From the President's Desk

EUGENE L. SPENCER,
IOTA '76
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
President, National Fraternity

During my undergraduate time in Kappa Delta Rho, the Fraternity was about living and working together with other like-minded men to create something greater than ourselves. We had fun, grew together, and learned from one another in ways that we did not anticipate; the values of our Fraternity (honor, dignity, respect for others, holding each other accountable for our actions, and practicing authentic leadership) grew in us intrinsically, without much fanfare or practice. Today, those values and leadership skills are even more important to the generation of undergraduate Brothers we serve. Their lives are so much more complex, and their challenges more difficult, as many rules surround them on campus, and the opportunities to fail in some way are ever present. As we help them learn KDR's important values and practice leadership in their Chapters, we are helping to give them a basis for their current and future success.

It with thoughts of leadership that I welcome you to the Winter Edition of the Quill & Scroll. As you look at the articles, you will see a focus on leadership in many ways: the award winners at the 104th National Convention, the leadership thoughts of Ken Coulter as he spoke to Convention, the list of chapters who led our recruitment efforts this fall, the work of an amazing group of undergraduate leaders who are rebuilding the Kappa Chapter at The Ohio State University, the work of the Foundation to support KDR's scholarship and leadership development, and a report on the Heritage Society (whose members are leading our Alumni in the spirit of giving back in their estate plans). And perhaps the greatest story of leadership, the story of Brother Robert G. Nopp, Sigma '54, whose remains were recently repatriated from Laos where his surveillance aircraft was lost during the Vietnam war.

KDR has always been focused on creating leadership skills and characteristics among its Brothers. Sometimes this effort was intrinsic and informal, like it was in my day. Today, our efforts to cultivate leadership skills and develop authentic leaders is much more deliberate. In January the Board of Directors will be meeting in Greensburg at the Annual Consuls' Academy so that we can install another generation of new Chapter Consuls; and cycle of leadership begins once again.

Honor Super Omnia!

Faternally,

Gene

KDR Launches Kappa Delta Rho Lifelines

2018-2020 National Board of Directors

EUGENE L. SPENCER,
IOTA '76
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

President, National Fraternity

Being a KDR Brother means that we live by a set of values that were initially laid out by our Founders and have been honed and improved by generations of Brothers who have followed in their footsteps. We live by the principles of honor, integrity, dignity, and respect, and we are guided by our goal of being a Kappa Delta Rho gentleman. Perhaps most importantly, we strive to be our Brothers' Keeper, supporting each other as friends and Brothers, sharing in the celebration of life's joyful moments and helping each other through times of difficulty. It is in the ups and downs of life that our Brotherhood matures and deepens, and our fraternal bonds hold us more tightly together.

Over the past decade, we have witnessed an increase in depression, anxiety, and other mental health issues particularly within our undergraduate Brothers and young Alumni. At the most recent Convention, over 25 Brothers consulted with our resident mental health counselor to talk about concerns they had for themselves or someone close to them. While talking to a trusted Brother or friend can often provide clarity and relief, truly addressing these issues requires the skill and assistance of a qualified mental health professional who can provide the right kind of help and resources.

As our Brothers' Keeper, we should be aware of possible warning signs and subtle calls for help. We do not have to be mental health professionals to recognize someone else's difficulties or our own and seek assistance. We cannot stand idly by and expect that Brothers struggling with mental health issues such as depression, anxiety, or substance abuse will ask for help or resolve these issues on their own. A Brotherhood means that we support each other, and we put a hand out to those Brothers who need it; we do not wait to be asked or invited. Sometimes, the request for help doesn't come and the impact of the death of a Brother on everyone whose life he touched is profound, and forever.

With this mission in mind, the Kappa Delta Rho Lifeline was created as a digital portal that demonstrates our commitment to greater mental health awareness, accurate education, and appropriate treatment resources. Lifeline is tangible evidence of our goal to provide mental health education and awareness as well as access to mental health crisis resources 24 hours a day.

