OF KAPPA DELTA RHO

FEBRUARY 1978
AN EDUCATIONAL JOURNAL
VOLUME LXXXIV, NO. 1

THE Sixty-Seventh National Leadership School and Convention of Kappa Delta Rho will be held August 17th through 19th. Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., will be the convention site.

The Lafayette campus, high on the hill overlooking Easton and the (Delaware river), will provide us with the facilities needed for a successful convention. Rho Chapter, which is celebrating its 50th year as a Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho, will be the host chapter and their chapter house will be the location of the social gatherings. The business meetings will be held in college facilities.

Although all plans are not firm at this time, we feel we will have an outstanding Leadership School. Thursday, August 17th, will be devoted to registration, campus tours and the delegates getting acquainted. Friday will be the Leadership School and Saturday will be the Convention. The Closing Banquet will be Saturday evening. Undergraduate and alumni brothers are encouraged to attend. Registration fee is only $35.00, which includes room and board for the entire time. You will find a registration form on the inside back cover. Please complete and return as soon as possible, if you plan to attend.

Lafayette's Pardee Hall which dates from 1873 is the center for the humanities, mathematics and social sciences. The spire of Colton chapel is in the background.

OFFICIAL REGULATIONS

- A. Chapters and colonies send Sweetheart photographs to either the National office or the Editor. Two glossy black and white photos—one in formal attire; one casual, should accompany a summary of the girl's accomplishments.
- B. The Sweetheart of a chapter should be single when installed.
- C. Photographs will be printed provided five or more chapters submit copy.
- D. A coupon providing voting space for each

- chapter will be printed in the February issue. Each chapter will receive four votes. There can be no more than two votes for any one candidate—All four votes must be used. The Editor is given 3 votes, as a tie-breaking device.
- E. The coupon ballots should be sent directly to the Editor for tabulation. There is a deadline of 30 days after mailing of the February issue. So when you get your copy of this issue, call a meeting and send in your vote promptly. A chapter officer must sign the ballot.

The National Sweetheart selections for 1978 are shown above. Last year we asked for comments on ways of bettering this annual contest, but received very few. We also asked chapters to indicate whether they would like the contest to continue. In all cases the answer was "yes". We are again including these questions in coverage of this year's contest, in the hope that a more satisfactory way of presenting each candidate may be possible. Small photos without indication of further data are not the best way of making a selection.

Please include a vote on your ballot on the desirability of continuing this event. And should you wish to make further suggestions on how to handle the selection, please use an extra sheet of paper expressing your opinions. There are certain problems (see editorial above) which are difficult to solve, but which might improve both the method of choice and participation by each chapter.

Can You Improve this Annual Contest?

As noted on the facing page, small photographs are not the ideal way to present candidates. Choices are then made for beauty alone — or against beauty (if your chapter has a potential winner). Yet, we usually receive such sparse data on a candidate that it is necessary to hold the information to provide a paragraph about the winner. Any ideas?

Another flaw is that chapters select candidates at different times of the year — some after the contest has ended. Suggestions please!

Gerald R. Cugini

believes in Boston.

He admires cities in general but, since Boston is where he lives and works, he wants to do both of these things in an aesthetically pleasing environment. For that reason, he has applied much of his confidence in the urban future to the formerly threatened areas of that major New England city.

Principal architect in the firm of Gerard R. Cugini Associates, Mr. Cugini's designs first drew national attention when he foresaw great things for the mostly dilapidated waterfront of Boston, covered with decaying warehouses. The New York Times Magazine and the Boston Globe devoted pages to his reclaimed waterfront triplex. By raising the roofline of an 1888 warehouse, he gained a two-story high window-wall view of the harbor. Through a highly original series of bridges and platforms built off a central service core, he was able to provide open living space, lit by natural light, with unique design.

"The apartment itself was conceived as a large sculpture ordered and dimensioned to move within the existing volume and to gain 'room' definition by control of ceiling height and floor level changes," he says.

The particular solution that was featured in the New York Times won the Interior of the Year Award for Mr. Cugini. The prize was a dream trip for him and his wife, Lois, through the Orient for 40 days.

The firms of Gerard R. Cugini Associates and Eduardo Catalano Associates are involved in the design of "La Galleria" at Sargent's Wharf. "La Galleria," a multi-use urban complex, will be located on the Boston waterfront adjacent to the North End. "The project integrates into a single spatial event, all programmed activities such as cultural affairs, theater, shops, apartments and community facilities." The main focus of the complex is the "Galleria," a glass enclosed, three-tiered area for shopping, sidewalk cafes, exhibitions and concerts.

