ANNOUNCING

The Stuart J. Myers $500 Scholarship for Engineering Undergraduates

SHORTLY AFTER the February issue of the Quill and Scroll was in the mail, the National Office received a letter from Brother Stuart J. Myers, Tau '32. He stated that he had read with interest the announcement that the Directors of the Fraternity had established an annual Scholarship in the amount of $500.00 to be awarded to an undergraduate member of the Fraternity each year and that he would be interested in offering a like Scholarship to a deserving Engineering undergraduate.

Needless to say, we immediately contacted Brother Myers by phone to thank him for his generous offer. He felt that in order to expedite the Scholarship this year, he would recommend the same criteria and application form be used as is being used for the previously announced Kappa Delta Rho $500.00 Scholarship. However, he indicated he may wish to make some changes before next year. He is prepared to make a like offer for at least the next five years.

Brother Myers graduated in the depths of the depression from Carnegie Tech with a degree in Electrical Engineering and jobs were next to impossible to find. He said: "When I graduated it was extremely difficult for a graduate with a high scholastic standing (and impossible for a mediocre student, like myself) to obtain a position. This forced me to follow an entrepreneurial path, so I returned to my home town, Warren, Pennsylvania, and became a small light bulb manufacturer." Like many small manufacturing companies during the period, Warren Lamp Company was on the verge of bankruptcy and Brother Myers recognized the fact that their biggest problem was lack of electrical engineering knowledge in the plant. He felt that with his knowledge and diligent work for a few years, this plant could become a profitable venture. He approached the owners indicating he had little or no money, but would like to buy their plant. Knowing they were in a difficult position financially, they agreed to sell it to him on contract. For the next few years, Myers worked long and hard hours, but soon the plant was his.

The sole product of the Warren Lamp Company was incandescent lamps. In 1939 he formed a new company and entered into the manufacture of fluorescent lamps which were destined to replace the incandescent lamp for many uses. Later he formed another company and got into the flash bulb business. Brother Myers said "After I acquired the first plant, I started at least one new enterprise annually, mostly failures, but fortunately the profitable activities more than offset the losses."

The original Warren Lamp Company grew throughout the years and developed numerous electrically related divisions. His business interests soon expanded out of Warren, and he

Momentous Leadership Conference and Convention in August at Purdue

THE SIXTY-FIRST annual Convention will be held in conjunction with the 1972 Leadership Conference at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana on August 16 through 19. Theta Chapter will be the host Chapter and Brother Joseph Reynolds will be the undergraduate Chairman in charge of arrangements. Registration will start at the Chapter house at 10:00 A.M., Wednesday, August 16 and continue throughout the day and evening. Brother Reynolds is planning Campus tours of Purdue and surrounding areas. Anyone wishing to bring their golf clubs, tennis rackets or swim trunks may put them to use as Purdue has made their facilities available to our delegates. The Leadership Conference will start promptly at 9:00 A.M. Thursday, August 17 in the air conditioned Krannert Memorial building. We are still in the process of building a program. Emphasis is being put on the "nuts and bolts" of fraternity Leadership and Management, both from the undergraduate and Alumni standpoint. The Conference will continue Friday. Both Thursday and Friday evenings will be devoted to rap sessions among the delegates, Alumni and National officers at the Chapter House. These informal sessions, where the program of the day is discussed and various ideas are expressed, could be one of the most interesting and profitable results to come out of the Conference.

Saturday at 9:00 A.M. the Sixty-first annual Convention will be called to order by President Robert J. Fox. Various officer's and Chapter reports will be given. Also on the agenda are several Constitutional amendments to be presented for adoption. Decisions as to the policies the fraternity will follow for the next two years will be made by the delegates and their decisions will be presented to the Board of Directors for implementation.

Election of Board Members will also be held. At present, our Constitution calls for the election of three Board Members and six Alternates, but if either of the stated Constitutional Amendments is passed (copies of which will be found on pp. 3, 4 and 5 of this issue,) the number of Directors and their classifications may change.

The closing banquet will be at 7:00 P.M., Saturday, August 19 in the Purdue Memorial Union. Recognitions and awards will be presented at that time, including the first Kappa Delta Rho $500.00 Scholarship and the first Stuart J. Myers $500.00 Engineering Scholarship. A speaker of note has been engaged to inspire the delegates, before adjourning the Leadership Conference and Convention.

Theta Chapter will provide the housing, as well as two neighboring fraternity houses. We hope that all Chapters, Alumni Corporations and Chapter Advisors will be in attendance, as well as a number of interested Alumni. As this magazine goes to press, early registrations indicate a good attendance. If you are able to attend any, or all of the sessions, you are more than welcome. Please contact the National Office, 1111 E. 54th Street, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46220 for reservations. This promises to be one of the most interesting Conventions the fraternity has ever had. We will be looking forward to seeing you.