I strongly encourage all Brothers, undergraduate and alumni, to review the Lifeline site at <http://kappadeltarho.ulifeline.org/>. By knowing what tools and resources are available, we can act quickly and confidently when we recognize a Brother in need. This is a resource that will help us all truly be our Brothers' Keeper.

Recolonizing the Kappa Chapter at Ohio State University

TOM JOMANTAS
KAPPA '21

The Kappa Chapter, founded in 1922, is one of the oldest in KDR's long history. Since 1976, the chapter at Ohio State University has been inactive – until now. Consul Tom Jomantas, Senior Tribune Gage Warrell, Quaestor Nick Montoni, Elysian Tribune Ryan Figueroa, Centurion Matt Russo, and Secretary PJ Melchiorre decided to rekindle Kappa this semester by achieving Group of Intent Status on November 15. With four major fraternities suspended from Ohio State's campus this semester, the young men were driven to lead a drastic and lasting change to OSU's Greek system by bringing KDR's values to campus. They're instilling a 3.0 GPA minimum, a new member education program which shows zero tolerance for members' use of any chemical substance including alcohol, nicotine, etc., and a policy which bars members from attending a social event if they have an exam the next day that constitutes more than 20% of their class grade. The group will be an officially recognized student organization and IFC member immediately after the spring semester begins. Already at 33 members, Kappa plans to take an additional 30 members after next semester's rush and will be petitioning for chartering in April.

Congratulations to the Iota Gamma Chapter at Towson University.

The chapter was chartered on Sunday, November 18, 2018.

Kappa Delta Rho, Lambda Chapter

JAMES DENNEHY
LAMBDA '19

Kappa Delta Rho's Lambda chapter has experienced a tumultuous history during our 94 years of existence. Growth has recently been stunted due to a temporary suspension in the 2000's, however, we remain one of the few active chapters from KDR's original growth. We're continuing with new vigor following our return to the UC Berkeley campus in 2017.

Today, the Lambda chapter is led by 23 active members and a class of six new members on their way to initiation. We're supported by a diligent alumni association comprised of involved Brothers from decades past. Our growth wouldn't have been possible if it weren't for their continued support and understanding. Our current chapter has overcome many unique obstacles, like organizing without a house and implementing dynamic recruitment, but the biggest to come will be chartering.

Until recently, my ideas on the necessity of chartering were misinformed. As a provisional chapter, we seemed to receive the same luxuries as other chapters. There wasn't much incentive to change, especially considering the daunting process chartering brings. This view changed following my attendance of the 2018 National Convention held in Lexington over the summer.

Given the chance to interact with other chapters and the members of our National Office, I found chartering to be more than just a plaque for the wall. Chartering carries the privilege of voting on issues the Fraternity faces and shaping its future. It's a convention of Brothers, and the board was adamant on hearing from each chapter, chartered or not, but we were left out in the final vote. Even more prudent, chartering is necessary for securing a chapter's place at your school and passing on your legacy. It occurred to me that without a charter, Lambda chapter could disappear as soon as I graduate. For these reasons, the active Brothers of Lambda chapter have made it our duty to charter within the school year.

Our chartering efforts have drastically increased over the past year, shifting the question from "if" to "when." We've worked closely with the Director of Growth to find the best ways to cement brotherhood in our blossoming chapter. Dynamic recruitment was introduced, which has tapped a steady flow of potential recruits, as well as accelerated pledge terms, which allow for two new member classes each semester. Chartering has also benefited us in unforeseen ways, such as more philanthropy events and tighter, more engaged new member classes. For these reasons, I've suggested carrying on this process after we charter.

The process has been rigorous, but I'm proud to report that our days as a provisional chapter are numbered. This occasion wouldn't be possible without the tireless commitment of our Consul and Senior Tribune. It's also necessary to thank our alumni association, who have supported us every step of the way and helped us through our fumbles. As difficult as the process has been, it would be immeasurably tougher without the help of our Executive Director Joseph Rosenberg, our Deputy Executive Director Lauren Hopkins, and our Director of Growth Ben Leahy. Their efforts throughout the process are comparable to ours and highlight the often unnoticed work of our National Office.

