The Outstanding Seniors of 1976-77

ZETA

The choosing of Zeta Chapter's outstanding Senior was a little complicated this year. The brothers felt unanimously that two men were equally deserving of the honor. Zeta Chapter therefore presented the Seniors of the Year award to David Chesley Henderson of Folcroft, PA and Gerald D. Tolland of Warminster, PA.

David, a finance and accounting major, has held numerous offices within the house including Caterer, Tribunal Chairman, Quaestor, Consul and Homecoming Chairman. He has also been active outside the house being a member of the Finance Club, and Campus Crusade as well as holding several Interfraternity Council offices, including President of the Advisory Board, Chairman of the Standards Hearing Board and a member of the Board of Control. He was the undergraduate chairman for the 1976 National Convention held at Zeta Chapter. David plans to attend Drexel University Master of Business Administration Program next year and eventually will join his father's real estate firm.

As this issue went to press, we were informed of the passing of George E. Shaw, Alpha '10, Mr. KDR. More details will follow in a future issue.

Gerry is an Environmental Resource Management major with a 3.6 G.B.A. Gerry has also worked his way up through the ranks, holding the offices of House manager, Praetor, Caterer, Senior and Junior Tribune, Rush Council and Tribunal Chairman as well as chairing the Homecoming and Formal Committees. His on-campus activities include membership in Eco-Action and three honor societies, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, and Gamma Sigma Delta. Gerry has been awarded a research assistantship at Michigan State University and will be seeking a Ph.D. in Resource Economics.

Both of these members have been with the house for four years and, have had a great deal to do with the recent successes of Zeta Chapter. All of us are sorry to see them leave and wish them well in the future.

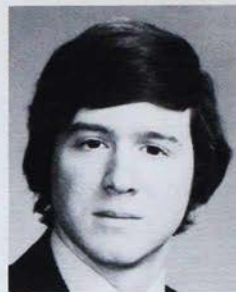

RHO

James H. Cottrell, Jr. '77, is an Economics and Business major from Rumson, New Jersey. He was Senior Tribune of Rho Chapter in 1976. Jim is a Dean's List student and has been active in student government, admissions and alumni relations as well as the Maroon Key Society. For the past two years he was a Head Resident Advisor at Lafayette. Recently, he became a charter member of Omicron Delta Epsilon, National Economic Honor Society. Jim plans to work for Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. in New York and also intends to obtain a Masters in Business Administration from NYU beginning in June.

James A. Coccagna, a Civil Engineering major from Chambersburg, Pa., is the second of Rho Chapter's Outstanding Seniors. Jim recently completed his term as Consul of Rho, and previously served as house fire marshall. He is extremely active in intramural athletics, as he has competed in football, softball, racquetball, and wrestling, among others. In wrestling, Jim was the intramural champion two years ago in the heavy-weight division. He is an active member of the American Society of Civil Engineers Student Chapter. Upon graduation, Jim will be employed by Dewberry, Nealon & Davis, a consulting engineering firm in Vienna, Va.

The Recolonization of Franklin and New York State Campuses

THE NATIONAL OFFICE is pleased to announce we have added two colonies to our chapter roll during the past semester. The first one, located at Franklin College in Franklin, Indiana, is reactivating Epsilon Chapter, which closed at the end of 1972-73.

On December 16 a group of Epsilon Alumni in the Franklin-Indianapolis area held a meeting for the purpose of investigating the feasibility of reactivating the chapter. Alumni response was excellent, but it was made clear that in order for the alumni to sponsor a colony, ideals and principles must be high. They decided a minimum grade point average for one to be pledged and initiated should be 2.5. Also the individuals should dedicate part of their efforts toward college and community projects.

A committee was appointed to contact the Administration of Franklin College for the purpose of recognizing such a colony, should one be formed. Dr. Edwin Penn, President of Franklin College, was much impressed with the requirements for the colony and assured the committee he felt certain the trustees would recognize the colony and eventually the re-establishment of Epsilon Chapter.

The committee started interviewing quality sophomores and juniors on campus, trying to interest them in the prospective colony. In all, the committee interviewed about 30 individuals and found four whom they felt would make a good working nucleus. These four were officially pledged on March 26. They, in turn, rushed other students and, on May 9, a second pledging ceremony was held at which time six more were pledged.