Currently, construction will soon begin on the Playboy Club of Dallas.

In addition, Mr. Cugini's firm, along with developers, has submitted a proposal to the Boston Redevelopment Authority for the construction of a parking facility adjacent to the historic Faneuil Hall and Quincy Markets. One unique feature of design for this parking garage is the location of a 2800 seat theatre with integral gardens and terraces on the roof level of the structure.

Over the past ten years, Mr. Cugini's firm has been involved in a multitude of projects of varying scope and size. The firm has designed large scale apartment complexes, condominiums, educational facilities, office buildings and residences.

Recently, the Boston Globe featured another Cugini restoration, this time away from the North End-Waterfront area. The new residence, one the Cuginis found more accommodating for a family with two small children, is the reincarnation of a dilapidated 19th century storage shed and factory in the Bay Village section of Boston.

"Keeping up with Lois and Gerard Cugini can be a provocative pastime," noted the author of the Globe article.

Zeta '51 is now an engineering manager with the Systems Services Co. of the Planning Research Company located at NASA headquarters building in the Kennedy Space Center.

Thomas J. Aylward

Theta '63 has been promoted to vice president-manufacturing and international operations at Master Builders (Cleveland), Division of Martin Marietta Corporation. In his new position, he will head up worldwide manufacturing, quality control, and purchasing functions. Prior to his promotion, Mr. Aylward served as director of international operations.

Brother Aylward earned his master's degree in engineering at Purdue in 1965. He received a master's degree in management from M.I.T., Cambridge, Massachusetts (1974). Mr. Aylward is a member of the National and Ohio Societies of Professional Engineers and Cleveland Engineering Society.

Richard Brunoehler

Nu '50 is swimming coach at Perry Meridian High School, Indianapolis, and recently received the "Outstanding Service Award 1976" from the Indiana High School Swimming Coach Association. He was president of that organization in 1969 and 1970, and he was Indiana Swim Coach of the Year, 1972.

William P. Butz

Nu '65 is the co-author of a Rand Corporation report on the long decline in the nation's birth rate since 1957. The report is to be published under a three-year grant from the National Institutes of Health for a study of economic and demographic factors in postwar U.S. fertility trends.

Brother Butz is a past National Director.

Howard T. Chang

Beta '76 is studying neuroanatomy at Wayne State University in Detroit. He is transferring to Michigan State Univ. pursuing the same subject in a Ph.D. program next year, but meanwhile he is taking classes and also teaching gross anatomy to physical therapy and medical students at Wayne.

Tom Fairbank

Beta '69, is working as a Dairy Specialist for Agway. He received an award for the largest increase in sales for the second time. He covers over 5 million dollars worth of sales area in Western N.Y.

Ronald James Florjancic

Nu '72 has been promoted to superintendent of Consolidation Coal Co.'s Montour No. 10 Mine at Library, Pa. He has been administrative assistant to the vice president of Consol's Washington Operations. Florjancic is a resident of Bethel Park, PA.

William R. Fuchs

Zeta '41 is an engineer and pilot for Piper Aircraft Corp.

Ralph K. Gottshall

Rho '27, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Lafayette since 1964, resigned that office last June but will continue as a member of the board.

Brother Gottshall graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree from Lafayette in 1927. He then served the Alumni Association in various capacities, eventually becoming president of the Alumni Association. In October 1953, he was elected a life member of the Lafayette College Board of Trustees, a position he has held for almost a quarter of a century.

In the same year, 1953, Gottshall, who had begun his business career with Atlas Powder Company as a chemist immediately after graduation, was named president of his company. He remained president of the firm, which later became Atlas Chemical Company — and after 1958 both president and chairman of the board — until his retirement in 1971. Today the company produces chemicals, pharmaceuticals and aerospace components and is a part of ICI America, of which Gottshall is a director.

Lafayette College awarded Gottshall the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in 1958.

Gottshall's activities as board member, director or board president include service for a variety of companies and organizations including the Allegheny Corporation; Alan Wood Steel Company; Diamond State Telephone Company; the News Journal Courier;

Manufacturers' Hanover Trust; the Nutrition Foundation; the Wilmington Delaware Medical Center, of which he is vice-chairman of the board of directors; several banks; and the Manufacturing Chemists Association, of which he is past chairman and a director.

In February of last year Gottshall received the Wilmington, Del., News Journal Award for Distinguished Citizenship and outstanding contribution to the quality of life in Delaware. He was cited for "untiring leadership in expanding and improving Delaware's health services."

Herbert G. Kane

Psi '60 Chartered Life Underwriter, a veteran of nearly 17 years in life insurance sales and field management has been named head of the Tampa Bay general agency in Florida for National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont.