At Lambda, we're certain the chapter we created will outlive all of us and carry our legacy to any who value honor above all.

Ken Coulter Speaks On Leadership... from KDR to the Bourbon Trail

JARED ROSS,
BETA GAMMA '14

Former Consul at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania and current Vice President and Chief of Staff for the North American Region of Brown-Forman Corporation, Ken Coulter, Iota '92 was the featured speaker at the 2018 Kappa Delta Rho Convention held in Kentucky this past August.

Ken Coulter, Iota '92

Ken has been with Brown-Forman, the parent company of alcohol brands Jack Daniel's, Woodford Reserve, Old Forester, and more, for 24 years. He began in store merchandising, but as his adaptability and versatility became apparent to Brown-Forman, his career path took several turns. Ken took on positions in sales, marketing, and finance, learning the operations, practices, and nuances of each department along the way. Somehow in the midst of becoming an expert in four different departments within his company,

Ken found the time to continue his education and earned an MBA with a focus in finance and marketing. While he's lived in various places throughout his journey, he currently works out of the company's headquarters in Louisville, Kentucky, where he resides with Peggy, his wife of over 20 years, daughters Emma (15) and Katie (12), and dogs Hallet and Liesel.

After the convention, I was lucky enough to chat with Ken, who graciously carved some time out of his busy schedule. We talked about our shared KDR experiences and what we learned from our time in the Fraternity, his fascinating role with Brown-Forman, and of course, our favorite bourbons. Ken's philosophy towards ethical leadership, which he has continually drawn upon throughout his accomplished career and spoke about during his keynote address at the national convention, resonated with me in particular. I'd thought that my favorite takeaway from this interview would be some killer bourbon recommendations, but what I really gained was a better sense of the importance of ethical leadership, how to incorporate it into everything you do in your daily life, and how to present yourself.

Jared (J): Ken, first of all, thank you for taking some time to speak with me. Let's start with the reason why we're talking now, KDR. What drew you to KDR as an undergraduate?

Ken (K): I had an uncle from Bucknell who went Greek. I started looking around at his fraternity and then others that were influenced by the friends I had already made.

At the time, KDR at Bucknell had just been recolonized by the class before me and there was something special about that group. They were all different people, very involved in lots of different things on campus. They had a passion for creating something new and different and a desire to not just be another Greek house on campus.

It hit me that there was something for everyone and I liked the ability to build something from the ground up. It was great being part of the first pledge class coming in from the recolonized chapter.

J: I know that you were involved in leadership as an undergraduate with your chapter. Is there anything that you learned from your KDR experience that transferred to your professional career?

K: In my junior year, I was encouraged to run for consul. I didn't understand why others thought

I had the leadership skills, because the consul before me was much more of a vocal leader.

My natural leadership style is certainly not that of a vocal cheerleader, though I can be when needed. I'm more comfortable working behind the scenes, and that's a lot of what I did and learned at KDR.

Those years were difficult times with a lot of pressure on fraternities. For example, in my four years at Bucknell, it seemed like we went from a simple alcohol policy of 24-hour taps in fraternities to B.Y.O.B.

From a social standpoint, it was quite a transformation that required dealing with the university and also working with people who were resistant and bringing those individuals along.

It was a great leadership experience and I learned how to motivate people. Sometimes the vast majority of work will fall on a few, but there were little things I could do to keep people involved and coming back and feel part of decision making and contributing, instead of just taking orders.

That was tremendously important to learn. In one of my previous roles I had the task of building out a new functional team to work with our sales and marketing groups. Not everyone wanted to dig in wholeheartedly, but I could find ways to make each take part and contribute.

The Coulter family on vacation in Colorado.

J: Outside of your involvement in KDR, how did your college experience prepare you for your work life today?

K: Besides my involvement with KDR, I was also a competitive swimmer, which incidentally is where I met and began dating my wonderful wife, Peggy.