The combined G.P.A. of the 10 men is slightly more than 3.4 on a 4-point system. In the group is the outgoing president of the student body, Roger Wolford, and the newly elected student body president, Ken Inskeep. Wolford is the grandson of Leo T. Wolford, a charter member of Epsilon Chapter and a past national president of Kappa Delta Rho.

The alumni did not stop with the forming of the nucleus of the colony, but launched a fund drive of a minimum of $3,000 to assist the colony in its early stages. Every alumnus has been contacted by letter and by telephone and at this writing more than $2,500 has been collected.

Although no housing is being planned at this time, the colony has rented a social room in Bryan Hall for next year and the alumni will furnish it as a lounge and meeting room for the colony. We feel Epsilon colony has gotten off to a good start during its two months of existence and has attracted 10 outstanding men to carry on the ideals and principles of K.D.R.

growth of Gamma Chapter when it withdrew from the National in 1952 because of the discriminatory clause we had in our constitution at that time. In 1953 the New York legislature passed legislation that no national fraternity could have a chapter on any New York State University Campus. In October 1976 the legislature rescinded this ban on those national fraternities which did not discriminate in race, creed or national origin.

Since we amended our constitution in 1958 and eliminated the offending clause, we are eligible to return to New York State campuses. Contact was first made with some key alumni of Gamma Chapter and alumni of the local Alpha Pi Alpha. It appeared that these alumni would be interested in having the chapter return to K.D.R.

On February 16 a meeting was held with the undergraduates of Alpha Pi Alpha explaining to them the past history of Gamma Chapter, and pointing out the advantages the chapter would gain by reactivating Gamma Chapter. A mailing was sent to all Gamma alumni as well as the alumni of Alpha Pi Alpha advising them of our meeting with the undergraduate chapter and suggesting the alumni contact the chapter and suggest what action they (the alumni) would recommend the chapter take.

On April 26 the national office received a call from John Vetere, the President of the chapter, advising us the chapter had voted to seek colony status with the national with the idea of reactivating Gamma Chapter. Since the chapter was holding elections the following week, we postponed revisiting the chapter until May 11 at which time the members were formally pledged to Kappa Delta Rho and the colony definitely established.

Alpha Pi Alpha is one of four local fraternities on the campus. Their membership is 25 and all are outstanding young men and leaders on campus.

Sweetheart of KDR

This year's contest was among the closest we have ever had, with one vote separating the top winners and several ties for 3rd and 4th place. The winner is Nu Chapter's sweetheart, Barbara Laib. She is a senior from Evansville, Indiana, and is an Environmental Policy major in the school of Public and Environmental Affairs at Indiana University. A K.D.R. little sister, she is pinned to Past Consul, Mark Jones.

Omega's candidate was the second prize winner. Darla Di Cicco was Omega's Homecoming sweetheart and was on the 1976 Homecoming Court. She is a Sigma Kappa, lavaliered to Gary Elkun.

Reconstructing prehistoric life

JOHN B. CARLSON, Eta '49, was a journalism graduate, but for the past 17 years has been with Advertising Age as research director, where his journalistic talents have been (perhaps) subdued. At any rate, a more satisfying part of his life evolved through an association with the Northwestern University Archaeological Program. He became interested in this project about eight years ago, and for the past three years has done a magnificent job editing the program's newsletter, Early Man. The photograph (right) was taken at a planning session for a wall chart which will illustrate artifacts from an archaeological site called Koster, where an occupation dating to 6,800 B.C. will be excavated this summer. In all, there were 14 separate occupations there over a period of at least 7,000 years, the most recent dating to 1,200 A.D. The chart will also depict scenes of

John found it interesting several years back to shake hands with one of the archaeologists who was wearing a Kappa Delta Rho ring. His name is Tom Cook, a Beta 1968 grad, who is in charge of the artifact analysis lab for the program. Tom spends his winters at the University of Indiana in Bloomington.

A summary of the past year

E. Mayer Maloney

*Early Man,
Northwestern's
archaeological Newsletter, edited by Brother Carlson.*

In that the Northwestern program encourages the participation of the public, John has found a multitude of new friends with similar interests. Hundreds of individuals have excavated as a part of the Northwestern Adult Field Schools.

Ed. Note: Should any brothers be interested in this type of endeavor, write: Northwestern Archaeological Program, P.O. Box 1499, Evanston, Ill. 60201.

THE 1976-77 SCHOOL YEAR is now history and looking back in retrospect we feel it has been a reasonably successful one. Most chapters enjoyed an increase in membership; several chapters received campus recognition for their activities during the year; none suffered any severe discipline from the dean; the Annual Alumni Fund hit another all-time high; and we have acquired two colonies which will reactivate Gamma and Epsilon chapters.

