A Great Summer Convention

Throughout this coverage of the convention, there will be boxed items written by delegates indicating individual chapter achievements.

THE 65TH NATIONAL CONVENTION and Leadership Conference convened at Zeta Chapter on August 19th. Actually, the chapter house was the scene of much informal activity as I saw it for the first time, after a beautiful 3-hour drive across some of middle Pennsylvania's most interesting scenery. Advance registration had just about been suspended for supper, but there were crowds of brothers milling around in the hall, dining room, kitchen and living room. New faces, old faces, all seemed eager for the show to get on the road. Which it did, after some mulling around the necessities of getting room assignments, keys, meal tickets, and becoming accustomed to an unfamiliar campus (for most of the visitors).

At 7:30 P.M. the first session began when Robin Bell presented his talk on "Instant Executives" in the Hetzel Union Building. An undergraduate entering office within a fraternity must become an "instant executive", considering the big business of managing what at times can be $50,000-a-year-or-more budgets; the intricacies of house rentals, commissaries, dues collections, salaries, repairs and

LAMBDA

During the summer the chapter has been renting out rooms to members and students. Members have been painting the inside of the house and fixing up the grounds.

As mentioned in the last article, Steve Rivera '76, was drafted by the San Francisco 49'ers and he played in his first game in August.

David Bonelli was an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City.

Perry Lange, one of Cal's top swimmers has been practicing hard this summer.

John Nubbel has been playing national tennis tournaments especially in the Northeast. He was ranked No. 1 in Northern California in the 18 year old category last year, and is on the varsity tennis team.

This fall we're looking forward to the famous KDR gin fizz breakfast before football games . . . and we're hoping for a Rose Bowl bid.

improvements, payment of bills, taxes, audits, etc. Mr. Bell's expertise in issuing his challenge to the delegates and helping explain how to proceed was very helpful to all who were able to attend. The end of his talk at 9:00 P.M. came too soon for most. Delegates scattered after this meeting . . . some to their rooms, some to the chapter house and some into town. Regardless where they went, next morning came too early.

7:00 A.M. both Friday and Saturday the sound of fists on doors and

OMEGA

Omega is currently looking forward to Homecoming, with a celebration including a formal on October 4th and the 14th Annual Walk to Pittsburgh for Children's Hospital. We hope that 1976-77 will better involve the alumni with the functions of the chapter.

"Wake Up America" were just about the first noises sleepy delegates heard. Each morning dawned cool and still in these mountains, and was followed by progressively warmer weather as the sun rose higher into the sky and the weekend expanded. By Sunday, it was approaching the 90's.

A large part of Friday was devoted to Bill Johnston's "Leadership Training — Nuts and Bolts", a program somewhat repetitious of that presented at the 63rd Leadership Con-

BETA

Four members (Brothers Kar Loh, Brian Swallow, Donald Strenk and Gary Holcomb all '78) have been admitted to the Coop Engineering Program, an internship arrangement with various major concerns for the fall term of their Junior years.

Andrew Bulkley '77 has formed an Amusement Committee. Once each semester he has organized a talent show with skits, songs, spoofs of house meetings and some classical music. The house hopes it will continue this year.

Brian Swallow, '78, helped prevent a near tragedy this summer when a lush decided to attack the driver of a bus on which Brian was riding. Brother Swallow was seated behind the driver when the drunk came to the front of the bus with a broken bottle. He leaned forward and grabbed the man's arms from behind. The drunkard brought the bottle back and could have injured Brian were it not for the quick action of Brian's fellow seatmate who managed to wrest the bottle out of the attacker's hands. The State Police were called and the attacker placed in custody.

Senior Tribune Carl Franceschi '77, organized a constitutional convention for the chapter in the spirit of the bicentennial to rehash some of the weak points of and outdated and insufficiently elaborated chapter constitution. Some passages were amended, and a stronger and more flexible document was molded.

ference, but updated to 1976 standards. (Bill is, of course, the Zeta Alumni Advisor). Various unusual exercises requiring some rather hard thinking were presented. While we can't review them all, perhaps the best explanation for them was "self evaluation". A series of 13 "Pay-off" cards were given each delegate, and all were asked to sort them into descending order of importance. Easy? Not really. Which is more important, Power or Security? Service to others

SIGMA

We are involved in a program at Oregon State, sponsored by the IFC in which foreign exchange students stay for a term at houses in the O.S.U. Greek System.