The organization skills required of being a Division I varsity athlete, practicing, and getting school work done, all while also making sure to have time to relax, have good friends, recharge, rest, and have some fun was healthy from an organizational standpoint for me. It gave me the ability to look at my to-do list and go from one thing to the next.

In retrospect, I was fairly naïve coming into Bucknell University. I was an only child who knew nothing about what to expect in college. I learned to take advantage of new challenges and experiences. In my career, I've done the same, in moving from sales and marketing to finance and larger roles in the company.

J: Post-graduation, you have remained involved with KDR as an alumni. When you were asked to be a speaker at KDR's convention this year, what did that mean to you?

K: I was excited. Not necessarily for being the speaker, but for the ability to re-engage, see so many people, and to have the opportunity to meet some of the current Iota [Bucknell's chapter] undergrads as well.

Lately, because of geography, I have been more removed than I would like to be, but I feel like I am on the cusp of being pulled back in after a few years away.

Last winter, I read in the Quill and Scroll that the convention was going to be in Lexington, and I thought, 'Well, that's convenient,' so I reached out to KDR Nationals, mainly to offer the group the potential for visiting one of our Kentucky bourbon distilleries.

Instead, they asked what I would think about speaking at the conference. I was a bit surprised but we began discussing possible topics, and landed on one I'm very passionate about. And of course I also made sure that we were able to host a group of KDR alumni at Woodford Reserve!

J: Talk about a perfect segue into my next question. What was that topic?

K: It started with responsibility. I'm passionate about responsibility and personal accountability. I know that we need to be very thoughtful about how consumers relate to our products in the adult beverage business. We know it can be dangerous for some people, but when used responsibly, many our products can add to the pleasure of life.

From responsibility as a theme we moved to 'honor and dignity,' and making the right decisions over a long-term horizon, which gets back to ethics.

Brown-Forman is a family-owned business but is also traded publicly. We have expectations that we strive to meet both quarterly and yearly, but we don't do things that will jeopardize what we call "Building Forever."

Because we keep "Building Forever" in mind and have a multigenerational outlook and this longer-term viewpoint, rather than just delivering quarterly results, our company has not had the consolidation that has affected so many others in the industry.

I also think part of it is that we're not a company that calls Los Angeles or New York home. We're grounded in Kentucky. In today's culture there's a desire for authenticity in brands. Old Forester has been around for 150 years. There's nothing more authentic than that.

Getting back to personal accountability, dignity and honor...such as Honor Super Omnia...these just seem like words when you're an undergrad, but when you sit here and reflect back, they were tremendously impactful and important.

I related to the group that my belief is dignity is inside and honor is earned. It takes dignity over time to be viewed as honorable.

The connection point for me with KDR is that it takes such hard work to be seen as honorable and yet it can be so easily thrown away. There are so many stories today of honor being destroyed relatively quickly.

At the time of the convention, here in Louisville, the big story was Papa John's and John Schnatter being thrown out of a company he founded for something he said. At the University of Louisville, which has gone through so much upheaval, the athletic director and president are other examples. A lifetime, or career, or a body of work can be dismissed so quickly. I am not judging as right or wrong, but believe that these are examples of how simple actions in a short period of time can destroy years of work.

I guess that was the intent of my overall message at the convention. Think about the long term and how one stupid thing can ruin things either for a person, a fraternity, or a company.

J: That must have been one heck of a speech. You talked about dignity and honor. How do you remain mindful of that every day?

K: Over time, dignity hopefully becomes more and more a part of you. When you're younger, you feel invincible, as if nothing bad is ever going to happen to you. But you also take in the things you see around you.

Fraternity President, Gene Spencer, Iota '76 presenting Ken with a KDR polo shirt following his speech during the opening banquet of the 104th National Convention in Lexington, KY.

When you get older, you get wiser, right?

J: I'm still waiting on that one.

K: [Laughs] Well, you hope to impart that wisdom to the younger ones.