This, however, is all history. Now we have to start planning for 1977-78. What can we do to assure our continued growth? The national plans to continue assisting those chapters which are still in need of increasing their membership. These chapters will be encouraged and advised as to how to put on a more successful rush. When possible, a national representative will be in attendance to help them rush. The national will continue to urge the chapters to offer a meaningful pledge education program to their pledges. In the past, some chapters conducted a somewhat trivial and detrimental pledge program from which no real good was derived. Respect for the brothers is not gained through ridicule and abuse of the pledges, but by properly educating them in the ideals and principles of the fraternity. Respect must be earned by the active members if they want to build a strong chapter.

During the summer break each brother should be thinking just what he can do next fall to improve his chapter. What will his contribution be? The officers, and particularly the executive committee, should correspond regularly and if distance will permit, they should meet once or twice during the summer to plan for next year. Solutions should be found to questions such as the following: How many pledges do we need to have a financially sound operation? What kind of rush party will attract that number of desirable pledges? If permitted, where and when can we hold a summer rush? What repairs need to be made at the chapter house? This information should be relayed to the house corporation, pointing out the need. Do we need to re-evaluate our pledge program before next fall? If so, place someone in charge of outlining a meaningful pledge-education program. Did any problems arise during the past year? We should give thought in advance as to how to handle them in event there is a reoccurrence next year? How can we improve our scholastic average on campus? Are there any incentives the chapter might offer to increase the brothers' awareness of the need for good scholarship? Can we improve our campus image with other fraternities and the sororities on campus? What is our image and reputation in the community? Did we do a good job on a community project last year and can we improve it next year? If the chapter had a project was it successful and worthwhile? Should we continue the same project next year or should we select another one? Give careful thought in preparing a budget, adjusting those expense items which were over-spent this year. These and many other questions should be thought about and discussed by the executive committee over the summer.

True, you are all welcoming the break from the classroom and "thinking," but after a month or so life will become boring and your thoughts should be turning toward next semester and next year. It will offer officers a challenge to come up with a better plan, a better idea, with better results. At the end of your term of office you can reflect on the accomplishments and, hopefully, you can honestly say to yourself, "We did a good job and have led the chapter through one of its best years."

The alumni also have a role to play in assisting the chapters to become stronger. If you know of an outstanding young man who plans to enter a college or university where we have a chapter, send a letter of recommendation to the chapter, giving them as much information about the young man as you possibly can. What did he do in high school? In what sports did he participate? What activities outside of the classroom did he enjoy? Was he a class officer or an officer in any of the school's clubs? What kind of a student was he? What was his class rank? What is his family background? If you do not know any of the chapter officers, or their summer address, send this information to the national office and we will forward it to the proper officer in the chapter. Please get these recommendations in early as some chapters are permitted to hold summer rush.

We hope that all those loyal alumni who have contributed to the Annual Alumni Fund will continue to do so.

Dear Brother Hoffman:
Enclosed please find my 1976-77 contribution to the Annual Alumni Fund, in recognition of the need to supplement a stronger and more active national program.

Amount of Contribution

☐ Check ☐ Money Order ☐ Cash

Chapter Eternal

This income is very important for two reasons. First of all, a good bulk of the contributions come in during early fall, before the chapters have held initiations and before chapter dues are payable. It provides a little ready cash to operate on during the early fall. Secondly, the Alumni Fund represents about 30 per cent of our total budget, and with the increased cost of operating the fraternity, it is a very necessary and important part of our funding. As of this writing we are about $1,000 short of our budgeted goal of $13,500, but we feel it can be met. If you have not sent in your contribution, please do so before June 30, the end of our fiscal year.

With the continued assistance to the chapters from the national; thoughtful planning by the chapter's executive committees over the summer; an honest appraisal of each undergraduate's effectiveness in his chapter; continued alumni support in providing names of prospective rushees to the chapter; and continued alumni support to the Annual Alumni Fund, 1977-78 should be one of the best years the fraternity has enjoyed in the past several years. Let's all pledge now to do our part!

"My major, communication studies, has enabled me to be actively involved by applying what I've learned in class to my student activities," he said. "For instance, I analyzed the organizational structure of Homecoming as it affected motivation. It's a challenge to see a problem or need and apply tools of organization to plan a program."