Beta '71 is presently sharing a teaching position in Marine Science at Stockton State College; Pomona, N.J. with his wife Martha, '71. They love being near the shore and teaching research projects on saltmarsh ecology and colonial seabirds. They are very active in environmental affairs.

Bill Rau

Beta '72 has taken a job in the Midwest while preparing for his Master's Thesis defense at the Univ. of Connecticut in Pathobiology. On October 1, he starts working as a production scientist for Salsbury Veterinary Pharmaceuticals in Charles City, Iowa.

Charles Shearer

Alpha '74 was recently appointed to a research position in M.I.T.'s department of earth and planetary sciences.

Bob Thomas

Beta '57 established a small animal vet practice in Carmel, N.Y. In 1973 built a new animal hospital which is associated with centralized vet hospital in Mt. Kisco, N.Y. He is a member of Rotary Club and enjoys cross-country skiing for the past 10 years.

He has two sons, one in college and one working.

Gerald Toland, Jr.

Zeta '77 is in his first year at Michigan State University working toward an M.S. in resource economics.

William H. Topper

Zeta '67 this summer left his home of three years: Hawaii. Bill, his wife Betsy and their three sons now live at Amherst, NY. Bill is an assistant professor of pediatrics in neonatology at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

Clessner N. Turner

Beta '31 was awarded the 1977 George W. Kable Electrification Award presented by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers during the Society's Summer Meeting in June, at North Carolina State University, Raleigh.

Bill Welker

Beta '73 is singing with the Chicago Symphony Chorus, and will be conducted by such conductors as Solti, Giulini, Barenboim, and Leinsdorf this year. One of his concerts will be performed in Carnegie Hall in New York City.

Don F. Yenke

Zeta '51, president of Yenke Enterprises, this past summer took third place racing at Tulsa, OK and took on a Fiat automobile franchise at Canonsburg, to add to his list of others (Chevrolet, Honda, Porsche, Audi, Subaru, and Saab). His wife Patti sings vocals with a local dance band in which he plays piano.

KDR Rescues KDR

IT WAS AN unseasonably warm 40°F. (4°C.) for January in Anchorage, Alaska. Shortly after 2:00 p.m., Fire Apparatus Engineer Steve Berger was working behind fire station 7 when a large airplane, flying very erratically, its engines screaming unnaturally, burst through a fog bank, roared past a nearby apartment house, and disappeared into the houses less than a block away.

Berger ran into the station to report the crash, but Captain Bob Parks, himself a pilot, had heard the plane and already had started his crew for its engine. As the engine rolled out of the station, Parks reported the crash to the Anchorage dispatcher. The engine rounded the corner, to face a scene of destruction.

The aircraft was a Chase YC122, a World War II glider converted to a powered freight hauler. The plane, roughly of the DC-3 size, is thought to be one of the last of its vintage that was still flying. It was owned by the Avi-Truck Leasing Company, and was under charter to the Bureau of Indian Affairs to deliver a load of school furniture to a bush village near Nome.

As the aircraft lost altitude, its tail had struck the roof of a small A-frame house. The plane then pancaked into the middle of Elderberry Street and slid into another house, demolishing it. The nose of the plane passed entirely through the house, coming to rest in the back yard, covered by the remains of the home. Pieces of the aircraft and the destroyed house were scattered over a block-long area.

Disregarding the spilled gasoline around the crash scene, fire fighters began immediate rescue efforts. They found the pilot and copilot trapped in the wreckage of the cockpit, both still alive, and an obviously dead third man behind the cockpit.

The rescue team including Sigma pledge Dan Larkey of Anchorage, divided into two parties. One began working from above to enter the cockpit from the top right side; the second worked directly into the nose of the aircraft.

The pilot was so totally confined that the only part visible was his left hand, which protruded through the windshield opening. Paramedics managed to start administering intravenous fluid into this hand. Subsequent medical opinion held that this IV, which was maintained throughout the rescue, was responsible for keeping the pilot alive. His loss of blood had been considerable.

Using a hydraulic rescue tool, an air-powered cutting gun, a multitude of hand tools, a cable winch from the rescue truck, and a boom hoist from a nearby construction site, fire fighters began removing the front of the aircraft from the victims.

Once the outer skin and overhead framing were removed, rescuers determined that the copilot, who was less severely injured and less tightly confined, would be removed first.

It was necessary to cut away the control panel, the control wheel, the total front and lower framing, and ultimately the pedals, before 27-year-old Dell Dillon could be removed. Fire fighters extricated Dillon successfully from the debris approximately two hours after the crash.