I have daughters, 12 and 15 years old, and I try to make sure that they are not reckless with their phones and social media, and hopefully not acting stupid in other ways too.

With technology and the world seemingly getting smaller, hopefully people will be able to learn those lessons quicker.

J: With your speech in mind, what is important for undergrads, who are preparing for adulthood, to know?

K: Talk with people, don't just text. Get engaged with one-to-one relationships. Each person has so much to contribute. When you get to know people one-on-one, it brings you closer to knowing each other and knowing the world. You can learn so much from others by talking, and you can lose that in today's fast-paced, electronic world.

Also, think about "fraternity." It's a tremendous opportunity to get close to a large amount of people in a short amount of time. I don't get to see a lot of my friends, my Brothers, but when I do, it's incredible.

For example, a couple of weeks prior to the convention I was in Denver for work and was able to connect with a KDR Brother I knew as an undergraduate. We got together for a few hours and it was like the 20 years in between hadn't passed. That's pretty phenomenal.

J: To go beyond KDR for a moment, I am really curious what you can tell me about your current role as chief of staff with Brown-Forman. That sounds like an amazing job with great responsibility. What is a typical day like for you?

K: The beautiful thing that I love most is there is no typical day.

My role involves working with all our North American leaders, mostly trying to add focus and prioritization to what we're doing and making sure we're living up to our strategy. We're making sure the work our teams are doing is focused on the highest and most important strategic priorities.

I try to minimize distractions and cut down on duplicative work. I keep in touch with what's going on in sales, marketing, finance, and human resources. Sometimes I'm the fireman putting out fires and sometimes I'm an air traffic controller making sure that the most important stuff is getting through.

I also oversee all of our internal, external, and regional communications, which fits into the prioritization of how we're messaging things.

It's fast paced. It's not routine. And working with great people adds to the pleasure of working.

J: Wow, that sounds like quite a lot. How do you manage work/personal life balance?

K: It's difficult, but I've come to call it work-life integration. It's not how you balance them. Instead, it's how you make them work together. With electronics and long hours, I make it work with my family's schedule.

I get up earlier than anyone in our house and am often at my desk by 6:30 a.m. but out at 5:00 p.m. for sports, dinner, and the family. When I'm not traveling, I don't work late. There's always a lot of work, but a colleague of mine once reminded me about the importance of prioritization. She reminded me that I'm not a doctor with a patient on my surgical table!

While I certainly try to help out at home, I'm also fortunate that my wife is able to shuttle the family and shepherd our daughters full time.

J: Finally, of all your spirits, what's your drink?

K: Woodford Reserve on the rocks is my drink – my home drink.

If I'm going out for dinner, Herradura Silver Tequila neat with two limes. It shakes people up in Louisville if you order tequila. They'll always respond with "What?! You're not having bourbon?!"

Brother Robert G. Nopp '54 is Coming Home

Brother Bob Nopp is coming home after being listed as missing in action (MIA) since 1966 in Southeast Asia. Bob was an army aviator. He and his observer went MIA on July 14, 1966 while flying an OV-1C MOHAWK on a classified surveillance mission over Laos. The aircraft went down in Laos, and for the next 52 years, Bob's wife and two sons didn't know what happened to him.

According to an Oregon Statement Journal article on May 25, 2018, news came late in 2016 that the army, working with the government of Laos, had located a crash site that may contain the remains of a MOHAWK. Archaeologists and anthropologists visited the site twice, collecting artifacts to confirm not only the aircraft type, but also any human remains. They recovered Bob's dog tags, but they weren't considered proof of identity. The Defense POW/MIA Accounting Agency (DPMAA) requested and collected DNA samples from Bob's sisters, and then the Armed Forces Medical Examiner Central Identification Laboratory in Hawaii was able to confirm they had recovered Bob Nopp's remains.