He has maintained a 3.77 grade point average in his major and a 3.64 cumulative average out of a possible 4.00. He is a member of a number of honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Parmi Nous.

In the May 1976 issue of Quill & Scroll we published a letter from a student praising the brotherhood of Zeta chapter. The student, Donald P. Mains, regretted that he hadn't been able to get acquainted with the chapter earlier (he was in the last segment of his junior year). As it turned out, he did pledge KDR as a senior, became a brother and now receives this honor.

NU

Mark Allen Jones was named Nu chapter's outstanding senior for '76-'77. He will graduate with a B.S. from the School of Public and Environmental Affairs, concentrating on Criminal Justice. Academically he carries well over a 3.0 average and has made Dean's List twice. Mark was president of the pledge class, and president of the chapter from Jan. '75/Jan. '76. He has served as a member of the I.U. Student Foundation and the Student Election Agency. He is a National KDR Director. Future plans include Law School at St. Mary's University, San Antonio, TX.

XI

Len Saulter deserves the distinction for this year's Outstanding Senior from Xi Chapter. He has led an active life during his four years at Colby and has excelled in several areas.

Upon entering Colby, Len continued his athletic career by playing on the varsity football, track, and rugby teams. Brother Saulter was one of this year's tri-captains for the football team. He was elected to the All New England team, chosen as one of the All ECAC Players of the Week, and was the recipient of the Golden Helmet Award as Defensive Player of the week for the Boston Sportswriters Association.

While an exchange student at Pomona College, Len won first place in the hammer throw for the Southern California ICAC. He is currently playing on Colby's rugby club.

He has served as Rush Chairman and remains an energetic force in the planning of house activities.

Len is an American Studies major from Waterville, Maine. He is planning to attend chiropractic school in the fall.

PSI

Scot A. McAllister was named Psi Chapter's Outstanding Senior for the 1977 year. Scot, from Cinnaminson, N. J., was an Accounting major with a 3.33 G.P.A. During the 1975 school term, Scot served as the chapter's centurian and then was elected consul for the 1976 year. He played varsity football for Lycoming College during his freshman year and then participated in fraternity intramurals for his three remaining years. Scot has obtained a job as a staff auditor for Price Waterhouse and Co. in Baltimore, Maryland, and will begin work in July.

ALPHA ALPHA

George Way, Alpha Alpha's Outstanding Senior, is from Williamsport, Pa. He majored in Health, Physical Education and Recreation. George will be missed immensely when he graduates. He has held several offices including Junior Tribune and Pontifex. This past season he co-captained the wrestling team. George's plans for the future include marriage and, hopefully, a teaching job somewhere in an area where wrestling holds high prestige. Through the leadership qualities George has demonstrated to this brotherhood, there is no doubt in our minds that he will some day become a tremendous educator.

THETA

Theta Chapter's Outstanding Senior this year is Terry Tousey from Wilton, Connecticut. Terry, a senior in Chemistry, will be graduating in December with a B average. He plans to enter the University of Connecticut school of dentistry upon graduation. Terry has served us well during his years at the house. He has held two terms as quaestor, and terms as house manager, junior tribune, athletic chairman, little sister chairman, and social chairman.

SIGMA

Dave Holman is Sigma's choice for outstanding senior of '77. Dave has been very active in his years at the house and has served in many important offices. These include Consul twice, Senior tribune, Junior tribune, House manager, five times, and Assistant Quaester. Dave has also been active on campus in several clubs, of which the University Choir, and the OSU chapter of the Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association are just a couple.

Dave is graduating spring term '77 with a B.S. degree in Psychology and a minor in Personnel Management. With a degree like this, Dave hopes to someday get a job in the personnel department of a large corporation. His interests include golf, bowling, baseball, and racketball.

Zeta First Among 70 at Penn State

DURING THE MID 1970's the nation has been witness to a revival in the college fraternity and sorority system. Membership has steadily increased from the low point during the late 60's and early 70's and now the Greek system is characterized by people wanting to make the years in college the most memorable and rewarding. Penn State is no exception.

The Greek system at PSU is comprised of 20 sororities and 50 fraternities. Together they sponsor most activities and fund-raising events. Homecoming, the Dance Marathon and Spring Week are only a few of the programs that both independents and Greeks look forward to each year. This past year through concerted efforts by many people, over $70,000 was raised for local and national charities by members of PSU sororities and fraternities. Cooperation perpetuates the system, but competition adds zest and pride in being able to wear the two or three Greek letters.