IFC pays for half of the student's board and room with the remainder absorbed by the host fraternity.

Sigma has participated extensively in this program. It has taught our members a great deal about other cultures, both different and similar to ours. Some of our recent students have been from such places as Gran Prix, France; Tokyo, Japan; and Stuttgart, Germany.

or independence? Love/personal relationships/family or achievement/recognition/status? And those were only six of the thirteen! Through self evaluation an attempt was made to discover what each man's definition of success might be. When the day was over, the initial superficial definition had taken some sobering turns as (hopefully) new recognition of the nature of each delegate's personality became more evident.

After the close of the afternoon session, the group picture you'll find on the cover was taken, followed by a long-drawn-out cook-out at the chapter house. Charcoal broiled Hamburgers, hot dogs and all the trimmings were served on the patio. Groups took off for downtown. Some stayed at the house until the later hours. And the next sound was "Wake Up America".

EPSILON ALPHA

We feel we're probably the most unique chapter in the whole KDR fraternity system. We have no house and all the brothers live in dorms on campus, many as roommates.

The chapter has strong community ties. Within the past year Epsilon Alpha has sponsored (1) a blood drive, (2) a dance for muscular dystrophy, (3) a party for underprivileged children at Christmas, (4) a raffle dance for one semester's tuition at Lewis, and many other community related events.

ETA

We'll have 38 on campus and 33 in the house this fall. Eleven pledges this spring helped keep the house full.

Plans are being made in conjunction with the Eta Building Assn. for a successful homecoming with the largest attendance ever.

Having attended this convention, we have come away with new insights into the workings of our National. We hope through the knowledge gained to be able to work closer with other KDR chapters and become more involved in National. We were happy to find that the brotherhood shared at Eta extends to both coasts . . . even among brothers we've only known for a short time.

The business session of the 65th National Convention was called to order at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Five chapters were absent, three of which eventually joined in the proceedings.

After the previously distributed minutes of the last convention were approved, the treasurer's report, showing deficit financing was approved.

The Alumni Fund report (shown in greater detail in our last issue) showed a 17% increase and led to a round of applause for Bob Corrie, chairman of the drive.

The executive secretary's report emphasized the generally strong position of most chapters. There is a possibility of reactivating one of our chapters and also one reasonably active possibility for expansion onto a new campus.

The remainder of the morning was devoted to committee reports; Finance, Scholarship, Ritual, Awards and Communication, and Long Range

THETA

The chapter is proud to be in 1st place in both total numbers of contributors and total amount collected in the Alumni Fund.

Theta Foundation, the house corporation of the chapter, recently raised $3,200 for its fund. The house itself is staffed with 37, the most in over seven years.

An all-campus dance in the front yard, scheduled each year has been a recently started tradition.

Dick Nolan and Gerry Murray, active Theta Foundation members have been re-elected to the Board of the national.

Planning. Much of these involved internal matters. However, the Awards and Communication Committee proposed several areas in which the National could recognize chapter achievements and help improve chapter-national interaction. The Long Range Planning Committee requested each chapter to appoint a brother to act as a long range planner for his chapter and to be responsible for communication between the chapter and the committee.

Expansion Committee spokesmen pointed out that the chapters are in the best position to locate and contact locals (one of the more successful ways of establishing new chapters), and pass the information on to the committee or National.

There was no old business to discuss, and new business centered around the selection of a purveyor. Richmond Industries of Ann Arbor, Michigan, was appointed on a year-to-year basis.

Dues were continued at the same basis as previously, with incentives to pay on time.

Nominations for the Board resulted in the slate elected. There were no nominations from the floor.

Resolutions thanking Zeta Chapter, Convention Chairman Dave Henderson, Penn State University, Robin Bell, & William Johnston were passed.