Brother Robert G. Nopp,
Sigma '54

Our Brother had an all too short but distinguished service career. Bob was commissioned as a field artillery officer from Army ROTC at OSC in 1956, but had a delayed entry to active duty due to the small size of the army between Korea and Vietnam. He entered his first assignment at Ft. Lewis, Washington in 1957. He and his wife enjoyed assignments at Ft. Rucker, Alabama (the location of the army aviation school), then to Ft. Hood in Texas and back to Ft. Rucker. He received additional training at Ft. Huachuca, Arizona and Ft. Sill, Oklahoma prior to his deployment to Vietnam.

We know the following information about Brother Bob from postings on the DPMAA website.

"Feb. 27, 2018 — Army Lt. Col. Robert G. Nopp, missing from the Vietnam War, has now been accounted for. On July 13, 1966, Nopp was assigned to the 131st Aviation Company, serving as a pilot aboard an OV-1C aircraft, on a night surveillance mission from Phu Bai Airfield over Attapu Province, Laos People's Democratic Republic (L.P.D.R.). Visibility was poor due to heavy thunderstorms. Radar and radio contact were lost with the aircraft, which was not uncommon due to the mountainous terrain in that part of Laos. When the aircraft did not return as scheduled, search efforts were initiated, but no crash site was found.

Nopp's name is recorded on the Courts of the Missing at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in Honolulu, along with others unaccounted-for from the Vietnam War. A rosette will be placed next to his name to indicate he has been accounted for."

According to sources on the Vietnam Veteran Memorial Fund (VVMF) website (vvmf.org), Bob Nopp was a captain when he flew his last flight, being administratively promoted to lieutenant colonel while listed MIA until the secretary of the army approved Presumptive Findings of Death for Lt. Col. Nopp on December 1, 1977. The Distinguished Flying Cross with a bronze oak leaf cluster is among the military decorations earned by Lt. Col. Robert G. Nopp of Salem during the Vietnam War. The medal is awarded to any member the United States Armed Forces who distinguished themselves in support of operations by "heroism or extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight." The oak leaf cluster designates a second award. Brother Nopp was also awarded the Air Medal, Purple Heart, National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Service Medal. Bob's family conducted a memorial service for him in Salem, his family home, in 1979 after the presumptive findings of death by the army. It included a missing man formation flyover by four OV-1 MOHAWK aircraft.

When I contacted Bob Swinney '55, to see if he remembered Bob Nopp, he recalled talking with Nopp many times while in the house. He's visited the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington, D.C. to honor him and the sacrifice he made for our country. Swinney remembered Brother Nopp as a good-natured member and happy guy.

Probably the most endearing tribute to Bob Nopp on the VVMF website are the comments left by his sons and wife on the webpage dedicated to him. His sons Tim and Scott wrote, "We have missed you in our lives. You have granddaughters now that you would be very 'sticky' with! We talk to them often about you. Both of us are doing fantastic in our careers. Tim is one heck of a golfer (as you were) and Scott is a track coach. We Love You, Dad!" Bob's widow, Patti, wrote, "You are loved dearly and have been in the thoughts and prayers of all who knew you for all these long years. God Bless You, Bob." The Nopp family finally has closure.

Lt. Col. Robert G. Nopp was buried at Arlington National Cemetery on October 18, 2018 at 11:00 a.m.

Welcome home, Brother Bob - from a grateful nation and your Brothers of the Sigma Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho.

THE KDR FOUNDATION BUILDING STRONG FOUNDATIONS

GREG M. KLEIN,
OMICRON ALPHA '96
RUTGERS UNIVERSITY
KDR Foundation President

I am proud to tell you that 2017-2018 was a record year!

We live in interesting times. Every day there seems to be some story in the news about new challenges. These challenges include an opioid epidemic, rising suicide rates, and a variety of divisive issues. Sadly, many of these issues are having a tremendous impact on college campuses where we operate. That is the bad news. The good news is that we have an innovative plan to provide support for our undergraduates to be successful navigating these issues.

To put it simply- we need to build a foundation to strengthen all of our chapters. If we build a

If we build a Fraternity made of bricks and mortar it will stand the test of time like the Roman Colosseum.