Kappa Delta Rho has the honor, this year, of being number one of this impressive group. This ranking was not reached arbitrarily by some overzealous KDR's. Instead, at the final meeting of the Interfraternity Council, Jay Nyce, Consul, as representative of the chapter, was presented with a trophy and check for $200.00 for winning the Omega Epsilon award. This annual award is given jointly by the Interfraternity Council and the Pennsylvania Lambda Educational Foundation to the one fraternity achieving overall excellence. The criteria of the award include the areas of scholarship, chapter activities, and demonstrations of leadership by individual members.

Early during the fall quarter, Zeta chapter of Kappa Delta Rho began its climb toward the top quite unassumingly. During Homecoming, Zeta working with Pi Beta Phi sorority placed sixth in overall competitions. Soon after, though, we made our first stand at the top by capturing the much coveted intramural football championship. Considered underdogs through much of the season, Kappa Delta Rho's football title made it evident that our chapter and her members were to be strong contenders throughout the year. More importantly, though, it was a demonstration or maybe even a prediction for all of the brotherhood of potential achievements never reached but often imagined.

During Halloween the entire chapter, little sisters included, helped plan a party for children of the graduate students at Penn State. At times it was difficult to tell who was enjoying themselves more — the little kids or all of us big kids.

When traditions are mentioned at Kappa Delta Rho the annual Dance Marathon has to be considered as much of a tradition as anything else. Since the second Dance Marathon, our chapter working with Delta Delta Delta sorority has won every marathon. This winter marked the fifth annual event and since Kappa Delta Rho has won three out of the previous four, many groups were determined to defeat us. Last year we won by collecting $3500 out of a total of $18,000, and consequently, all knew that the winning group would have to collect a sizeable amount. With strong determination and strict organizational structure, we handily defeated all comers and collected over $5900 of the total of $28,500 in this the most competitive activity sponsored by the Intrafraternity Council.

Also during Winter term our athletic prowess was again made evident as we passed phase after phase in basketball and wrestling competition. After winning the section, the Zeta B-Ball team met and defeated tough teams from Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Phi Alpha fraternities. The dream of capturing another intramural championship was broken when we were defeated by Phi Delta Theta in the finals. In wrestling, three brothers from the house experienced considerable success as one became fraternity champion and the two others ended the season as runners-up in their respective weight classes.

In the spring quarter we discovered that we improved scholastically from 10th to 7th out of a field of 50 fraternities. Our standing in intramurals was now an impressive fourth, and late during spring we furthered ourselves by becoming runners-up in the soccer playoffs.

Another reason for being awarded the Omega Epsilon award was due to the involvement of the brothers and pledges of Kappa Delta Rho in university activities. In total, the brotherhood is involved in over 90 activities. Included in that number are members of 15 honor societies based on scholarship, leadership, and service to school. Some of these are nationally known honor societies such as Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, and Omicron Delta Kappa. In addition to the recognition of some brothers in the above mentioned societies, we are also proud that many members of Zeta Chapter hold key positions throughout the campus. A few of these are: vice president of College of Engineering Student Council; varsity members of fencing, gymnastics, and lacrosse teams; chairmen of Homecoming and Dance Marathon committees; student representative to University Faculty Senate; vice president of Intrefraternity Council; member of national champion cheerleading squad; Undergraduate Student Government senator; and President of the Penn State chapter of the Association of Industrial Engineers.

Because of all of our recent achievements it could be very easy to sit back and relive each victory. But, the brotherhood realizes that although we have progressed greatly this past year, we still have much to improve in the coming years. Each new year enables present members to reassess past performances in order to insure future successes. Accomplishments this year are due not only to the efforts of present members, but also to the hard work of former active brothers. The culmination of all forces both past and present were evident this year. Next year we cannot promise a repeat performance, but can assure that we will strive to do our best for both ourselves and our fraternity.

We hope that our brothers at other chapters have been able to have an equally productive year. Best of luck to you all in the future in all that you try.

Rho Chapter

Things seem to be going reasonably well here at Rho Chapter. To begin with, we have seventeen new pledges this semester and their association with the fraternity appears as if it will be an exceptionally interesting one. A good pledge class is always a positive sign.

As far as intramural sports are concerned, the year has been one of improvement and reasonably good success. Although we have not captured any all-college championships in any particular sport, our football and basketball teams advanced to the playoffs. In addition, we fielded quite good intramural swimming, softball, and track teams.