A resolution extending the fraternity's deepest appreciation to E. Mayer

Maloney for his dedication to the group and looking forward to his continued participation in the fraternity was also passed.

Other resolutions included authorization to publish a bi-monthly newsletter to be distributed to active chapters to help create better liaison between all units, and an authorization to permit the Board of Directors to reinvest Trust Fund monies in higher yielding securities under carefully re-

NU

The chapter has recently moved from 1100 N. Jordan St. to 1503 East 3rd St. due to sale of the previous house to Delta Chi in a closed bid. The new address is nearer the academic portion of the campus and will make it easier for undergraduates to get to class (a good rushing point).

The move was initiated in June. Many of the brothers have been working hard this summer to get the new house in shape.

In the May Quill & Scroll an article was published about Curt Littlejohn's winning ways in the Men's American College Twirling Association National Competition. He has now won the World College Twirling Championship held in July. Curt plans to twirl this year in the Marching 100 Band, and will be involved in teaching it also.

stricted specifications. Both passed after spirited discussion.

The meeting ended at 3:45 p.m. and

ZETA

During the spring term Zeta continued to expand through a successful rush program, higher academic performance and greater involvement in intramural sports. The house has built a good reputation on campus through participation in events such as the Dance Marathon, and an active social schedule was climaxed by the annual Rose Formal and a Mother's Day Buffet for the undergraduates' families. The Alumni Association continued their efforts in the Zeta Improvement Fund and were able to purchase new furniture besides some badly needed rebuilding for the exterior of the house. With a full house of 42 brothers expected this fall, Zeta looks forward to even more advantageous conditions in the future.

all adjourned to the chapter house for a cheese and wine-tasting party which included some of Zeta's little sisters as hostesses.

The formal banquet closed out the convention on Saturday night, at which scholarship winners were presented with their checks and we were treated to an exceptional speech by Dr. David R. Stewart, assistant director of Residential Life at Penn State.

We had hoped to have a summary of his speech to present in this issue. However, it could not be obtained in time. If received by deadline for February, it will be inserted at that time.

Orrin Judd

Reminiscences of a Friend

By Murray I. Gurfein, Judge, U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals

To tell the simple truth about Orrin Judd is to court suspicion that one is touched by imagination. But the truth is that he was a unique person of a rare quality one does not often encounter in a lifetime.

There have been legends about men of righteousness in all ages and in my book, he stands tall in their company. For I have never known a man more compassionate and more truly devout. Yet, in his righteousness, he never became self-righteous.

Truly Devout

Orrin was a truly devout man, immersed in his Christian faith, yet I never heard a word from his lips that disparaged the faith of others, Christian or Jew.

We were law partners for more than twenty years. When we formed the firm right after World War II, we cemented a friendship we had formed at law school, which by then had lasted almost twenty years.

At that time, he was retiring as Solicitor General of the State of New York. His reputation at the Bar, as a summa cum laude at Harvard, as law clerk to Judge Learned Hand and as a former member of a prestigious firm, gave him entree to almost any choice of career.

He chose to form a modest fledgling partnership with me. This was at a time when a great many downtown firms still practiced discrimination in hiring, based upon religious faith.

He spoke of our new firm as a challenge to discrimination. I would never have thought of it in that way. But, he did.

In the years of our close association, there never was a harsh word between us, either about money or about ethics. When inflation became rampant in the fifties, he would come into my office every few months and ask me whether I had seen the latest Cost of Living Index. I accepted this as a signal for an across-the-board raise for the staff.

Few Peers as a Lawyer

As a lawyer, he had few peers. His mind was incisive. He could grasp the most difficult legal problem in the twinkling of an eye, skim a page and come up with a sensible answer and often a brilliant one.

He lacked some qualities that are sometimes taken for the touchstone of financial success. He was not pushy or ever guilty of self-praise. He did not hesitate to speak his mind.

Nor was he prone to fawn upon those who might be of help in his career. He always remained a self-reliant lawyer whose sound advice was both practical and moral.

Residence Problem Solved

He did not move to a "good" neighborhood when his neighborhood in Brooklyn, Clinton Hill, became a district of poorer people, many black and hispanic. He remained a pillar of the church of his fathers, around the corner from his home, when the congregation welcomed its black neighbors in large numbers.

