law School in the Fall of 1972, when his military obligation is completed. However, at this point, he has no interest in Psychiatry (other than trying to figure me out) as you mentioned in your article!

As for Andy's marital status — he was recently married, two years ago! I am the former Elaine Alling, not Gloria Posada, and to my knowledge, I have never been a Braniff stewardess, tho' Andy might have enjoyed that more than my elementary school teaching.

I hope this information will help bring your records up to date and clear up Andy's 'double life'!"

Mrs. Andrew W. Lilliston, Jr.

*In tracking this down, we almost had a mystery on our hands. The information was contained in a letter to the National office signed "Andy". The letter reached the editor without its envelope, and after querying the National office was assigned to Brother Lilliston. A further check would indicate that the information was sent in by Brother Andrew Chmiel, Nu '65 — and will be repeated in Alumni Worldwide in this issue under the correct name. Our apologies to all concerned — Ed.* □

Kappa Delta Rho Seeking a Field Secretary

THE DIRECTORS of the fraternity have decided to hire a Field Secretary as soon as a competent candidate can be located. The job primarily will consist of visiting chapters which have problems . . . and trying to help the chapter solve them. He would probably stay several weeks or more at a chapter; assisting them, training officers to cope with their difficulties and planning ways to avoid future problems.

He would also spend considerable time with our colonies, trying to upgrade the colony, prior to its installation as a chapter. He would contact local groups on the many campuses where we would like to establish a colony.

A capable Field Secretary would be of tremendous value in helping our chapters become stronger and the Directors are most anxious to secure a man to fill this position. The Field Secretary should be relatively young, about five years out of college. He should have his military obligation out of the way or be exempt from service. He should have been a leader in his chapter as an undergraduate. He should have a car for traveling and preferably be single, however this is not a prime necessity, if his wife doesn't object to four to six week absences from home at a time.

Such an opportunity would be quite valuable to a young man trying to make contacts for the future, especially if he is interested in doing graduate work in personnel or guidance fields. Field Secretaries of fraternities are often hired by institutions while they complete graduate degrees. The Directors would expect however, that the man chosen to fill the position would continue for a minimum of two years.

Of course, the service need not terminate at the end of two years, if both the Field Secretary and the Board of Directors concur. It would be entirely possible for him to continue, and become a professional Fraternity executive.

If you are interested, please contact the National office and an application will be sent to you for completion. After reviewing your qualifications, the screening committee will interview you. If a qualified person is found, the position will be filled immediately, but if, in the judgement of the screening committee, the proper person is not immediately available they will continue the search. □

Another first— a proposed panel of employment counselors

E. M. Maloney

WHILE VISITING IOTA CHAPTER last spring it was suggested that the National sponsor a panel of Alumni brothers in various professions and fields of employment, to be available to undergraduates for counseling and advice about their occupation. An undergraduate is frequently uncertain as to what field of endeavor he should direct his undergraduate training. He may have thoughts about several fields, but without knowing specific answers to his questions, he hesitates making a definite decision. This uncertainty, in some cases, continues until after graduation.

The various Colleges and Universities do have professional counselors on their staff, but these are for general information and are not too specific in any one field of endeavor. The thought expressed by the Iota undergraduate was that the National might be able to supply each chapter with a list of brothers in varying occupations so that undergraduates could contact them either by letter, or in person.

Within each profession (i.e., Medicine) there are various specialities and it would be desirable to have a listing of several brothers in each field. The same is true of Dentistry, Law,

Engineering and others. In the general business field there are not only numerous divisions, but each large company has special advantages over its competitors. It would be desirable to have Alumni Counselors not only representing the various business fields, such as accounting, personnel, management, sales, etc., but to have representatives from several competitive companies in each field. Do not feel because you may be miles from your chapter or from our nearest chapter, that you can not be of service in this project. It is quite possible that we have an undergraduate from your home town or county, in one of our chapters that could benefit from your help. Those of you who are retired could also share your experiences and give valuable advice to some undergraduate who is interested in the field in which you have spent your working life. To those alumni who are in a position to hire graduates, this could be a good source of recruiting. If you are in need of an engineer, accountant, management trainee or a sales trainee, write the National office and we will pass the details to the various chapters for posting on their bulletin boards. Those seniors who are interested could contact you directly and no doubt you could secure a good employee, and assist a fraternity brother at the same time.