Our social activities this year have been pretty much the traditional things: the band parties and pub nights. Worth mentioning, however, is our IF weekend, which we revised somewhat this year. This spring weekend took place beginning on May 6th and concluding on the 8th. Highlights included a private party Friday night, a barbecue and band party on Saturday, and a pledge-brother softball game and cookout on Sunday. The brotherhood is looking forward to next year to our celebration with our alumni of the Chapter's 50th anniversary on the Lafayette College campus.

During the Christmas season, the Chapter, along with a number of other fraternities on campus, spent the evening with children from Easton Project Head-Start. The children came to the campus for dinner and received a few Christmas gifts from the brothers. What was supposedly a community service turned out to be more enjoyable for the brotherhood than for the kids.

In addition, Chip Maselli, a junior and a Chapter brother, was recently elected President of the Lafayette College student government, and is reportedly doing quite a good job.

Psi Chapter

Psi Chapter is proud to announce that during the fall semester, six new members were initiated and an additional twenty-one were then initiated this spring. Psi gained a second place finish in the overall intra-fraternity sports competition. The chapter was active in community affairs. A Christmas party was held for the underprivileged children in the area in the KDR lounge. Psi donated a large number of books from its library to help start a library in the community. The brothers also assisted a local fire company in an eyeglass drive. Psi was active in campus activities. One brother, Phil Bellino, won the Ugly Man on Campus Award which raised money for a prominent health organization. Individual awards within the chapter were given to Scot McAllister for being voted Outstanding Senior, Jeff Coates as Outstanding pledge for the fall semester, and Rich Fremgen as Outstanding pledge for the spring semester. Also, Sam Griest was given the Papoose Award which is presented to the pledge with the highest GPA.

Omega Chapter

Omega chapter, Indiana University of Pennsylvania has had an active semester of spring events. The annual Cribari Bowl basketball classic and wipe-out provided the brothers with an opportunity to strengthen the fraternity in many ways. Extensive improvements were made to the Fraternity House including upgrading the electrical system, painting and the purchase of new furniture. The climax of the semester was the formal on the Gateway Clipper in Pittsburgh after the very successful $22,000 drive in the fall for Children's Hospital in our annual Walk to Pittsburgh. Although the riverboat cruise was cold, the brothers and many alumni attending had an enjoyable evening of dining and dancing. The Omega Chapter is looking forward to Fall of '77 as a period of continued growth and betterment.

President Carter recently commended Omega chapter of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity, for raising more than $22,000 during its 14th annual Walk to Pittsburgh for Children's Hospital. (right)

Dr. John E. Frank, former Interfraternity Council advisor at IUP, received a letter from Valerio L. Giannini, a Carter staff assistant, after sending newspaper

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

February 14, 1977

Dear Dr. Frank:

President Carter is pleased to extend warm greetings to all the members of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity who participated in the 14th annual Walk to Pittsburgh for the benefit of Children's Hospital.

In his Inaugural address, the President stated that, bound by a new spirit and a new commitment, we can build a better America and more peaceful world. He believes that the undertaking of worthy projects such as theirs represents the kind of generosity which helps to strengthen our country. The participants and supporters of their humanitarian endeavor have President Carter's appreciation, and his best wishes for the future.

Sincerely,

Valerio L. Giannini

reports of the walk to the President.

The fraternity has raised more than $116,000 for the hospital during the last 14 years, according to Bob Scott, chairman for the 1976 walk.

"I am impressed with the hard work that (the) fraternity has put forth over the years, and I trust that this letter of commendation will inspire the brothers to continue their participation in similar projects in the future," Frank said.

Nu Chapter

Nu chapter has made many gains during the past year, from moving to a new location on campus to having two members accepted for law school in fall 1977.

Homecoming turnout was the best the chapter has seen for some time, and to top it off, the varsity football team won 7-0 over Northwestern. Among other athletic achievements, Romel Evans and Jeff Walker paced Nu's wrestling team to a division title. Doug Peacock was named outstanding offensive lineman this spring for the annual cream and crimson game. The chapter's Little 500 Bike, Mini and Canoe teams also did well. The Bike team rode 191 laps out of 200 and finished 27th while starting 32nd in the Little 5 Bike Race. The co-sponsored Forest 10-B Trike Team qualified 14 out of 63 teams for the Mini, but were defeated in the quarter finals. The girl's Canoe Team qualified 32nd out of 54 during regatta.

