

Mrs. Elmon M. Williams Endows Fraternity In Memory Of Her Husband and Our Brother

BROTHER WILLIAMS, EPSILON '27

A Prominent Attorney and Community Leader

It was in August of 1987, and immediately following major surgery, that Brother Elmon M. Williams escorted by his delightful wife, Lucile, traveled to Washington, D.C. to attend his fraternity's Annual National Leadership School and Convention. The reason for this long and tedious journey was that it would offer the opportunity for Brother Williams to be present when his fraternity, Kappa Delta Rho, would recognize him as one of its outstanding alumni.

Brother Williams, Epsilon '27, began his career upon leaving Franklin College and receiving a L.L.B. degree in 1930 from the Indiana Law School. The Indiana Law School was later to become the Indiana University. Although Elmon did not receive his law degree until 1930, he was admitted to practice law in the State of Illinois in 1927. During the years from 1927 to 1930 he served three different judges of the Indiana Court of Appeals as a clerk and assistant. In 1930, he not only was admitted to practice in all Indiana Courts including the Federal Courts, but it was also during this year that he entered into a new partnership with

Endows Scholarship & National Leadership School

On March 1, 1991 Executive Director Stohl announced that the fraternity was the recipient of a $50,000.00 endowment. The gift was made by Mrs. Lucile Williams, wife of Brother Elmon Williams, in his loving memory. The gift was given naturally to the foundation and upon the announcement, the retiring Board of Trustees humbly accepted this most generous remembrance.

Letter to the Editor.....

Dear Don:

I would like to add in addition to the article I sent you, that I am proud today of the fact that I was a member of Kappa Delta Rho while at Colby College. Several of my Xi Chapter brothers positively influenced my choice of career and my commitment to helping those less fortunate in life. In particular, I was fortunate to have as a fraternity father, perhaps one of the finest people I have ever met: James M. Hayes, Colby '76. Jim's ability to balance great success in athletics and a high level of academic proficiency with a consistently caring attitude towards all those around him was, and still is, an inspiration to many Colby graduates.

I find it unfortunate, that the current Colby administration has acted with what appears to me to be a sense of malicious vendetta in order to excuse every last vestige of the Colby fraternity and sorority system. The abolition of the system was particularly appalling in light of the fact that the student body had voted at the time the system was under review, to maintain a Greek system at the college. The abolition of Greek institutions by diktat at various United States institutions of higher learning; tuition increases completely unjustifiable in light of the contemporary cost of living

WILLIAM HOUGH III, Xi '78

Colby Graduate Assists Baltic States In Fight For Freedom.....

One of the key participants in the Baltic "revolution" and a "national hero" in Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia is Brother William Hough III, Xi '78. Having spent time in the Peace Corps following his graduation from Colby College, he became a 1985 graduate of the New York Law School. While at Colby, he studied European history with special interest in the cultures, languages, and history of Eastern Europe. It should be mentioned that during his undergraduate days, he also spent one entire summer working on a dairy farm in Finland.

As stated, his interests began at Colby, but it was largely through his scholarly work done in law school that he earned the credentials (even with the decidedly un-Baltic name of William Jarrett Halowell Hough III) to be considered "more Baltic than the rest of us" by some native co-workers and observers.

As a student of law, he honed his interest by becoming a specialist in international corporate law and decided to write his paper reflecting this area in Eastern Europe. It was Serge Levitsky, professor of international law at the law school, who suggested that he consider a "human rights" topic centered around the annexation of the Baltic States by the Soviet Union in 1940. Through Professor Levitsky, Brother Hough was introduced to the Estonian, Latvian, and Lithuanian consul generals in New York. Because the United States never recognized the annexation of the Baltic States, their embassies and consulates were the last vestiges of these free and democratic nations which had existed between 1920 and 1940.

The consulate could not have been more pleased that a young American law student had taken an interest in their cause, and they opened their archives for his use. As word of his project spread more and more, Baltic emigre groups came forward eager to help. When his article, "The Annexation of the Baltic States and its Effects on the Development of Law Prohibiting Forcible Seizure of Territory" was published, it not only became the international law bible for the Baltic

Dear KDR Brothers:

Hello...good ole United States!! It's great to be back safe and sound!! I'm sorry it has taken so long to get in touch with you after the war ended. And, I also must apologize for not sending a personal letter to all those people who were so caring and thoughtful, through their letters and care-packages. It would have taken the rest of this year to write everyone back. I hope I may speak for all the KDR's when I say we can't thank each of you enough for your thoughtfulness in writing while we were in Saudi Arabia. Receiving mail, of any kind, made our day and kept us going! THANKS so much for all of your support!!

As you may know, my Marine Corps Reserve unit was activated on December 2, 1990. We went to Camp Lejeune, NC for a month to train and prepare for the war in the Gulf. On January 2, 1991, my unit boarded a plane enroute for Saudi Arabia. The first week in Saudi Arabia was spent unloading our equipment and gear, as well as acclimating our bodies to the weather change. My reserve unit was attached to an Artillery Battalion out of San Diego, CA. The unit was then sent approximately three hours away from the Kuwait border. Due to my job as a forward observer, I was detached from my reserve unit and attached to the infantry (grunts). This unit that I was now calling home was also from San Diego, CA. From January 7, 1991 until February 24, 1991, I spent my days training with the grunts for a ground assault on Kuwait. Our mission was to clear mine fields, trenches and fortified positions in order for rear "parties" to continue moving across the border to set up closer positions. As it turned out, not only did we do this, but continued moving north sweeping the country. Before, during and even for awhile after the war we lived in holes in the ground, what we called "hooches". We had to dig each hole for ourselves, plus other trenches overtime we moved to a new position. Needless to say I was digging most of the time. We survived on MRE's, meals-ready-to-eat, the famous food that television coverage was describing to all of you here in the state. Boy was it good!!! And you may be wondering how we kept clean, well, we didn't. Actually, we got to take some form of a shower about every two weeks. Because of the food, all the digging and constant moving around, I managed to loose quite a few pounds, which I needed to do.

On February 24, 1991 the ground war began. My unit moved into Kuwait clearing the trenches and mine fields. At first we did not encounter the enemy like they had expected. But as we continued, very rapidly, north we began to encounter the enemy. I was a part of about ten fire-fights, all of which we successfully defeated the enemy. My company took over 200 EPW's, enemy prisoner of war. The infantry battalion I was in took over 2,000 EPW's. My company was the first to reach the final objective at the time, which was Kuwait International Airport. This was also as far north as we went, due to the cease fire, which ended the war. We stayed at the airport about a week after the cease fire then headed back to Saudi Arabia. There we waited another month and a half to come home.