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AND PROCEDURAL CHANGES

The Board of Directors on April 21st approved a Constitutional amendment to Article VIII of the Constitution for introduction at the National Convention in August.

The amendment is to the Article on "The Directors." The changes occur in Sections 1-4; however, the complete Article is printed for your ease in reviewing it. The changes accomplish the following:

- A. Make every Director equal in stature by (1) eliminating Alternate Directors and (2) giving each Director a vote. The number of Directors becomes 15, up from 9 plus 6 Alternates.
- B. Guarantees undergraduates (Active members) seats on the Board and a vote. At the present time, two undergraduates are elected Alternate Directors but there is no commitment to do so, and their voting status depends on attendance of full Directors.
- C. Changes the term of office for Directors FROM six years for nine Directors TO four years for ten Directors and two years for five Directors. (The latter term is comparable to the present term for Alternate Directors.) The difference in lengths of term was included so the seats for undergraduates are not held by men who have been out of school for several years.

DRAFT OF AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION OF NATIONAL FRATERNITY OF KAPPA DELTA RHO, INC.

ARTICLE VIII THE DIRECTORS

SECTION 1. There shall be a Board of fifteen Directors, who shall manage the business and affairs of the Fraternity in the interim between Conventions. The Board of Directors shall be responsible to and report to the Convention.

SECTION 2. There shall be two types of Board seats differentiated only by the length of the period to be served; ten shall be four-year seats, five shall be two-year seats. At the Convention in 1972, two Directors shall be elected to the four-year seats for four-year terms and two shall be elected to the four-year seats for two years. At the Convention in 1974, and at each Convention held in even years thereafter, five Directors shall be elected for four-year terms. Also at the Convention in 1972 and at each Convention held in even years thereafter, five Directors shall be elected to two-year terms to fill the two-year seats.

SECTION 3. Honorary and Alumni members in good standing shall be eligible for election to both four-year and two-year seats. Active members in good standing shall be eligible for election to two-year seats. Not less than three of the two-year seats shall be filled by active members.

SECTION 4. In the event of a vacancy in the office of any Director, the Board of Directors may elect a member to serve until the next even-year Convention which shall then elect a member to fill the unexpired term.

SECTION 5. The Board of Directors shall hold an annual meeting for the election of officers as soon after the annual Convention as may be convenient.

SECTION 6. Ten days notice of annual or special meetings shall be given by telegraph, mail or in person, but such ten day's notice may be dispensed with upon unanimous consent and waiver by all the Directors.

SECTION 7. Five Directors shall constitute a quorum.

SECTION 8. No Director shall receive directly or indirectly any salary, compensation or emolument from the Fraternity, either as a Director or in any other capacity unless authorized by the By-Laws or by the concurring vote of two-thirds of all the Directors.

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AND PROCEDURAL CHANGES

On Friday, April 28, the following proposed Amendments were received in the National Office from Iota Chapter. Article VIII, Sections 2, 3 and 5

Article IX, Sections 2 and 8

Article X, Sections 1 and 4

- A. All officers including the Executive Secretary would be elected every 2 years by the Convention.
- B. An 8 member Board plus the President and a 6 member Alternate Board.
- C. Actives and alumni eligible for all offices.

D. A fund for chapter improvement to be established.

E. A revamped and improved scholarship fund.

Chapel Bells at Evening

by Hal Newcomb, Xi '29

It was almost 5:00 P.M. by the chapel clock across the yard as Zeke Jones casually glanced out of the window over his study desk in his room at Erskine Academy, a Prep School in Waterville, Maine now known as Oak Grove School for Girls. The year was 1924, going into 1925, and Zeke had received permission from the Dean to stay over the Christmas-New Year's holidays to catch up with his studies after being out for about a month with an appendectomy. So, he was all alone on the premises for ten days, with the exception of the janitor-care-taker who made rounds a couple of times a day.

After checking the time, Zeke went back to his French Instruction book, planning meanwhile in the back of his mind just what he would prepare for his supper on the hot plate. At the end of the book section, Zeke got up from his chair, opened the doors to a cabinet under the hot plate and selected a can of his favorite soup. He put a couple of pieces of bread in the toaster sitting on the card table which served him as a dining table. Then he opened the soup, placed it in a sauce pan, got the milk out of the small refrigerator and poured himself a glass after turning on the hot plate. While waiting for the soup to heat, Zeke went back to his French book and began another chapter, dealing with idioms. He hadn't gotten far in the book when he heard the chapel bell ringing. Wondering who could be in the chapel at this time of evening, he raised the window, bending over to look out onto the soft snow which had fallen the previous day. He saw footprints leading from the road into the chapel hallway where the bell rope hung. The chapel door was open and as Zeke peered into the dusk he thought he saw a white-garbed figure inside pulling on the rope. He let out a gasp as he noticed that the figure resembled his late, departed, dearly beloved mother. When he recovered his senses, he let out a yell. "Mother!," he called. "What are you doing here?" The bell stopped ringing and the figure turned around quickly and said in shivery tones: "Francis! (his real given name). Come here at once! I need you!"