Fraternity made of bricks and mortar it will stand the test of time like the Roman Colosseum. Our chapters will be prepared to thrive, and our undergraduate members will be prepared to be leaders on campus and the future leaders of our communities.

Kappa Delta Rho has developed a long-term strategic plan that includes multiple phases. The plan is designed to provide Mental Health Awareness and support while promoting and strengthening responsible personal behavior. It is thorough and will be expensive. This is needed and in my (unbiased) opinion the plan is impressive. We intend to ask you for your support as we prepare to launch this plan, known as Brothers' Keeper.

Expect to hear more about Brothers' Keeper in the months ahead. It is one of the most ambitious multi-generational plans that our Fraternity has ever undertaken. It has the potential to be a watershed moment for Kappa Delta Rho and a model for the entire Greek system.

The Kappa Delta Rho Foundation has one simple purpose: to raise funds to provide educational and leadership training for the members of the National Fraternity of Kappa Delta Rho. We help fund the annual Elmon M. Williams Leadership Academy, the Consuls Academy, and award a little more than $100,000 in scholarships annually. We intend to help fund Brothers' Keeper.

All of that is made possible solely by your support. Thank you.

Brothers, I call on you to help promote the mission of our Fraternity, whether it is a financial commitment to the Foundation, volunteering to mentor undergraduates, or participating in Alumni Corporations and associations and networks. KDR needs you more than ever! As Foundation President, I pledge to continue to improve our communications and reach out to you more often and more consistently. We have a good story to tell that we want you to hear.

Please join us with your support and help us lay a few bricks as we build a solid foundation for our Brotherhood.

Why Passion?

In the past, I've written about 'Why KDR?' and asked you to share what this means to you. Many of you have taken the time to share your thoughts and I thank you for doing so. As we ended the fiscal year on June 30th, a new word comes to the forefront and its Passion. Why Passion? You are truly Passionate about KDR and it shows.

Here's what your passion for KDR accomplished last fiscal year:

- ✦ Total giving was up 6.0% over the previous fiscal year as we raised just over $263,000 between the Annual Fund, Restricted Giving, and Scholarships.
- ✦ 600 plus donors helped raise over $151,000 for the Annual Fund.
- ✦ 70 gifts to the Annual Fund from parents which were up 30% over the year.
- ✦ Scholarships gifts nearly doubled to $71,000.
- ✦ A newly endowed scholarship was created by 65 plus alumni from Iota Beta (Rochester Institute of Technology) in less than three months.

I had the opportunity to meet alumni at various events all over the country (Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Georgia, Oregon, and Kentucky) and at each visit I heard passionate stories about what KDR meant to them not only as an undergraduate member but since graduation. Although I was meeting some alumni Brothers for the first time, I sensed the strong Brotherhood which we all share as KDRs and how we need to instill Honor Super Omnia to the latest generation of Brothers.

As we move forward, you will be hearing and reading about 'Brothers' Keeper' and what the future looks like for KDR. I'm passionate about our future and I hope you are too! Please continue the passion whether it be through your volunteering of time or financial gifts to make KDR stronger than ever.

THE HERITAGE SOCIETY PLANNED GIVING RECOGNITION SOCIETY OF KAPPA DELTA RHO

WILLIAM J. PARIS,
ETA '87
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT
URBANA-CHAMPAIGN
Kappa Delta Rho Foundation
Trustee and Heritage Society Chair

Investing in KDR's Future

Do you remember the comedy show Cheers, the long-running hit TV show? In that series, people from all facets of life walk into a place "where everybody knows your name." I can't make the claim that everyone knows me, but I'm Bill Paris, Eta '87.

As I sat down to write this article, the passing of some close friends and Brothers in recent months brought many fond memories to mind. I thought about my time at the University of Illinois. Any Illinois graduate was very familiar with our alma mater statue, which carries the inscription "To thy happy children of the future, those of the past send greetings." It sums up perfectly what the Heritage Society is all about.

17 years ago, I had the good fortune of working for Kappa Delta Rho. Part of my role was meeting alumni and sharing what KDR was doing, and how their involvement and support had such a profound impact on our undergraduate Brothers.