Nu's annual Cancer Drive netted over $1,600 in less than 4 hours work in October.

The chapter had an average year, pledging 18 men, but by fall they hope to gain more.

The Alumni Board has founded a Nu chapter Foundation to aid in house scholarship and material needs. At the annual spring banquet Mark Jones was named outstanding scholar, and Jeff Walker received the outstanding athlete award. He was one of the nominees for Cream Division athlete of the year. At the Senior Board Award Banquet Mark Jones, Mike Maloney, Tom Gorman, Steve Alter, Lee Hanson and Dave Fritch were honored.

Xi Chapter

This year has been an active one for Xi Chapter, both for the brothers individually and for the house. KDR inter-fraternity teams have fared quite well in each season. Our hockey and football teams placed third and the ski team came in second in the inter-fraternity league. Presently our three softball teams are undefeated.

We began last semester with a faculty cocktail party. For the past two years, KDR has kicked off the Winter Carnival at Colby with an all-campus Casino night featuring live entertainment. At the close of last semester, Xi Chapter and a Colby sorority hosted a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Amidst the flurry of activity, brothers found time to study for the fraternity placed second in the inter-fraternity cumulative ranking.

We have a large pledge class this year and are using the additional manpower to carry house improvements. This year's spring cleanup project is expanding the existing sundeck on the roof of the house.

Several of the brothers are using their talents to go into business for themselves. R. P. Higgins and Sandy Pardee have formed a rock group. The band is being well received on campus and in the community. Another group has formed a leathercrafting business in which the brothers design and make leather belts, sandals, wallets, and pocketbooks.

Quite a few KDR's entered recent school elections and several are now holding office. These include: Tom Staples-Treasurer of the Senior Class, Bruce Henderson-President of the Junior Class, and Don Hoefle-Student Representative to the Board of Trustees.

Athletic efforts have not been limited to the inter-fraternity league. We had ten brothers (Terry Fjeldheim, Don Furcillo, Joe Kerwin, Alex Price, Dan Salimone, Don Bowman, Dan O'Halloran, Jerry Pardilla, and Rod Marshall) playing on the varsity football team, with Len Saulter as one of Colby's tri-captains.

Several brothers played for Colby's soccer team and a large number of the pledge class played on the junior varsity team. Four brothers have been on the track team since the winter and there is a good possibility that two members of the house will be eligible for national competition. Several brothers (Tom Eymann, Pete Bishop, and Dan O'Halloran) played hockey for Colby this winter. Jack McBride skied for the Colby ski team and Buck Buchanan is currently playing baseball for Colby. A sizable portion of Colby's rugby club is made up of KDR players including Rod Marshall, Bill Muller, R. P. Higgins, Howie Ingrham, Ron DesBois, Paul Todd, Len Saulter, Charlie Jacobs, and Ross Moldoff. It has been an enjoyable and lively year.

Alpha Alpha Chapter

Wrestling, being the predominant sport at L.H.S.C., carries great prestige in the community as well as the nation. Chapter representation has zoomed this year to nine (9) members. The majority are junior varsity members awaiting their opportunity to become varsity starters. One of these members, John Unangst, participated in the National A.A.U. Freestyle Tournament along with alumni Gary Walk. Both wrestlers won their first two matches before being eliminated from the tournament. The other members are sophomores Craig Kelskey, Paul Rohler, Jerry Peterman, Dan Way, pledge Nick Belle, and freshmen Tom Jackson and Tom Peterman.

Last but surely not least is senior George Way. Some of George's more outstanding feats are two time Conference champ at 158 lbs., 1975 Eastern Regional Champ, and three time National Qualifier. George closed his career this past winter with a 56-10-2 dual meet record for four years. His 93-33-3 career record places him on the all time list, second only to four time NCAA champ Gray Simons.

Another note of interest would have to be the accomplishments of sophomore high jumper Stan Burke. In his freshman year, Stan placed second in the Division III NCAA Championships with a leap of 6'8", and gained him All-American Honors. Already this year, Stan has cleared 6'10 1/2" in a dual meet with Slippery Rock State College, which qualifies him for the Nationals again. Stan's biggest goal this year is to clear 7'1" and qualify him for Division I Championship and give him the opportunity to jump against his idol Dwight Stones. By the time Stan graduates from L.H.S.C., he will be considered the premier Track and Field man to ever walk on this campus.