After removing Dillon, fire fighters dismantled the rest of the cockpit to free the pilot, 30-year-old Dick Clawson Sigma 69'. It required roughly another hour of extremely difficult work to extricate Clawson.

As the rescue efforts were proceeding in the aircraft. Alaska state troopers were inquiring into the whereabouts of the occupants of the home. Several quick checks by neighbors located the family. The man and his wife were both at work, and their two-year-old son was at a babysitter's home. The only occupant of the house was the family's small poodle dog, which was killed in the incident.

Ironically, the houses on all sides of the demolished home were occupied. The demolished house was the only vacant house in the area.

No one was able to explain why there was no fire. Power was on in the house, and its natural gas line was ruptured. The plane was loaded with approximately 1200 gallons of aviation gasoline, which was saturating the wreckage.

Immediate ignition would have destroyed at least three homes, and would have been fatal to the two surviving crew members. Any ignition after the immediate crash would have had the same results, and in addition undoubtedly would have killed or injured a score of rescue workers.

Radio, television, and the press, along with many Sand Lake residents, had high praise for the fire fighters, paramedics, and state troopers who did their jobs in a calm, expeditious manner. Although they were working on a potential bomb, they demonstrated true professionalism.

Dan Larkey wasn't aware until well after the rescue that he had helped save a fraternity brother.

ALUMNI FUND contributions have been arriving at a steady pace since the announcement of the annual appeal. As this publication goes to press we are approaching $11,000, or approximately 68% of our projected goal for the year. To date, we have received contributions from 718 brothers or about 59% of the projected 1,200 contributors.

The alumni of Theta chapter continue to be leaders in both dollar amount and total contributors, with 87 brothers contributing a total of $1,385.00. Eta is second with $995.82 from 64 brothers. Nu chapter ranks third with 60 contributors totalling $938. Beta and Zeta are tied in amount of contributors (57) with Beta maintaining a slight edge in dollars: $890-$882.

There has been an appreciable rise in the average contribution from last year's record rate of $13.87 to $15.00 per donor.

Income derived from the annual Alumni Fund has become a vital and very important portion of the national budget, providing up to 25% of the monies used to provide services and assist our chapters in ways we could not normally accomplish. If you have not as yet sent in your contribution, please do so today.

Illinois:

The men of Eta chapter pledged nine men this year — six during the fall: Randy Paniello, Bob Behle, Bill Zorc, Guy Allen, Greg Bell and Bob Padjen. Three more were added for spring: Dan Tempas, John Hill and Mike Varnet. Allen is a member of the University wrestling team, and was 155 Class A champion last year from Delavan. Behle and Padjen are brothers of actives Don and Bill respectively.

This fall Eta was honored by national with a "Spring Fling" award for promoting brotherhood among midwest chapters because of our Minta celebration in April. For April we are again planning a spring fling to outdo last year's celebration.

The chapter has worked hard this semester on general work projects such as a new front door and a tower door. Plans are in the offing for new shutters thanks to our alumni association.

Brothers are involved in over twenty clubs and organizations on campus. Besides having a member on the wrestling team, Don Behle and Kenny List are members of the Gizz Kids wheelchair basketball team and Bob Padgen was a manager for the football team.

Eta welcomes our brothers to stop in and visit us at any time.

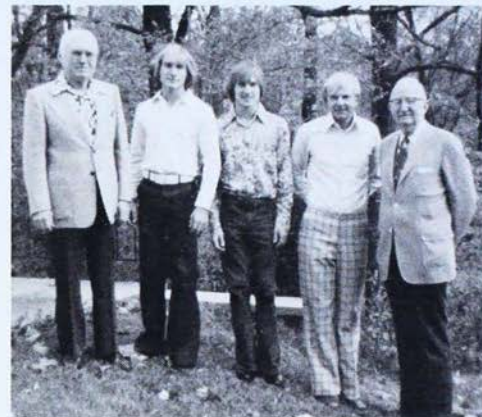

California:

Lambda currently is operating with 45 members. The house includes three varsity (and nationally ranked) tennis players; three varsity (and nationally ranked) swimmers; two JV baseball players and 1 member of the JV basketball team. Along with the athletes, there are many other brothers involved in the Berkeley Big Brother program, Cowell Hospital Advisory Committee and other Community Fund Raising activities in the Bay Area. It would appear that the house strength both in size and academics (B-average) is in very good shape.

Indiana (PA):

Omega surpassed their record $22,000 collection of last year by obtaining $25,600 in this year's effort. Rep. Paul Wall of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives presented the chapter with a legislative citation from the state for their outstanding effort. The 60 mile trek has been an annual program for Omega with proceeds benefiting Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. Last year it attracted national attention when President Carter sent the chapter a letter of recognition.