When returning home, I received a "Welcome Home" that I will never forget!! We had heard about all the yellow ribbons and all the American flags, but until we actually saw them ourselves, we did not understand the magnitude of patriotism this country was displaying. It made me feel so good that I was serving our country!! I know all of us appreciate all of your patriotism and support!!

Once again in behalf of all the KDR's I thank you all for your letters and care-packages that you sent to us while we were in the Persian Gulf. I can't explain just how important hearing from everyone was to me. Thanks so much...It's great to be back!!!

Dear Mr. Stohl:

I would like the National Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho to be aware of the fine display of brotherhood exhibited by its members at Old Dominion University.

Recently, a member of the O.D.U. chapter moved out of the Norfolk area. As sorry as I was to see my friend leave, it was also quite evident that the fraternity also felt this loss very deeply. Indeed, the brothers at Old Dominion went out of their way to be supportive of me, and especially of each other.

Often, people forget the tremendous kindness that can be shown in a simple gesture — such as a hug or a pat on the back. It is refreshing to find that the Old Dominion Kappa Delta Rhos have not forgotten the magnitude of a kind deed, nor have they forgotten the true meaning of brotherhood. They act as a strong, unified body and in so doing, set a standard on campus that is — in my estimation — unequaled by any other organization at O.D.U., Greek or otherwise.

The National Chapter can be very proud of its members at Old Dominion.

Sincerely,
Kate Sprague

Dear Brother Stohl:

I thought you might be interested in knowing that Robert Morris College, in promoting the college to high school students is also promoting Kappa Delta Rho.

The enclosed brochure is only part of the publicity the College has released. I hope you are as proud of the roll the members of Eta Beta have played in their cooperation with the college as we here are in the Chapter.

Fraternally,
Robert Gregory
Consul

Dear Brothers:

I am writing to inform you of a change of address, which is enclosed.

In fact, this is only a mailing address. I am deploying to Saudi Arabia. I do not know when, or if, I will return. I do want you to know that (in any event), my membership in the Brotherhood was, and remains, one of the most important aspects of my life. My time as an active turned out to be one of the most significant formative events in my life. I am proud to belong. Virtually all those I consider friends were actives with me.

I salute your work to expand the Fraternity. I regret the enclosed gift cannot be more, but I am sure you understand. In a few months I should be in a position which will enable me to better support our Fraternity.

Your Brothers,

Stephen Lawrence

Outlawing Greeks On Campus

Peter Henderson, Xi '60
Dean of Student Affairs - University of Maine
Presque Isle, Maine

Brother Henderson received his bachelor degree from Colby College in 1960. It was while at Colby that he also was selected to become a member of Kappa Delta Rho and served his chapter of Xi as its consul during his senior year. Following graduation he entered the service and it was during this time he obtained his master's degree in Business Administration in 1966 from the Inter-American University in Puerto Rico and his doctorate in Higher Education from Auburn University in 1986. While at Auburn he was assigned to the R.O.T.C. detachment as an instructor and in addition served as the faculty advisor for the Chi Phi chapter.

Following his retirement as an Air Force Lt. Colonel he and his wife, Jane relocated back to his native state of Maine. Brother Henderson is presently the Dean of Student Affairs at the Presque Isle campus of the University of Maine and continues his interest and concern for bettering Greek affairs.

Will We Permit The Colby Ban To Spread?

The Greek system is under attack, and has been under attack for several years. Among those who would not shed a tear if fraternities and sororities were to disappear tomorrow are higher education administrators. The most often expressed reason for this position is the perceived reluctance of Greeks to do anything concrete that would demonstrate acceptance and promotion of the ideals which are important to colleges and universities today: pluralism, equality of opportunity and acceptance, anti-discrimination, elimination of drug and alcohol abuse, disavowal of all vestiges of hazing, etc.

As a student affairs dean for a small public university in Maine I can verify that these issues are very important to college presidents, trustees, and state lawmakers. I can also verify that there is little evidence being presented to these officials that fraternities and sororities are even concerned about about these issues, let alone doing anything about them. Indeed, on too many campuses the evidence points to the contrary.

A case in point is the well-publicized decision by Colby College to ban all Greek affiliation from the campus several years ago. Although I personally disagreed with the decision (and expressed that disagreement as an alumnus), such action was within the institutional prerogatives of the College. The decision is still being tested in the courts, but Colby's status as a private institution will determine the ultimate resolution.

An examination of the circumstances which led to that decision would be well worth the time of other campuses and Greek organizations interested in avoiding a similar event. In terms of the Greek environment, conditions at Colby were appalling in the years before the decision was made. "Animal House" was redefined. Institutional property was being destroyed. Alcoholism seemed out of control among the Greeks. The entire Greek system had become a source of acute embarrassment to the institution, and they simply could not stand it any longer. It is not hard to imagine the frustration of college officials at that time. They did what they felt they had to do.

Although I believe the decision was an incorrect one, the fault lies with the Greeks. They forced the institution into a corner and they were dealing with administrators who had no love for Greeks in the first place. Writing for the Fall 1990 issue of the NASPA Journal, a Colby administrator said that "fraternities are exclusionary by practice, sexist in nature, and gender specific by design." (1) Decrying the fall of fraternities from the high ideals with which they began their existence in American higher education in the early days of this country, the writer insisted that "it is difficult to find any consistent values fostered by today's fraternities and sororities that reinforce the original standards." The writer continued by noting that "alcohol abuse, sexism, racism, destruction of property and rape are...associated with the groups today." The writer found many examples of headlines in recent issues of The Chronicle of Higher Education to quote as illustrations of the point; such headlines as "Fraternity Involved in Sex Assault," and "Drinking Themselves to Death," are quoted. Finally, the writer concluded by calling on colleges and universities "to take a stand against [these] organizations...and condemn the abhorrent behavior that plagues social fraternities and sororities today."

heat for doing

The author of that article is the Associate Dean of Students at Colby College and is a rising leader in the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators. She is taking her message to the people who wield the stick at other campuses: the student affairs officers...the ones who have to listen to the complaints of hazing, discrimination, etc. And they are listening because the pressure is on in higher education to stamp out the kinds of activities listed in that article.

The problem is not that Greeks are worse than any other category of college student, they simply present an easy target. They are well organized, they have high visibility, they operate as institutions within an institution, and they appear to have great control over their membership. Furthermore, they have developed a reputation for being beer-drinking societies which provide opportunity and structure for systematic over-consumption of alcohol within a protected environment. As long as these perceptions continue to operate, Greeks will remain under attack by college administrators.