Hardly knowing what he was doing or why, Francis Jones immediately ran out into the snow and raced toward the chapel. When he arrived there was nobody or anything there. He also noticed that the foot-steps in the snow had disappeared as if by magic. Only his own remained, coming from another direction. Suddenly Zeke smelled smoke, and turning around, he saw sheets of flame coming from the window in his room which he had left open in his haste. Grabbing the extension phone in the hall of the chapel, he hurriedly called the Fire Department. They got the blaze under control in a matter of minutes. One of the Firefighters was Fred Turner, a friend of Zeke's who lived in town and was later to be a Fraternity Brother of his at Colby, in Kappa Delta Rho. Fred told Zeke later that it was a miracle that he, Zeke, escaped the fire which was found to be caused by too heavy a load on the electrical system further complicated by the fact that someone had put a penny in the fuse socket in the basement directly under Zeke's room.

What about Zeke's supper? Friend Fred invited him to his house where Zeke told of his strange experience. Oh, yes, as an afterthought, — upon touching the bell-rope, Zeke noticed that it was WARM . . .

The above was told (many times) to brother Newcomb by his former roommate Francis H. "Zeke" Jones, whose father, in turn, had been Dr. Rufus Jones, one of the great religious leaders of the Society of Friends. Is there an explanation? Another Tale of the Unknown to make one wonder.

If you have had an encounter with the unknown, let us know about it . . . you might see it in print someday. —Ed.

The Sweetheart of Kappa Delta Rho

Deborah Lynn Barnes

THIS YEAR'S CONTEST is the second in which photographs of all submitted chapter sweethearts were published, and every chapter had the right to vote for the national sweetheart. As in 1971 ten chapters submitted entries; and until the last moment the voting chapters totalled 14 (the same as 1971). But we had a breakthrough in adding two more voting chapters, and it drastically affected the final result. Deadline for voting was held open to May 15th to assure the largest representation possible.

In submission of entries, most chapters who entered in 1971 repeated in 1972. Eight repeated, but two (Kappa and Sigma) were replaced by Beta and Zeta Alpha, thereby retaining our total of ten.

A comparison between voting chapters shows we are missing two (Delta and Lambda) but we have gained four, Alpha, Pi, Sigma and Alpha Alpha.

The Editor abstained from voting in that there was no tie (and he agreed with the selection, anyway!). The voting was close, as shown by the totals below:

#1 — 5	#6 — 2
2 — 12	7 — 4
3 — 10	8 — 13
4 — 2	9 — 6
5 — 7	10 — 3

It is perhaps fitting that Purdue's entry, Deborah Lynn Barnes, is the new Sweetheart of Kappa Delta Rho. Theta is the Convention-site, and now gains the sweetheart as well. Debbie was a 1970 Presidential Scholar and competed in the 1970 Miss Teenage Pageant as Miss Teenage of Knoxville. She has modeled for Seventeen magazine. Her interests include ballet dancing, journalism, fashion design, playing the guitar, travel, and her pin-mate Richard Steven Hoesel.

Runner-up Diane Mikan, the Epsilon Alpha chapter entrant is a commuter student at Lewis College. Her hobbies include horseback riding, swimming, bowling and sewing. She is pinned to Terry Cavanaugh, Epsilon Alpha's social chairman.

Indianapolis — Crossroads of America

by Robert W. Luzadder, Nu '60

In that this summer's convention will be held at Theta, less than an hour's drive from Indianapolis, the following submission has been held for the May issue, as delegates and friends may wish to make the short drive either prior to or after the meetings.

WITH A STROKE of the Indiana governor's pen, Indianapolis became one of the 10 largest cities in the United States. About the same time Kappa Delta Rho moved its business office to 1111 East 54th St. in the Hoosier capital.

Unigov, a unique concept whereby a county joined governmental forces with a large city to form a larger metropolis run by a mayor, gave Indy—as the city is affectionately known—a population in excess of 1 million persons.

In comparison with, say, New York City, San Francisco or Chicago, Indianapolis is on the provincial side. Oh, it has one of the best franchises in pro basketball, the Pacers, but it still has a rural flavor which can be very refreshing. The city dreamers are working on plans to turn Indy into a city of tomorrow, but you can bet "yesterday's" charm will still remain to flavor everyday life.

The Indiana State Fair is a good example of down-to-earth Hoosier living. Each year around Labor Day more than a million people gather at the Fairgrounds on the north side of the city for one of the grandest fairs in the nation.