All of this may seem like a lot of trouble to you, but you will gain great satisfaction if you can aid just one undergraduate in finding his future. When young men ask for help, we should do everything within our power to assist them. On the inside back cover of this issue you will find a blank form to complete and send in if you are interested in this project. I urge you to give this very serious consideration and make yourself available to your undergraduate brothers.

The members of the Board of Directors have always been available for such counseling, but no publicity has been given their availability. To get the program started, all three members of the Executive Committee have volunteered their services in their respective fields, which are Insurance, Advertising and Banking. Now, we need to get several hundred other brothers to declare themselves available to assist undergraduates.

If this is a successful venture, I believe Kappa Delta Rho would accomplish another first in the fraternity world. To the best of my knowledge, no other fraternity provides such a service to their undergraduates. Can we count on your assistance? □

Headquarters Ownership Is Popular . . . Forty-seven percent of the national and international fraternities and 41 percent of the sororities now own headquarters buildings which they have purchased or constructed. There are 28 such facilities among 57 general fraternities and 12 sorority central offices among 29 National Panhellenic Council sororities. First to construct a building designed for fraternity headquarters use was Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. The building was dedicated in December, 1930.

Baseball Tickets

Psi chapter is assisting the local Williamsport Red Sox of the Nypen League (a farm club of the Boston Red Sox) in selling tickets for the current season starting June 26, 1971. Douglas Keiper and James Scott of the college faculty are directing the fraternity's efforts.

Ugly Woman Contest

During the last part of April, 1971, Sigma sponsored what was intended to be the first annual "Ugly Woman on Campus" contest. Various women's groups submitted entries. Judging was done by voting booths in the MU with pictures of the women adorned with powder, ketchup, and anything else. One cent was one vote. Enough income was secured to sponsor three handicapped children at Camp Easterseal.

Sigma Kappa's Miss Elaine Ee-Us is the newly elected Ugly Woman on Campus. With 2,233 votes she topped the competition from nine other women's residences. A trophy was awarded to Sigma Kappa.

The UWOC contest, sponsored by Kappa Delta Rho Fraternity, was designed to donate money to Camp Easter Seal. The camp is run by the Oregon Easter Seal Society, and is located at Tenmile Lake in Coos County. It provides physically and mentally handicapped children a chance to enjoy the outdoors for a period of 10 days.

The contest this year garnered enough to send three children to the camp this summer. Kappa Delta Rho plans to sponsor the event again next year, hoping to raise enough to send five through 10 children to the camp.

We received the following letter from the President of Delta Upsilon, a member of Oregon State University's IFC:

"On behalf of the Interfraternity Council at Oregon State, I would like to commend your chapter of Kappa Delta Rho for an outstanding contribution in the area of Publicservice." An article was enclosed, taken from the campus newspaper, "The Barometer", briefly explaining what the event was and what organization was aided.

"Kappa Delta Rho at Oregon State has spread the name of Fraternity in a respectable and beneficial way and we of the Interfraternity Council wish to commend them on their worthwhile achievement."

Free-Tuition Raffle

The brothers of Epsilon Alpha are proud to announce their gift of $900.00 to the Lewis College community.

The gift is a result of the fraternity's month-long effort in the Free-Tuition raffle, conducted from September 1 through the 29th. The drive by the 26 members of the brotherhood has resulted in total sales exceeding $2200.00, and a total profit exceeding $1500.00.

Epsilon Alpha has decided to donate a full 60 % of its profit — or $900.00 — as a sign of its dedication to the Lewis community and the students who are its members. They feel strongly that the integral value of all fraternities, as well as the particular concern and contribution of KDR to their school, will be well received.

Annually, the administration of Lewis College selects an organization that has done the most for the student body and bestows upon it the honored title of "Organization of the Year."

Epsilon Alpha Chapter is strong in the running this year and seems one of the most likely candidates to receive the coveted award.

In an effort to become involved in the activities of the neighboring community, the brothers of Kappa Delta Rho here have joined in the Joliet Walk for Development, a branch of the International Walk for Development.

On May 9, many young men and women walked — some as far as 30 miles — to help raise money for people in underdeveloped areas, at home and abroad. Each walker was sponsored by a contributor who pledged a certain sum of money for every mile walked.