Because of their visibility and reputation, Greeks play into the hands of the media whenever an unfortunate incident occurs. Whenever a Greek gets into trouble, the headline reads "John Doe, Greek member at State University" rather than "John Doe, student." Regardless of the incident, there is the implied assumption that somehow the student's Greek affiliation is at least partially responsible for the incident. Then when major parties get out of control, those assumptions are confirmed. Greeks are easy targets and have become their own worst enemies.

We need to see the situation as it is: fraternities and sororities are catching some well-deserved heat for doing some very stupid things on some campuses while their positive contributions to campus life are getting brushed aside. Furthermore, there is a great deal of pressure on student affairs officials at public universities to show programs promoting pluralism, justice, and civility on campuses. These are programs for which Greeks can and do make important contributions. But when the only news about Greeks is their continual flaunting of such ideals, the heat will simply increase.

Kappa Delta Rho does not condone the flaunting of campus requirements regarding discipline. Kappa Delta Rho supports the ideals that colleges and universities are trying to promote on campus. But will it make no difference that KDR takes these positions at the national level if the local chapters do not actively work to support them on campus. The resolution of the issue is not the abolition of Greek systems but rather a new partnership between local Greek systems and campus leadership. Speaking as a college administrator, I know that nothing would please an administrator more than a visit by a Greek delegation with the message that the Greeks had decided to promote the college and its ideals and would like some specific suggestions in that regard. At the same time, chapter leadership has got to bury the notion that the freedom to party is a right that must be protected at any cost. When university officials become convinced that fraternities and sororities are committed to a positive partnership for the development of mutually important ideals, then those officials will become the Greek system's strongest supporters.

Therefore my message to the local KDR chapter is this: elect responsible chapter leaders, concentrate on the ideals of your chapter, use your organization for the purposes for which it was originally established, and open direct channels of communication with administration officials such as the President, the chief student affairs officer, the admissions counselors, and the campus tutorial services. Volunteer for (and show up for) campus activities which relate directly to the mission and goals of the university. An area of specific need on many campuses right now, for example, is the need for assistance for single parents in need of child care during daytime classes.

- Elect responsible leaders
- Concentrate on your ideals
- Use original purposes
- Open communication with administrative officials
- Volunteer for university sponsored activities

Fraternities and sororities are supposed to be in the business of nurturing leadership development and character growth through collegial organizations which are uniquely designed for those purposes. Instead they are seen by too many campus officials (and parents) as frivolous, expensive to join, exclusionary, and woefully misguided.

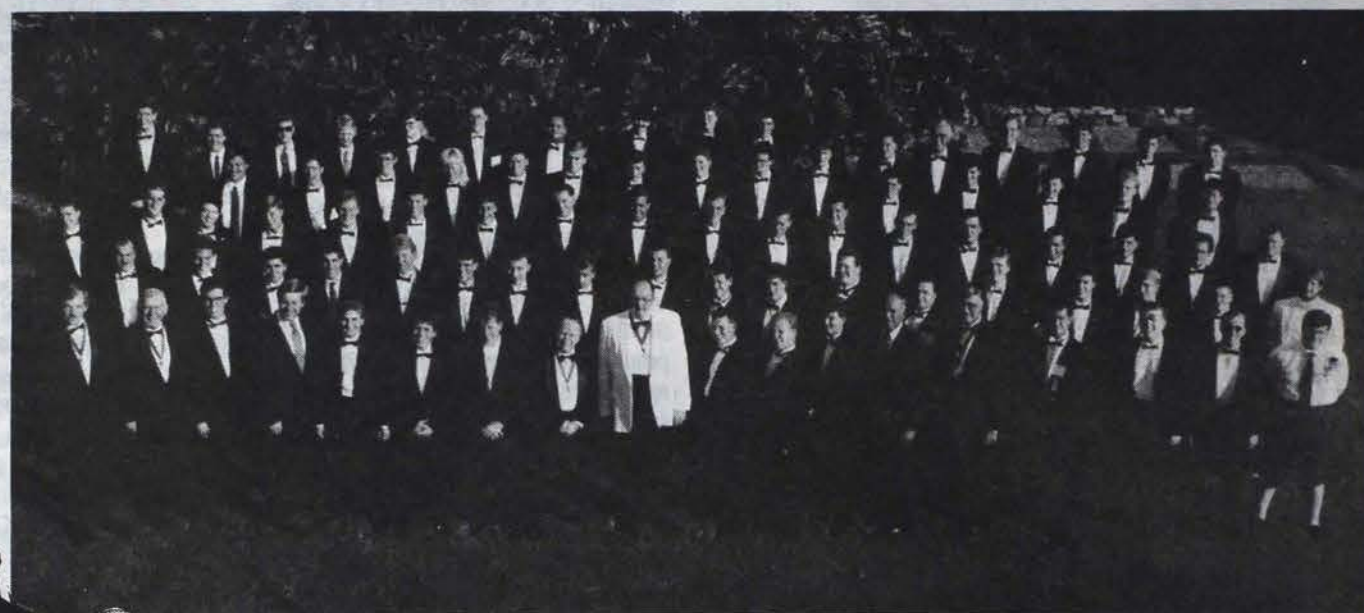

Concentrate on making your campus proud of its KDR chapter. That should become a primary goal. I can guarantee that if you concentrate on that goal, and enlist the active participation of fellow Greek organizations on campus, your campus will not make the tragic mistake that was made at Colby.

INNISBROOK CONVENTION

Official Kappa Delta Rho Delegates

Because of those attending the convention were housed over the large Innisbrook property, most of the attendees were unable to meet the photo schedule, thus are not included in the above group picture.

Brother Brian MacNeil, attired in his Family Tartan, opens the Annual Ordo Honorium Banquet, with "Amazing Grace".

The 1990 Kappa Delta Rho National Leadership School and Convention at Innisbrook Resort and Golf Club was undoubtedly the most successful convention to date. Well over 300 KDR undergraduates, alumni, and guests enjoyed five days of fraternization, education, and festivities.

Undergraduates began arriving Tuesday night, August 7, and most were in attendance for the opening of the leadership school by 1:00 Wednesday. Opening remarks were given by Grand Consul, Jim Edgeworth; Executive Director, Don Stohl and Convention Coordinator, Bill Aigner. The undergraduate representatives then adjourned to attend various officer breakouts and two chapter roundtables. Wednesday's program ended with a swim party and buffet dinner which was enjoyed by everyone.

Thursday morning half of the chapters viewed the movie "This is My House" which was introduced by Board of Trustees member George Fouke (Rho '55). Guest faculty Mindy Sopher-MacNeil (Kappa Delta) and Wayne Cowan (Nu Alpha '83) followed the movie with a presentation on motivating your chapter.