Kappa Delta Rho's headquarters are less than 20 blocks due north of the Fairgrounds.

Many Hoosiers consider Indy on the dull side. Likely these critics have never witnessed the world's most colossal sports event—the Indy 500—which is run on the fourth Saturday in May. Complete with queens and a stupendous parade, more than 250,000 fans crowd the Speedway on the west edge of the county for the race. The atmosphere is electric.

On the two preceding weekends, when qualifications are held, more than 100,000 spectators, many with picnic lunches, gather each Saturday and Sunday to see colorful racers zoom around the 2½-mile track at speeds in the 180 mph class.

Each year in early September National Drag Races are held at Indianapolis Raceway Park, also located on the west edge of the county not far from the Speedway. During the state fair a championship Hoosier 100 is raced on a dirt track at the Fairgrounds. The same dirt track is also used by trotters. Memories of the great horse Dan Patch are conjured up by Hoosiers. Perhaps Dan Patch was the greatest racing Hoosier in history.

Indianapolis isn't all speed. Basketball is king in Hoosierland.

High school basketball, which reigns in the state, is on display from mid-November until late February. More than 20 Indianapolis high schools provide hysterical excitement and good basketball during the regular season. Until Indiana University, where Nu chapter is located, built a 17,000-seat gym, Indianapolis played host to the state high school basketball tourney championship. Construction has started on an 18,000-seat arena in downtown Indianapolis, and the nation's greatest prep basketball tourney should return to Indy by the end of the decade.

The Indianapolis Indians of the American Association play ball in Victory Field. The ballpark is located on West 16th St., about midway between the Speedway and Monument Circle.

History has always been a welcome friend in the Hoosier capital. Founded specifically as a state capitol in 1821, the community has been called home for the Hoosier Poet James Whitcomb Riley, and President Benjamin Harrison. Tours through their residences are provided. The bodies of the two men plus notorious gangster John Dillinger are interred in Crown Hill Cemetery, located straight west of the Fairgrounds on 34th St.

Museums of note are located in the basements of the state capitol and the Soldiers and Sailors Monument. The Circle and the capitol are two blocks apart in the center of the downtown area. A third significant museum—the Children's Museum—is located due north of the Log cabin setting at Indianapolis Children's Museum.

Circle on Meridian St. The monument, as well as the observation deck of the City-County Building, provide visitors with a fine panoramic view of the city.

Kappa Delta Rho isn't alone in having its national offices in Indianapolis. The American Amateur Athletic Union, American Legion and numerous national social fraternity and sorority offices are headquartered in "the crossroads of America."

Summer is the time when Indy is most alive. The 500 has been run and the residents settle down to golf on the city's several courses; swimming at the world's largest outdoor pool in Broad Ripple Park—a few blocks north of the KDR office; visiting the four-seasons childrens' zoo in Washington Park, just off of East 30th St.; watching the Indiana-Kentucky schoolboy all star basketball game at Hinkle Field House, Butler University; or seeing Hollywood and Broadway performers star in musicals which gained fame on the Great White Way. The musicals are presented in the Hilton U. Brown Theatron adjacent to Hinkle Fieldhouse. Butler, a beautifully landscaped school, is located on 46th St. west of KDR headquarters.

Nu, Epsilon chapter at Franklin College, and Theta chapter at Purdue, site of this years' Convention, are all located less than an hour's drive from the Hoosier capital. Purdue and Indiana, along with Notre Dame (located north of Indianapolis in South Bend) play the finest college football and basketball teams in the nation.

Kappa Delta Rho's national offices are in this building some 53 blocks north of the monument at the center of the city.

Accommodations in Indianapolis have improved over the past decade to the point where no one should complain about motels and hotels. The Hilton is the finest downtown hotel. It has an outstanding view of the Monument Circle. A fairly-new Quality Motel is located across the street from the Fairgrounds. There are several Holiday Inns and Howard Johnsons in Indianapolis. Be prepared, however, to pay premium rates for rooms during the 500 race festivities. Holiday magazine, published now in Indianapolis, has rated the King Cole Restaurant as one of the finest in the United States. Many Indy residents find the Key West Shrimp House, located in the south part of the city, the best restaurant. The city abounds in fine restaurants.

Wier-Cook Airport, a neighbor to the north of the Speedway, handles flights for Delta, TWA, Eastern and Allegheny airlines. A new Greyhound bus terminal has been built a short walk from the Circle. Trailways buses pull into a terminal in the same vicinity.

Kappa Delta Rho has picked an up-and-coming city in which to locate its business offices. Why not plan to see the capital city, learn about unigov, racing cars, basketball and nice people. While you're there stop by and see our fraternity executive secretary E. Mayer Maloney—he's quite a Hoosier.