He was a man who truly had no feeling that he was different from other folks, no matter what their station or origin. He was of old American stock. His ancestors came to this city in the seventeenth century. But he never sought homage or advantage because he was "old family."

At Colgate University, he was a cross-country runner. He later served as a devoted trustee and was the recipient of an honorary degree. He was a Dodger fan when they played in Brooklyn and did not miss a local World Series of the Dodgers or the Yankees.

He never smoked and never tasted liquor but he was tolerant of the less strong-willed. I am certain that he never bet on a horse race but, by the irony of fate, as a judge, he became an expert on how to parlay a horse bet and a savant on the Perfecto wager.

Not a Wit

He was not a wit but he was far from humorless and laughed easily. His company was genial. His memory was extraordinarily disciplined. He was the only man in our class who did not own a notebook.

That made him a distinct personality in a school of prodigious note-takers. Another thing that made him unique was his utter abstention from study on Sunday, which also caused wonderment in those who felt there were not enough days in the week for the cramming of knowledge into their own heads.

His charitable contributions were extremely generous by any standard. He did not simply mouth the Biblical admonition to give an annual tithe of one's income to charity. He gave the tithe and more, quietly and with modesty.

Active in Many Causes

He was active in so many causes — the Protestant Council, bar associations, the Chinese blind, the Baptist Convention and the Citizens Union. He was chairman of Brotherhood in Action. His wife, Persis, helped in all these.

But his charity went beyond the confines of Internal Revenue Service deductions. He helped people without regard to tax benefit, saw them through illnesses and gave substantial support to friends who had fallen upon hard times.

Orrin's judicial work, always of high quality, was touched with human kindness. He could be severe in sentencing hardened criminals but he labored long and hard to bring self-respect to prisoners in state and Federal jails. His seminal decisions correcting the horrors of Willowbrook are part of history.

Heart's Leap Rebuffed

At times, his great heart leaped beyond the point to which appellate judges were ready to go but he always had the respect and affection of his brethren.

To his beloved wife, Persis, and to his sons and daughters, Persis Cheney (Pi), Rev. Orrin (Rho), Betsy Booth (Boo) and John (Jum), we offer our sympathy and understanding. Their loss is heavy, indeed. And we have all lost an indescribably great man.

To have had the good fortune to know him well remains one of the great blessings of my own life. In mourning, we dare not challenge the Judgment. Orrin Judd's abiding faith would not have sanctioned that.

*Reprinted from
THE NEW YORK LAW JOURNAL—
Monday, July 12, 1976*

Judge Orrin G. Judd 1906-1976

ORRIN G. JUDD suffered a fatal heart attack on July 7, 1976 while attending a judicial conference in Aspen, Colorado. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he attended the Sorbonne in Paris and in 1930 received his LL.B. summa cum laude from Harvard Law School. He entered private practice that year. His career led him to Solicitor General of the State of New York (1934-1943), Judge of the Surrogate Court of King's County, N. Y. (1946-1964 and again in 1965-1968). In 1968 President Lyndon Johnson appointed him Judge of the Eastern District Federal Court of Brooklyn, N. Y., a position he held at his death. He gained national prominence in 1973 when he issued an injunction, later overturned, ordering the U.S. to cease bombing in Cambodia. Another judicial order directing the state to correct inhumane and shocking conditions at the Willowbrook school for the mentally retarded on Staten Island received wide publicity. But these were only a few of many major decisions that flowed from his bench. His fellow jurists acclaimed him more for his constant dedication than for any individual decision.

Orrin served Kappa Delta Rho from 1936 to 1944 as a member of the Board of Directors during which time he was National Treasurer. In 1956 he was elected to the Board of Trustees of Colgate University. A staunch supporter of the fraternity, he was always generous with wise counsel, time and financial support with an uninterrupted Alumni Fund record since 1942.