Following Thursday's luncheon, brothers attended breakouts on expansion, scholarship, alumni relations and officer retreats. Two major sessions took place during the rest of the afternoon: "Rush Techniques" and "Choice and Challenges". Executive Director, Donald Stohl reviewed the effective techniques a chapter should use for rush and during "Choice and Challenges" Mr. Stohl was joined by Devin Anderson (Eta '86). This presentation concerned the chapters standards of conduct, academics, etc. The rest of Thursday evening was free for the brothers to explore the local attractions or relax poolside.

Friday morning saw the Kappa Delta Rho undergraduate and alumni golf tournament get rained on a bit but those who played said they still had a fantastic time. Friday morning was also when the other half of the chapters viewed the film "This Is My House".

The movie was followed by an excellent session on Risk Management by Rick Funk (Phi Kappa Psi) who is the Greek advisor at Penn State and Rob Curry (Sigma Nu) who is the Greek advisor at Rider College, New Jersey. Friday's panel luncheon was entitled "Problems Facing Greeks Today". The panel consisted of all six guest faculty members. Jonathan Brant (Beta Theta Pi), who is the National Interfraternity Conference Executive Vice-President, suggested that Greeks view their problems in a more positive light, as challenges. These are some words we should all take to heart.

At 1:30 Saturday, Gary Bonas (Sigma Phi Epsilon) who is the Greek advisor at Villanova, presented a session on Men's Health Issues centered around AIDS. It should be mentioned that Mr. Bonas accepted the request to appear in a video planned by the National Interfraternity Conference. This video will be financed through the generosity of Kappa Delta Rho's Educational Foundation. It is also the intent of the NIC that the video will be made available to all fraternity and sorority chapters and college campuses across the country.

As a part of Mr. Bonas' program on Men's Health Issues, Brother Scott Racek of Iota Chapter shared his personal brush with cancer. All who attended felt that this session was one of the best of the convention. Breakouts followed on subjects such as utilizing resources, campus involvement, philanthropy, and operating an effective I.F.C. Friday evening all the brothers attended the KDR barbeque and olympics which was quite a lot of fun.

Saturday was the day that the 79th National Convention was convened. This was followed by the KDR awards luncheon, KDR brought in three more members after the awards luncheon. Ralph Caprio, a friend of Board of Trustee

1990 Distinguished Service Award Recipient

Jonathan J. Brant, Beta Theta Pi

Executive Vice President, National Interfraternity Conference

For several years our fraternity has recognized a non-member for his, or her, contribution and service to the Greek Community and/or Kappa Delta Rho. This year Jonathan Brant was recognized for his leadership and dedication to the fraternity system as National Interfraternity Conference Executive Vice President and for his five years of prior service as the Administrative Secretary of Beta Theta Pi National Fraternity in Oxford, Ohio.

Jonathan graduated from Miami University in Ohio, with a degree in business. He earned his master of business administrator degree from Miami in 1982. In 1988, he was designated a Certified Association Executive by the American Society of Association Executives.

In spreading the message about fraternities, Mr. Brant has appeared on ABC's "Good Morning America" and CNN's "Crossfire," as well as on local television and radio programs. He has been widely quoted in the print media as an authority on fraternities.

It is with indeed pride that the National Board of Directors, its undergraduates and alumni announces its 1990 Distinguished Service Award recipient, Jonathan Brant, Executive Vice President of the National Interfraternity Conference. We wish him well and assure him our continued support in his role as the Executive Vice President.

NATIONAL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Over the past year your Fraternity's National Board of Directors have for the most part, taken on a "new look". By that we mean many new Directors have been elected to serve and continue the pursuit of growth in all areas of our Fraternity.

Not only have new Directors been elected to serve but after many years of research, deliberation, discussion, etc. a proposal was presented to the Board which if approved, would reconstruct and enlarge the present roster of officers and redefine their responsibilities.

The project was first discussed several years ago under the administration of Past President Robert D. Lynd and it was his original draft that served as the prototype for the proposal finalized by President James F. Edgeworth Sr. and Board Member H. Wayne Cowan. This proposal as presented to the Board and approved at its annual meeting held in Lexington, KY on August 10, 1991. The officers of the National Board of Directors, including the changes and additions of officers is listed along with the members so elected. These members will serve for the present fiscal year of 1991-92.

Grand Counsel: James F. Edgeworth Sr., Psi '56

Grand Junior Tribune for Standards & Risk Management:

Grand Junior Tribune for Finance: William Nichol, Zeta '60

Grand Praestor: Gerald Murray, Theta '66

As a further explanation, the responsibilities of the Grand Junior Tribune for Finance include that of the Annual Budget and National Philanthropic. The position of Grand Junior Tribune for Education covers the areas of Alumni Affairs and the educational programs for the chapters, undergraduate and alumni. The present Executive Director was elevated to the position of Grand Senior Tribune, thus giving him a voting position on the Board. It should also be noted that President Edgeworth appointed Brother John Carl to the Chairmanship of the new National Chapter Housing Committee.

1990 Ordo Honorium Inductees

A History.....

In our growing history as a National Fraternity, we have from time to time recognized alumni for notable accomplishments. Until recently, however, recognition had not been awarded in any formal way. Word of outstanding achievements by Fraternity Alumni members was left to an occasional biography printed in the Quill & Scroll when information was available, or a personal appearance before but a few at a National Convention. The National Fraternity has corrected this lack of formal recognition by the founding of Ordo Honorium. The general idea, as intended by the National Board of Directors, is the establishment of a sort of "Hall of Fame" for distinguished alumni.

In 1980, shortly after becoming Executive Director, Donald Stohl (Zeta '54), set about the inception of Ordo Honorium. Eager to formally recognize the rather impressive achievements of various alumni members, Brother Stohl also saw the opportunity for these outstanding accomplishments to serve as an inspiration to present and future members. Many of the alumni that have been honored by the fraternity have indicated that KDR has made an early and lasting impression on them which helped in their development. An important factor, however, was the notion of "Hall of Fame." While it carries with it the general idea of what the National Board wanted to accomplish, the notion, hackneyed and over-used, has the less desirable connotation of, perhaps, an annual prize for top sales producers. Instead, the Board sought to develop a meaningful basis for the recognition of outstanding alumni.

The obvious path was to follow the tradition of the KDR Ritual and Ceremonies which are based on the model of the ancient Roman Republic. Upon the suggestion of a Benedictine Monk at the Archabbey of St. Vincent College in Western Pennsylvania, the Board finally decided on the distinction of Ordo Honorium. "Order of Honor", the honor awarded to Roman citizens for their contribution to state and community.