Western Conclave Successful

FRIDAY the 13th did not stop twenty-four brothers and pledges of Sigma Chapter from traveling seven hundred miles from Corvallis to Berkeley to attend the Western Conclave on Saturday, January 14th at Lambda Chapter. The first carload arrived about noon on Friday and then headed for San Francisco. The other three cars arrived late Friday and early Saturday morning. One of them had a minor fire enroute and another had carburetor trouble but all made it in time for the business meeting at 9:00 a.m. Saturday.

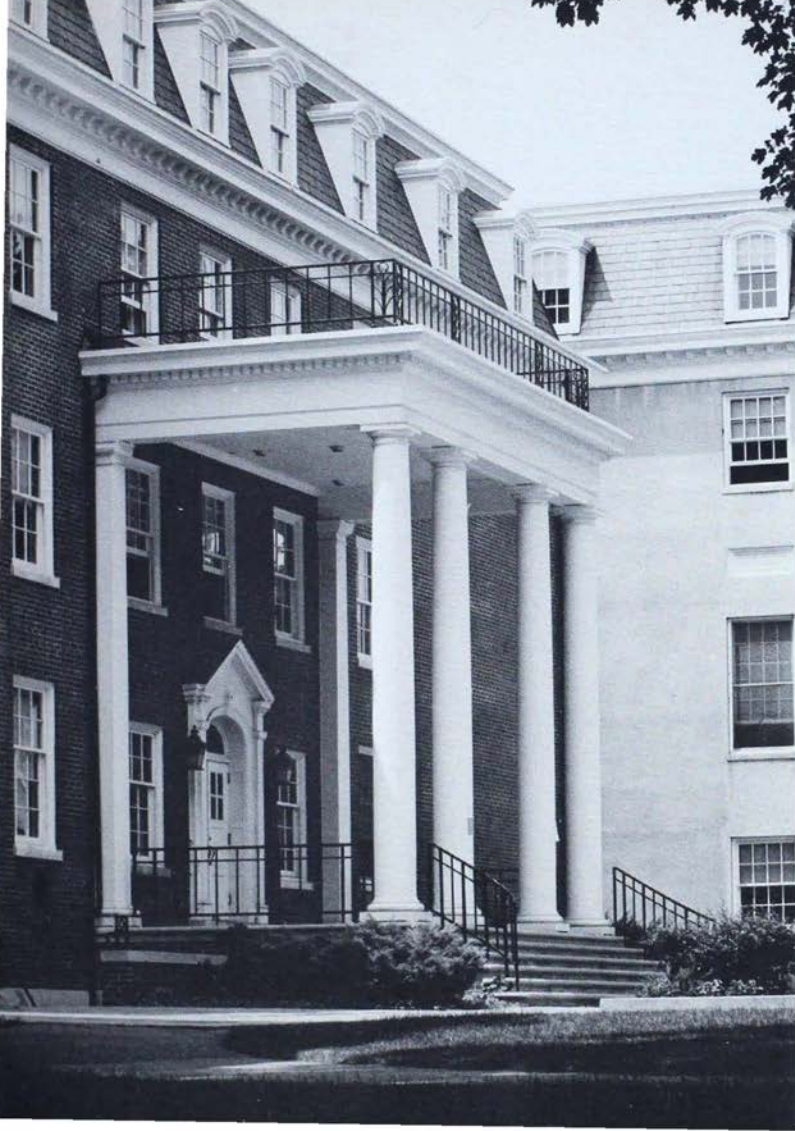

After lunch the Lambda brothers challenged the Sigma brothers to a game of touch football, but due to heavy rains the challenge was not accepted. A few watched the basketball game on television, others caught up on their sleep and a few hearty souls took the Bart to San Francisco.

After a spaghetti dinner, the brothers went down to Lambda's basement and enjoyed Coors in their colorful bar. If you haven't seen Lambda's bar, you haven't lived! It is worth the trip to Berkeley. By reading the signs you can get directions to almost anyplace on the West Coast. One sign even says that "Virginity is curable".

After much bending of the elbows, swapping tales (some of which were gross exaggerations, I am sure), the Sigma brothers crawled into their sleeping bags to get 40 winks before starting their 700 mile journey back to Corvallis Sunday.

The Lambda brothers remained at the bar for several hours, rehashing the events of the week-end before turning in at daybreak. The Sigma brothers planned to stop along the way home and watch the Super-Bowl game. Both Dallas and Denver had some very ardent supporters.