The fall of '71 sees four of the brothers of Epsilon Alpha as Resident Assistants for the North Campus.

Mike Hanschke, Terry Cavanaugh, Mike Kisicki, and Jim Urbanek are the men that the college chose to honor with jobs of much responsibility.

Currently, brother Tom Pictor serves the college as the Head R.A. of Founder's Hall, a dormitory on campus.

The Nexus, the campus newspaper, is also served by many of the KDR's here. Consul Mark Schutz is the Editor-in-Chief; Joe Wochner is the North Campus Editor; Mike Hanschke is the Sports Editor and Mike Kisicki is the News Editor.

New brother Dave Conrad has recently been named editor of the college yearbook, Insight.

Also, the campus radio station, WERA, has brothers Steve Partman and Dave Ochs working on it. Steve is a disc jockey, while Dave works as part of the News Department.

Finally, brother Tom Pictor, currently a member of the Student Life Committee of Lewis College, and Charlie Busch, a member of the varsity Soccer Team, have both been named to the college's Resident Life Committee.

Rho Maintains Status

Rho Chapter has worked to maintain its high standing among Lafayette

College living groups. The brothers continue to be important contributors to the activities of the college. Bob Zirlin, '73, has been named co-editor-in-chief of The Lafayette. John Powell, '72, was recently elected head of the counselling system for next year, while Dave Carrick, '73, won a seat on the Student Council.

The house retained its fifth place standing among the Lafayette fraternities in scholastic achievement. □

Interfraternity Institute . . . The second Interfraternity Institute was held at Indiana University on June 6-11. The Institute is the only seminar of its kind devoted to higher education and the modern role of the college fraternity. The faculty consists of fraternity professionals and college professors and provided participants with a broad basic orientation to the present day student and campus, as well as the role, potential and challenges faced by fraternities.

An appeal to readers

THE EXCESSIVELY SMALL size of this issue is explainable by several factors: (1) an unusual lack of general fraternity news, (2) less than normal over-the-transom information, and (3) our experimentation with an annual alumni fund issue. All of these can be said to interact.

When we have a good, full issue with thoughtful articles and interesting new developments, there is a spontaneous reaction to it in the form of newly submitted potential articles. I can't say that we've ever had too many of these, but usually there are enough to assure a full next issue.

On the other hand, when we have a small issue, such as this one, the reaction is understandably less vital.

The August issue this year, as you know, was exclusively devoted to the Alumni Fund. This virtually halted all of the flow of issue-related response. Admittedly we still received news releases, obituaries and other such columnar material as evidenced by the expanded character of most of these columns in this issue, but there had to be an interruption in the almost subliminal current of printable material. If we are to continue with similar August issues in the future, this constriction must be overcome.

I have hopes that the provocative nature of one of the two articles featured in this issue may help overcome its size limitations, and that our February issue will be, at least, back to 16 pages or more as a result. But we can't count on new plans of this nature coming through right on schedule every November. There has to be a realization among our readership that we are interested in hearing from you, about you and about your interests regardless of our experimentation in sizes or content.

We have occasionally run a page listing the varied and assorted areas where you can help us achieve a more varied magazine. It will do no harm to re-emphasize these units.

There are, of course, the different, regular columns, such as Chapter Eternal, Alumni Worldwide, On Campus and Service Center. Most of our readership does pay attention to our needs in this area. We are on the mailing lists of some chapter newsletters, corporations with KDR personnel, home town service organizations, etc. Some alumni make it a point to go through their college or university publications and circle names of alumni they know as fraternity brothers who are mentioned therein. Some alumni send us notes about other KDR's—some send clippings. They are all very welcome and we'd like to commend those of you who perform this relatively thankless task.

But we've had other features of a less constant nature which have developed into series. These encompass Life Around Us, essentially an ecology column; Hobby HQ, hobbies of members; and Tales of the Unknown, experiences of the supernatural, extra-sensory or unexplainable that happened to you. Add to these, feature articles about education, fraternity or any subject which should interest other KDR's. We have had experts in many fields whose lives are most interesting yet we never hear about them or from them until some item appears in a newspaper. Short stories, poetry, photography, artwork . . . all are welcome.

Let's hear more from you! □