A devoted churchman, he was active in civic and church philanthropies. He had been a member of the board of managers of the American Bible Society since 1955. The fraternity and the nation will miss him. Several services, one at Aspen, where Chief Justice Warren Burger of the Supreme Court spoke, one in Brooklyn attended by many distinguished leaders, one in the Ceremonial Court at Federal Court attended by many friends, and one at Colgate marked his passing.

Address Changes

ONE OF THE MOST DIFFICULT tasks in the National Office is keeping up with address changes of the brothers. With each issue of the Quill & Scroll we receive about 400 to 500 address changes. Some of them are sent in by the brothers, but the great majority are from the post office advising us of a brother's new address. However, the post office is not the most reliable source for current addresses. All too often we receive "moved, left no address", "addressee unknown", "no such street address", etc. We then check our records and find we have used the address since such and such a date, and it is difficult to believe since we have used the address four times a year for several years the brother would move and not leave a forwarding address, or that he is unknown, or that there is no such street address.

We pay 25¢ to the post office for advising us of the current address, and also pay the same amount when no address is given. In order not to lose any brother unnecessarily we write the postmaster of the town of the brother's last known address and ask him to please recheck his records to be sure he does not have a forwarding address for the brother in question. We write about twenty-five to fifty such letters per issue of the Quill & Scroll.

We receive responses for about 75% of our requests to the postmasters and generally receive a forwarding address or are told the information we received was in error and that the brother still resides at the original address. All of this takes valuable time and costs postage money: Twenty-five cents to receive the incorrect information and thirteen-cents to send a follow-up request to the postmaster, asking him to recheck his records.

The post office will supply its patrons with a change of address kit, without charge to all who move. It would be very helpful if, when you move, you would advise the National Office as well as your friends and those periodicals to which you might subscribe. First of all the correct forwarding address would be received and secondly you would receive all issues. When the post office advises us of your new address, they do not forward the magazine, but destroy it.

In addition to the address change kit provided by the post office, each issue of the Quill & Scroll contains a form for you to complete and send to National, advising us of your new address and its effective date. It would be greatly appreciated if you would advise us as far in advance of your move as possible, so you will receive each issue of the magazine on time.

For those brothers who are still in school seeking either an undergraduate degree or an advanced degree and those who are temporarily in the military service, we would prefer keeping the address of their parents as their permanent mailing address. When the brother is permanently established he should advise us of his address.

1976 Scholarship Awards

AT THE CLOSING BANQUET of the 1976 National Convention, President Robert D. Lynd announced the winners of the two scholarships given annually to members of Kappa Delta Rho. He presented both recipients with a $500 check and a Certificate of Recognition.

Brother Kim Kenneth Burke, Omega, '76, was the recipient of the Kappa Delta Rho Scholarship. Kim received a B.S. Degree in Education majoring in Social Science from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in December of 1975. He took just seven semesters to complete his requirements for the degree and attained a 3.7 G.P.A. on a 4. system. In January he entered the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Pittsburgh in pursuit of a Masters Degree in Public Administration. He hopes to enter law school in the future.

While at Omega, Kim served the Chapter as Quaestor, Praetor, Athletic Chairman, Scholarship Chairman and Historian. He participated all four years in the Chapter's "March to Pittsburgh" in conjunction with Station KDKA-TV's Telethon for the benefit of the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

In addition to attaining an outstanding scholastic record, Kim also was very active in track at I.U.P. He ran between 10 and 15 miles daily, training for the Big Indian Track and Cross Country teams. During his Sophomore year he broke the

I.U.P. record for the three mile run with a time of 14 minutes and 30 seconds. During track season he practiced an average of two and a half hours per day, after he had studied sufficiently to keep up his scholastic requirements. He said, "When it comes down to a choice between school and athletics, I always put my studies first."

During his college career, he ran in the National Cross Country Championship in Salina, Kansas in 1974 and competed in the National Indoor Track Championship in Greensboro, North Carolina in 1975. He won letters in Track and Cross Country all four years he attended I.U.P. During his Senior year he was student supervisor for the Intramural Athletic Department.

Brother Jay Nelson Stateler, Iota, '77, was the recipient of the Stuart J. Myers Foundation for Engineering Students. This scholarship is funded each year by the Foundation founded by Brother Stuart J. Myers, Tau, '32. Jay will be a Senior this fall at Bucknell University in Civil Engineering majoring in Structures. Through his Junior year he had attained a 3.9 G.P.A. on a 4. point system.