On August 14, 1982, the initial class of inductees to Ordo Honorium were greeted with the official citation: "Brother, we salute you. being persuaded of your honor, fidelity and concern for your fellowman, we have caused these letters to be issued..." The initial class of inductees, designated Alpha Class, includes 81 members and recognizes notable accomplishments made during the first 75 years of our Fraternity's history. Each subsequent year, a new class of select inductees, designated by consecutive letters of Greek alphabet, is chosen.

Selection of membership in Ordo Honorium is rightfully placed in the hands of one's peers. Each year, the individual chapter alumni organizations are asked to submit two nominations for induction into Ordo Honorium. After the nominations are submitted, each nominee is contacted for his acceptance and as these nominations are accepted, the name and biography of each nominee is submitted to the Ordo Selection Committee. This Committee, consisting of current Ordo Honorium members, provides the final selection which is announced at the Annual Convention. Their biographies are published in this issue of the Quill & Scroll. Not all those nominated each year are selected but may be renominated by their chapter in subsequent years. The criteria for selection are based on accomplishment in career, community, and/or optimally, the Fraternity.

Specifically, nominations for Ordo Honorium are made in one of three categories:

1. Personal or professional accomplishments, (including community involvement)
2. National recognition, (sports, entertainment, politics, etc.)
3. Outstanding Fraternity involvement, (Chapter or National)

It is felt that KDRs worthy of the honor and distinction will rise to the top and the selection process will easily recognize their accomplishments. Kappa Delta Rho hopes that all her members will become worthy to join those members currently in Ordo Honorium.

September 25, 1991

Mr. Don Stohl, Executive Vice President
K.D.R. National
331 South Main Street
Greensburg, PA 15601

Dear Don and Fraternity Brothers:

I have a story to tell and a favor to ask.

Jim Hayes is a graduate of Colby College, Class of 1976 and a member of the KDR fraternity. While at Colby, Jim excelled in athletics playing both varsity football and baseball. In addition, Jim pursued his academic studies and enjoyed a well rounded career as an undergraduate.

Not long after his graduation Jim started to experience some pain and numbness. There were many visits with various doctors. Ultimately, Jim was diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis. He was 23 years old! The nature of the disease was of a progressive form, that is, its effect slowly took hold. Over the years Jim has been in and out of hospitals trying to find a cure. Today Jim is confined to a motorized wheelchair and he must rely on help from his family for all of his daily needs. The disease has even affected his speech making it difficult for Jim to even enjoy a simple conversation.

Jim Hayes has always been a competitor and he uses all of his energy to fight this disease. He is living in the town of Shrewsbury, Massachusetts with his sister Kathy and her husband Al and their two children. The Hayes' have a great family full of love and support.

A short time ago Don Sheehy and I were out to visit Jim. We went out to dinner and on our way home Jim's van broke down. We were fortunate to get some help and slowly made our way to Jim's house with a leaky water pump. As it turns out the van has seen its day. That night we agreed that we would start a campaign to raise money to buy Jim a new handicapped-equipped van. This van is Jim's legs and without it he cannot leave the house. We are going to get that van for Jim Hayes.

If you would like to help in this worthy cause, please send your contribution to the James M. Hayes Trust Fund, 29 Grace Avenue, Shrewsbury, Massachusetts 01545. I know Jim would appreciate your support.

Thanks again for your help, Don.

Faternally,

member Wally Miller, and two members of the Innisbrook Staff, Ron Long and Mitch Shaffer. Members of Epsilon Beta chapter at Old Dominion University then presented the seniors' ceremony which they had developed.

At 6:30 Saturday evening everyone attended the black tie reception in the foyer of the Harstan Center and then moved into the Harstan Banquet room for the Ordo Honorium Banquet. Jonathan Brant stood in, beautifully, for Pat Reilly as keynote speaker. The food was wonderful as everyone attested to later, and of course, the KDR convention film was the highlight of the evening thank to new brother Mitch Shaffer and his film crew. Robert Parkey, a recent graduate from our Zeta Beta chapter at Tarleton State, Texas, performed his fantastic version of the KDR song. Everyone was awestruck and, it was a perfect way to end this year's convention.

Well, Sunday came and went and all the brothers started for home and another new year of school. This was truly our best convention so far! We hope we can top it next year in Lexington, Kentucky.

"We consider ourselves very fortunate to have been able to meet this longstanding goal of providing a chapter house for the undergraduates," Alumni Corporation President Dan E. Way said. "This is a very exciting time for all of us involved, but especially for the brothers, who have an increased sense of a close-knit brotherhood now that the majority of them share common housing. It is also gratifying to see that the brothers have industriously assumed the responsibility of repair and maintenance of the house as stewards of the future of Kappa Delta Rho on the Lock Haven campus, and every alumnus can be proud of their achievements."

Elsewhere in this issue of the Quill & Scroll are related articles concerning some of the many programs and scholarships sponsored by the Kappa Delta Rho Educational Foundation. These programs would not be possible without the generosity of the many outstanding brothers who have supported the Foundation.

As a Founders Club member, each has contributed to the Foundation $1,000 or more in total unrestricted giving for one year. It is through the generosity of these and other members that permit Kappa Delta Rho to provide the services, educational programming, and leadership that is so vital to the continued success of our fraternity. New Founders Club members will be featured in the Quill & Scroll as their biographies are received at the National Fraternity office.

HYATT REGENCY, CHICAGO

Brother Adie, Beta '75 Named Hyatt "General Manager of the Year"

Richard D. Adie Jr., a 1975 graduate of Cornell University with a major in hotel administration, began his career following graduation, with the Hyatt Hotels as a management trainee at the Hyatt Regency in Chicago, Illinois.

During the years to follow, Brother Adie served in various management positions at the Hyatt Regency Hilton Head, the Hyatt Regency Houston, and the Hyatt Regency Washington. He served as the general manager at the Airport Hyatt Regency San Francisco, and was responsible for the opening of the Hyatt Regency Burlingame. He was the general manager at the Burlingame property at the time of the San Francisco earthquake.

In 1990, "Rich" was appointed general manager of the Hyatt Regency Chicago. It should be noted that the Hyatt Regency Chicago is the largest of the Hyatt Hotels with over 2,000 sleeping rooms. The twin-tower hotel is an integral part of the Illinois Center, the nation's largest urban retail, commercial and residential development.

The announcement of Brother Adie's honor was made by Hyatt President Darryl Hartley-Leonard during the recent firm management conference. President Hartley-Leonard stated that Brother Adie, a 16-year Hyatt veteran, has continually shown top leadership qualities and successfully guided his hotels through particularly difficult times.