Theta Chapter

The brothers from Theta chapter at Purdue University would like to extend greetings to our brothers across the country and elsewhere. Our house will be open this summer so if any of you are traveling and would like to see our "Castle on the Hill", come on by. Tours are free.

We would like to recognize our new initiates and pledges. Newly initiated are Scott Schulze, Mike Strietelmeier, Rich Ziemba, Dean Franke, Ray Mosher, Paul Scheele, Howard Berger, Dave Jobb, Greg Carl, Mike Cora, Eric Schulze, Doug Nering, and Greg Evans. Our new pledges are Brian Miller, Randy Long, Al Peterson, "Panama" McGrath, and Steve Boehm.

We have made several house improvements recently, including remodeling our ladies lounge and getting new furniture for our tube-room. We are also sporting new carpeting in most of our hallways. Our little sisters just remodeled our telephone booths. The booth on the second floor gets a lot more use now that a picture of Farrah Fawcett is in there.

Speaking of our little sisters, we would like to say just how proud we are of them. They are the best group we have had in a long time and would like to thank them for the real contributions they have made to this house.

This spring we bought a new go-kart for the Purdue Grand Prix, "The Greatest Spectacle in College Racing." Our investment was a little late to pay off in this year's race but we expect a winning entry next year.

We have all enjoyed the two formals we had this year, one near the end of each semester. But just to prove that we don't have to dress up to have a good time, there have also been plenty of good old-fashioned keggers. Studies never suffered, though, for academically we placed sixth among the 45 fraternities at Purdue.

Our house's contribution to improving the world around us was our first annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. It was a success on all fronts for we KDR's had as much fun with the little kids as they did with us.

Although we never captured first in any athletics, we came in second in the Purdue Phi Kappa Theta Invitational Basketball Tourney and third in the all-fraternity basketball league. We also made it to the playoffs in softball both semesters and the playoffs in volleyball.

Last of all, we would like to offer an emphatic thank you to our alumni who have supported us and our activities so well this past year. We look forward to seeing all of you at home-coming in the fall!

Eta Chapter

Eta has been active in many areas this semester. Studies, social, athletics, and house improvements have occupied most of the brothers' time.

After initiating 10 men last semester, this semester we have two pledges, Bill Padjen and Rick Overton. They went on walkout to Epsilon Alpha, the first Eta pledge class to do so. They also put on a fine pledge dance with the theme of the traditional Rose Dance.

We were fortunate to be visited by the pledges from Nu. The pledge class from Gamma Alpha stopped by on their way to Theta.

Plans are in the making for a get-together of the Midwest chapters. Arrangements aren't finalized yet, but we are looking forward to making it a regular event.

On campus, our intramural teams have done very well. So far all 'A' division teams in football, basketball, Co-rec volleyball, and water polo made playoffs. Our best showing was a second place finish in football, losing 6-0 in the finals. This marked the fifth year in a row we've been in the finals of our division in football.

Three brothers, Joe Lezark, Brian Noel, and Dan Barbour, danced in the National Dance Marathon held at the University of Illinois on March 25-27. The money raised from the Marathon went to help retarded children. Last year $74,000 was raised and the total this year easily passed last year's.

Under the direction of the custodian, Steve Lawrence, many improvements in the house have been made. Curtains and a new front door, both provided by the alums, have been put up. New paneling for the basement hallway and new library carpet have been installed. Many thanks and much appreciation is due the Eta alumni for their support.

Personalities II

David P. Royer

Alpha Alpha '76 was signed July 11, 1976 by the Atlanta Braves as a pitcher. He was assigned to the Bradenton Braves (Florida) in the Gulf Coast League. During his stay there his record was 0-2. Dave's main problem was inexperience and control, but he has a good fastball.

During 1977 he attended spring training in West Palm Beach. His control improved and he was assigned to the Greenwood (S.C.) Braves in the Western Carolina League, where he is now playing.

Dave had been an outfielder almost all of his playing career, having played varsity baseball and football in Red Lion (PA) High School. He played American Legion baseball, where his team came in 2nd in the state, and where he was named All-State outfielder in 1973. While at Lock Haven State he hit over .300 for four years and made All-Conference two years. Brad Kohler, a scout for the Major League Scouting Bureau recommended him to the Braves after Brother Royer attended one of his camps at Temple University.

It may take a few years for Dave to refine his raw talent, but he feels hopeful that someday he will be playing for Atlanta. Dave is 6'2", weighs 195 and is 22.