Although he has not served his Chapter in a major office, he has participated in the Chapter's intramural program, served on various committees and chaired several of the committees. Currently he is President of Tau Beta Pi Engineering Honorary. In his Freshman year he was elected to Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman Scholastic Honorary. He is serving as Secretary to the Bucknell Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He plays trombone in the Bucknell Marching Band, Concert Band and Orchestra. He is active in the Environmental Coordination and Advisory Committee at Bucknell University. This committee has instituted a paper, glass and aluminum recycling program. The committee is also involved in efforts to cut down the energy consumption at Bucknell.

After graduation Jay hopes to serve in the Peace Corps in a civil engineering capacity for about three years. After several years in the "real world" as he puts it, he hopes to return to school for a Masters Degree in Civil Engineering. At this point he plans to definitely decide his future. He may enter the job market seeking a position as a civil engineer or he may continue his education toward a Ph.D., hoping to teach on the college level.

Kappa Delta Rho can well be proud of both Kim and Jay and wish them well. Both are outstanding students in their chosen fields and we can look forward to hearing great things from both these young men in the future.

Fraternity Bicentennial

THE YEAR 1976 is the bicentennial not only of our country but of the American Fraternity, and this fact will be celebrated by men and women of both general and professional fraternities December 1 and 2 at Williamsburg, Virginia.

The gala events of the Greek Letter Bicentennial are the result of joint planning by the four Conferences represented in the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Council: National Interfraternity Conference, National Panhellenic Conference, Professional Interfraternity Conference and Professional Panhellenic Association. Members of all other college Greek Letter societies also are being invited to participate.

Fraternity leaders and members from across the nation will gather for meetings of individual Conferences and Associations on Wednesday, December 1, and for a joint "Interfraternity Day" on Thursday.

Williamsburg was chosen for the observance because Phi Beta Kappa, the forerunner of all college Greek Letter groups in America, was founded there December 5, 1776, just scant months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The Greek Letter Bicentennial Celebration will begin with separate meetings of the four Conferences. Perhaps the largest gathering will be that of the National Interfraternity Conference which will conduct its annual meeting December 1, bringing together representatives of 47 national fraternities with a total living membership of more than two million.

National Panhellenic Conference has scheduled an open meeting of its College Panhellenics Committee which will be of interest to all members of the 26 NPC national college sororities, which count approximately 1.5 million living members.

Professional Interfraternity Conference, with 25 professional fraternities, and the Professional Panhellenic Association, with 14 professional sororities, will also meet.

The theme "A Look at Our Past,

With an Eye to Our Future", will be expanded upon on "Interfraternity Day" Thursday. The fascinating history of fraternity, concluded by a tour of Raleigh Tavern, the location of the Phi Beta Kappa founding 200 years ago, will occupy the morning. At noon, fraternity leaders will take a look at today in the fraternity world. The afternoon will be devoted to a panel discussion of the future of fraternities, and a report from the Commission on the American College Fraternity: The Fraternity in the Year 2000.

A formal, black-tie reception and banquet will be held that evening. President Gerald R. Ford, Delta Kappa Epsilon, has been invited as the speaker and the date is on his calendar. An awards program will recognize fraternity and sorority members who have distinguished themselves in a variety of fields.

Members of all general or professional fraternities or sororities, honor or recognition societies are expected to attend. Members of Kappa Delta Rho who would like to attend may obtain more details and reservations information through our headquarters at Indianapolis.

Lost Alumni: a recurring problem

At intervals when space and circumstances permit, we have been trying to publish a current listing of brothers by chapters whose names have become detached from our group. There are many reasons, of course, for such difficulties. There may have been a period when the alumnus lost interest, or became ill and moved, or even passed away without any notice being given us. More annoying can be misprinted addresses, computer snafus, human error and other miscellaneous causes. If any of you who are reading this publication should know of the whereabouts of these brothers, please write the Executive Secretary. Names are listed with last known address, when the latter is available.