Kappa Delta Rho, with pride, congratulates Brother Adie and extends best wishes for his future.

KDR Wins First Administrator Award

Harold D. "Pete" Goldsmith, an honorary member of our Epsilon Beta Chapter and dean of student life, was named the 1991 Administrator of the Year during the Faculty Awards Dinner on April 26.

The award was established to recognize outstanding contributions to Old Dominion and the community in service, effectiveness and professional accomplishment. Goldsmith received a plaque and $500.

Several nominators cited Goldsmith's knowledge of all facets of student life as well as his commitment to students.

"Without question, Dr. Goldsmith is one of the most outstanding professionals with whom I have had the opportunity to work," Lucy R. Wilson, associate vice president for student services, wrote in her nomination letter. "We all depend on Pete for his knowledge of the issues, fairness and integrity in assessing the situation and good humor and grace in relating to the figures involved. Students hold him in equally high esteem. They regard him as an adviser extraordinaire — a person who can be counted on regardless of the nature of the problem..."

Although at the time of receiving this award Brother Pete was named to the position of Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs and Services at Michigan State University. Pete accepted and assumed his new position in September of 1991.

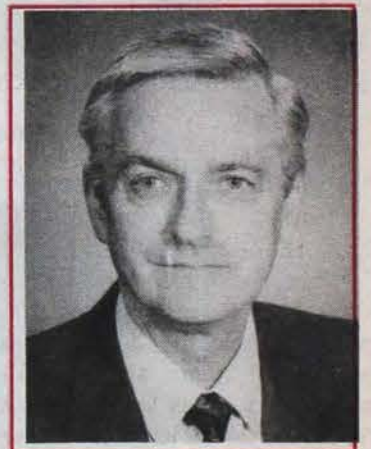

Brother Moore Gets Distinguished Alum At Indiana University of Pennsylvania

Art Professor Barry Moore of Illinois State University received the 1991 Indiana University of Pennsylvania Distinguished Alumni Award in ceremonies on June 15, 1991.

Brother Moore has been at ISU since 1962. He received his bachelor's degree at the Pennsylvania school in art education in 1955, and is one of seven people receiving the award this year. Only 143 individuals have received the award in the university's history.

President John D. Welty of IU-Pennsylvania said Moore would receive the award in recognition of his significant lifetime achievements and to honor him as a role model for current and future Indiana University of Pennsylvania students.

Active as an art educator and as an artist for many years, Moore is curator of ISU's University Museum International Collection of Child Art, one of the world's premier collections. For more than a dozen years he was a judge of the Christian Children's Fund annual art show and has been involved in developing new themes for that show. Moore has also served as an art education consultant in Illinois and other states.

The Pennsylvania native earned his master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh and his doctoral degree from the University of Illinois.

While an undergraduate at Indiana University of Pennsylvania he was a founder the Omega Chapter and one of the original alumni elected to the Fraternity's Ordo Honorium.

AN APOLOGY.....

An Apology.....

Dear Kappa Delta Rho Alumni,

To support the recent 1990-91 Alumni Fund Campaign, it was decided to employ a telemarketing firm to assist in the campaign. During the early months of the drive the results were outstanding as several hundred of our alumni who had never contributed were added to our list of givers. However...toward the end of the drive the progress reversed. Many of our loyal contributors were now contacting our headquarters reporting instances of misunderstandings and harassment created by the telemarketing firm. In our honest pursuit to increase our number of contributors I need to reassure you that these actions were not the intent of our Fraternity nor our members directing the campaign.

Under the direction of Kappa Delta Rho, the telemarketing firm was instructed to not only personally apologize to those offended alumni, but in addition, to do everything possible to correct the misunderstandings they created. In an answer to those alumni who have contacted us, we hope that we have been able to correct the problems. Our problem now is to eradicate those misunderstandings to those alumni who have chosen to keep their dissatisfaction silent. We hope by this public apology that we will again deserve to have your confidence and continued financial support, so that we may constantly pursue the educational purposes we are attempting to achieve for our undergraduates.

Fraternally,

Kenneth R. Gesner, Xi '53

offices in Indianapolis. The years that followed were prosperous ones, and in 1948 Brother Williams was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Retirement came in 1983 after 53 years of dedication to the law and his community. It was in the same year that his Alma Mater, Franklin College, bestowed upon him a Honorary Doctor of Law Degree, and in 1985 elected him to a position as a Trustee, which he held and actively served until his death in 1990.

As to his community involvement; it was also in 1983 that he stepped down after many years as President of the Board of Trustees of the Greenwood Village South, a retirement home for 550 residents. He also served for ten years (mostly as President) for the Board of Trustees of the Memorial Hospital of Johnson City, Indiana.

Having developed a keen sense for business, in 1963 Brother Williams entered the construction business by building "Jerry's Restaurant" followed by the Greendale Shopping Center. For approximately ten years he served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Greenwood, Indiana, and not only constructed seven additional commercial retail stores, but also operated them. With all his endeavors he still found time during the holidays to play Santa Claus for the local schools, churches, and children's parties.

Lucile, as a result of her involvement through committee work with the Indianapolis Symphony and Art Museum, encouraged her husband to become a patron of the arts. They also were members for 44 years in the Johnson County Country Club, while Brother Williams retained a senior membership of the Columbia Club of Indianapolis and a membership in Skyline Club, also in Indianapolis.

Brother Elmon M. Williams was a longtime supporter of his Chapter and the National Fraternity. He will long be missed by those who had the honor to know him.

Larry Cluff, Omega Alpha, Represents Kappa Delta Rho at a White House Press Briefing

Washington, D.C. — Undergraduate Larry Cluff, Omega Alpha (Virginia Commonwealth University), attended a White House briefing on April 5, 1991, highlighting the interfraternity effort toward philanthropy, underage drinking control and drug abuse elimination.

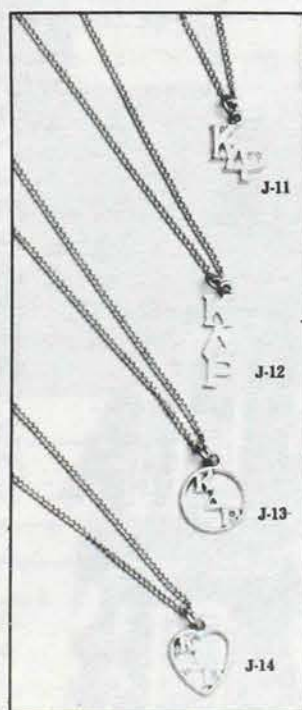

Organized by the Fraternity Executives Association, groups represented at the briefing were undergraduate students from international/national college fraternities and sororities.

Speakers included Governor Bob Martinez, Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy; C. Gregg Petersmeyer, Deputy Assistant to the President and Director of the Office of National Service; Dr. Antonia C. Novello, U.S. Surgeon General; and Charles E. Kolb, Deputy Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy.

In his speech, "Drug Czar" Martinez challenged the audience to help in the fight against drug abuse. "Drug prevention is work that never ends. The nation's youth are constantly being replenished from below. And they are statistically the age group most at risk of drug use. Most of all, please help us help them."

Dr. Novello has dedicated her term of service to combating underage drinking in schools. Her efforts with beer distributors to limit access to alcohol during traditional Spring Break met with great success.

KDR Selected For SAA National Post.....

In July, Martin T. Mitchell, Alpha Beta '91 began a six month internship as the chairperson of the Student Alumni Association (SAA) network in the United States and Canada. Brother Mitchell, based on his outstanding four-year contributions to the 40-member University of Delaware Chapter, was selected for the newly created post after a nationwide search by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE). His four-year involvement led to his also being named last spring as the SAA District II Member of the Year.

As an undergraduate member of the Alpha Beta Chapter, Martin served as Pontifex and chairman of the annual "Miss University Pageant" for 1991. In addition to serving as President of the SAA he was very involved with the university's "Big Brother Program for Incoming Freshmen."

The Student Alumni Association are on nearly 300 university and college campuses and are student-run groups designed to foster school spirit and build stronger ties between students and alumni.

Kappa Delta Rho extends congratulations to Brother Mitchell on his selection to this prestigious post in Washington D.C. and best wishes for his future.

Alpha Alpha Alumni Corporation Purchases New Chapter House.....

The Alpha Alpha Chapter at Lock Haven University has long practiced a good neighbor policy through its many community service and philanthropic projects in the city of Lock Haven. But since June, when the chapter's alumni corporation became homeowners, that policy has taken on an added dimension.

The Alpha Alpha Chapter Alumni Corporation of Kappa Delta Rho, Inc., purchased a large, three-story, brick building at 602 Bellefonte Avenue, just a few short blocks from campus, to house its undergraduates. The 15-bedroom house has three kitchens, three baths, several large social rooms, a detached garage and an off-street parking lot. It can accommodate 23 live-in brothers and it is at capacity in its first semester of use.

The house was purchased from Lock Haven alumnus Don Faulkner, who is a practicing attorney in Lock Haven, and his business partner. The alumni corporation owes Brother Faulkner a debt of gratitude. He demonstrated a great deal of faith in the alumni corporation and the undergraduate chapter by his willingness to be flexible in arranging some "creative financing" to allow the purchase to take place.

Also instrumental in making the purchase a reality was Don Stohl, the National Fraternity Executive Director, who arranged initial legal consultation for the Alumni Corporation Board of Directors in setting up the purchase.

The undergraduates have been busy repairing and remodeling the building to suit its purposes as a chapter house, and their efforts have been complemented by a number by a number of alumni who have returned on weekends to assist in the manual labor. Their work was rewarded with high praise by duly impressed alumni who returned for Homecoming Weekend activities October 19.

When Alpha Alpha lost its charter due to disciplinary problems, and its previous chapter-owned house through financial difficulties eight years ago, the alumni corporation was formed to oversee the rechartering process. Once the charter was returned, housing became a priority. A few leads were investigated by a committee set up by the Alumni Board of Directors, but the houses were deemed unsuitable. Last spring, Faculty Advisor Ernest Jackson learned the house at 604 Bellefonte Avenue was available, and the corporate board immediately began negotiations with Brother Faulkner and his associate. The brothers enthusiastically assisted in much of the investigatory legwork, setting up appraisals and various inspections that were necessary to complete the deal.

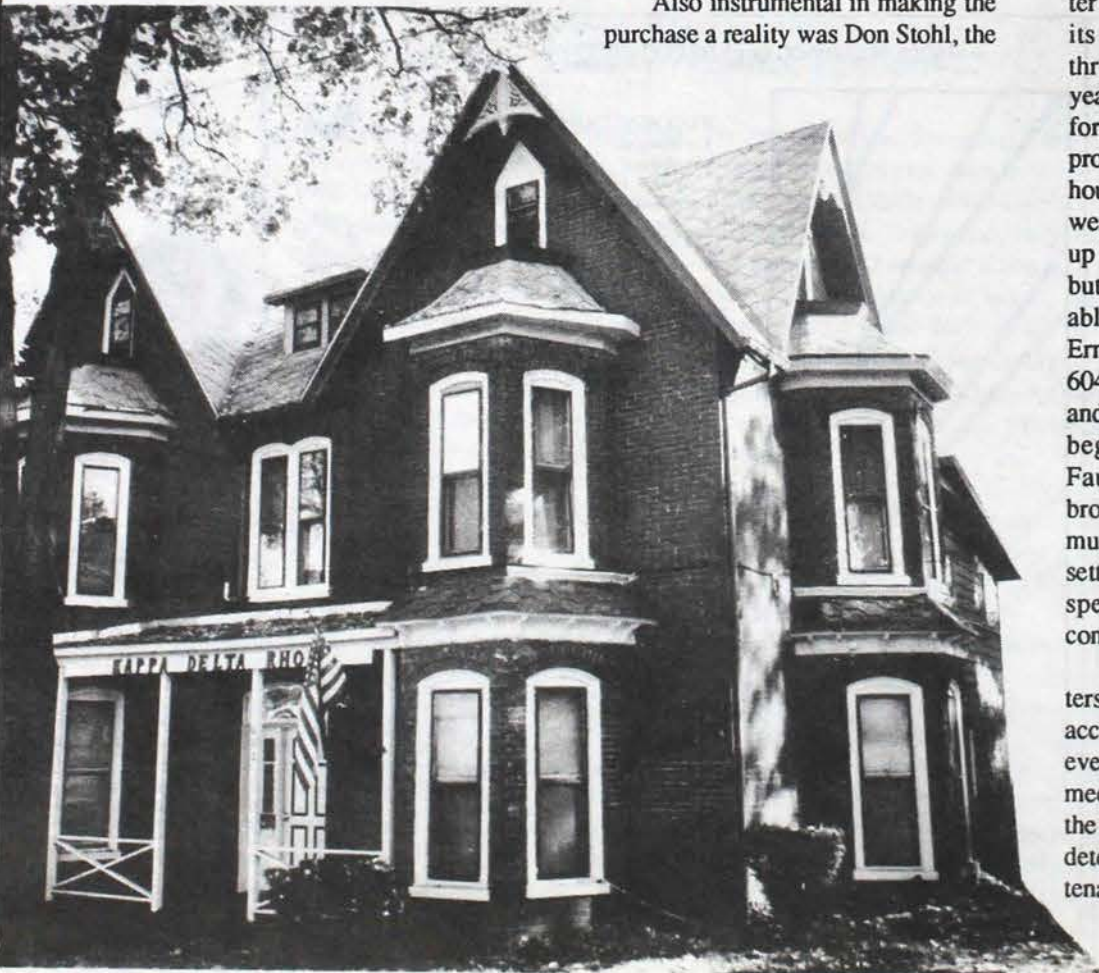

Since moving into the new quarters, the brothers have been warmly accepted by their neighbors, and were even commended at a City Council meeting for their work in improving the condition of the house, which had deteriorated from abuse by the former tenants.

KDR Makes It To The Minors

On June 10, 1991 Eric Ciocca, a member of our William Paterson College Provisional Chapter, was signed as a free agent by the Spokane Indians, the single A affiliate of the San Diego Padres. Eric, a senior Sociology major from Bergenfield, NJ, was mostly used as a closer for the team where in 38 innings he had 33 strike outs, four saves, and an ERA of 3.79.

Eric started his baseball career as a Junior in high school. He continued playing when he entered William Paterson College in 1988. He played for three years on the college varsity team where they won two conference championships.

As a result of a scholarship granted by the Major League Scholarship Fund, Eric will be able to continue his pursuit of a college degree and still play for the Spokane Club. Should a career in the Major Leagues not materialize, he hopes his Sociology degree will prove beneficial to the F.B.I.

Brother Colatrella was a founding member of his Chapter. His election to the position of Vice President of the Southeastern IFC supports the national fraternity's long tradition of involvement within the interfraternity movement.

independence movement, but nearly overnight acclaimed William Hough III as the expert in Baltic affairs.

As a direct result of the article, he was invited to speak before the Canadian Parliament during a session on the Baltics at which the only other speakers were the Canadian Secretary of the State for External Affairs and the former Prime Minister, Joe Clark. Bill also gave prepared testimony before the Congressional Helsinki Watch Commission and spoke at a recent special State Department seminar on Baltic affairs.

As changes began to sweep through Eastern Europe, he became a close and trusted advisor to presidents and prime ministers including Lithuania's President, Vytautas Landsbergis. It was also during this time that he made many trips to the Baltics while on leave from his international corporate work at the Manhattan firm of Walter, Conston, Alexander and Green.

As a result of these many trips, his work became more widely known (and more effective) which in turn was the cause of his being deported twice by the Soviet Union. To further emphasize his effectiveness in the freedom movement; while traveling between Warsaw and Lithuania, he was ordered from a train, questioned for more than two hours by border police, and returned to Poland on the next west-bound train. On another trip he was denied permission by Soviet border guards to disembark from a ship carrying him to Estonia.

Both incidents occurred despite invitations from the Estonian and Latvian governments and valid visas obtained from the Soviet consulates in New York and Warsaw. It was this action, along with many others, as Bill describes, that demonstrates how the KGB operated as a "State within a State." Regardless of what the Soviet government said — if the KGB did not want you in, you did not get in! It also illustrated the diplomatic and economic blockade that was thrown around the Baltic States once these people announced their declarations of independence. It was also these actions that earned Brother Hough a place on the KGB's "watch list."

Prior to his "watch list" placement, which restricted future travel, he had been advising the newly vigorous Baltic governments on the establishment of their legal systems; especially in the areas of corporate and commercial law, land reform, environmental law, and historic preservation law. In addition, he had also advised the government and non-government organizations on the right of Baltic citizens to refuse conscription into the Soviet armed forces.

Brother Hough was always optimistic about the eventual success of the Baltic independence movements. He also felt that because of the democratic tradition established by the Baltic States between 1920 and 1940, it would eventually serve as an important example to other Soviet Republics seeking information.

In March of 1991, Bill was honored in Los Angeles by the Baltic America Freedom League, during their annual "Human Rights Dinner," with a special award. This honor was awarded to Bill in appreciation for his involvement in the freedom of the Baltic States. On August 10, 1991, he was honored with a similar award by the Knights of Lithuania. This organization is the oldest fraternal organization outside of Lithuania dedicated to the freedom of their native country.

Although Brother Hough's publications have come true and the Baltic States are free of Soviet intervention, he still keeps communication with his friends and government leaders as is confirmed by the letter by President Landsbergis.

When an institution of higher education which is presently being viewed by some as depriving its students of certain constitutional freedoms, one has to wonder how it could produce an alumnus who gained international recognition for fighting to obtain for others these same freedoms. After reading his letter (front page) one has to assume that his fraternity affiliation has played that important role in recognizing not only human rights, but "Honor before all things." It is with this that Kappa Delta Rho looks to Brother William Jarrett Halowell Hough III with pride when it states "This is my son."

index; and faculty decision, such as that made at Stanford, to de-emphasize classic works of Western literature in favor of faculty-favored Third-world cultural studies, are an indication that our colleges and universities, like large U.S. corporations, are no longer run primarily for those they were intended to benefit: students and shareholders — but for the benefit of administrators, managers and faculty.

Thank you again for your interest in my activities.

Fraternally,

Bill Hough

$50,000 Gift

As a result of this endowment and in cooperation with Mrs. Williams' wishes, the monies must be used in two areas. First, $10,000.00 is to be used to fund a National Scholarship for an eligible student from any chapter desirous of pursuing a Masters in Business Administration. Although Brother Williams was a very notable attorney, much of his time in his later years was devoted to his multi-business ventures.

The second area to receive the benefits of the Williams' gift will be to ensure the continued success of the Fraternity's National Leadership School. The interest to be derived from the $40,000.00 endowment will supply the needed funds to cover the basic costs of the school and that possibly of guest speakers, etc.

Because of this generous gift and remembrance the foundation felt very comfortable in knowing this coming year's leadership school (to be held in conjunction with our National Convention) in Lexington, KY will surpass all preceding years.

It is hoped that Mrs. Lucille Williams will join us in Lexington this coming year so that we may formally thank her for her gift and officially announce the establishment of the "Williams Leadership Academy."

The National Fraternity, its Foundation, alumni and undergraduates are and will be forever indebted to Brother Williams for his years of support and to his wife Lucille for her desire to keep his memory alive with us.

Should anyone wishing to follow the lead of Mrs. Williams in making a major gift to the Fraternity (whether it be in the form of a memorial or standard gift) is encouraged to contact the National Headquarters.