One Brother I got to know and visit with on several occasions was Tim Moore, Eta '68. A great guy with stories of growing up in Champaign and his time at the Eta chapter, he was a strong advocate of utilizing life insurance as an easy and effective way to leave a legacy. He was a member of the Founder's society, generously supporting the Foundation's annual fund each year. Tim was intent that his life insurance gift would create an endowed income stream that would more than replace his annual fund support.

Another great Fraternal friend and peer was Glenn T. Gnirrep. For many years, he was an advisor and friend to the Brothers at the Omicron Alpha chapter at Rutgers. Many might find it surprising that he was a Sig Ep and not a KDR Brother, but to many of the guys I've spoken with from our Rutgers chapter, he was just as much of a Brother as anyone. For me, as Executive Director of the National Fraternity in the 1990's, he was a great resource and friend who helped with various regional and national leadership programs. He wanted me to know he included the Foundation in his will. Life is busy, of course, and while we traded e-mails, we never had a chance to catch up and have a beer. Glenn knew he was fighting a battle for his health, and now I understand why it was important to him that he could continue to impact and benefit the Brothers after he was gone.

None of us want to spend a lot of time contemplating the inevitable. But we have priorities, whether those are family, various organizations, or charities that have been meaningful in our lives. Kappa Delta Rho is one organization that has truly impacted the development and growth of many of us. The opportunities today are greater than those of the past purely because those who came before made that possible. If you would like to include the Kappa Delta Rho Foundation, let us know by e-mailing Heritagesociety@kdr.com or calling the National Office at (724) 838-7100 x11. If you would like to discuss specific options about what you could do in terms of specific scholarships or program support, let us know!

"... you have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, through your estate plans, to change the national Fraternal landscape ..."

What do these financial tools have in common?

- LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES
- 401K ACCOUNTS OR IRAS
- CHARITABLE REMAINDER TRUSTS
- STOCK AND EQUITIES
- REAL ESTATE

Answer:

As you devise your estate plan, you can use any one of them to make a gift to the Kappa Delta Rho Foundation.

GREGG R. STEAMER,
DELTA '74
COLGATE UNIVERSITY

When I was a KDR undergraduate at Colgate University in the 1970's, like most college students I didn't realize being a member of KDR would have positive lifelong influence through all facets of my life. In the last several years I have had the great opportunity to work with many other Brothers as volunteers with the KDR Foundation. I have particularly enjoyed meeting many undergraduate leaders and seeing the life-changing impact leadership programs like the Williams Leadership Academy, the Consuls Academy, and several other programs that are sponsored by the KDR Foundation, has on these undergraduate leaders.

Programs like these that you see from KDR today did not even exist when I was in college. During the years I have been involved, it has been exciting to see the level and quality of programs grow dramatically and I have come to realize this improvement in program effectiveness is a function of resources and the ability to invest in the lives of our young leaders.

When my wife and I recently reviewed our estate plans, in addition to providing for family, we discussed the organizations that have mattered to us. When it came to KDR, we thought fondly of our direct involvement and support each year and decided it was important to have a lasting impact as well by including the Kappa Delta Rho Foundation in our plans. We are pleased to contribute to KDR's mission of investing in the future of young college students.

Brother Steamer with fellow Trustees Dan LaPlaca, Beta '96 and Steven Stastny, Nu Alpha '88.

Heritage Society member Tim Moore, Eta '68 recently joined Chapter Eternal. Years ago Brother Moore was a strong advocate for planned giving and, given his professional career working with Northwestern Mutual, he advocated using Life Insurance as a tool to have an impact. A long time supporter of KDR and the Kappa Delta Rho Foundation, Brother Moore's legacy gift of $55,000 will create a lasting legacy of endowment income to impact the lives of undergraduate KDR's in perpetuity.

IS YOUR ESTATE PLAN COMPLETE?

-  Do you have a current will?
-  Have you executed a durable power of attorney to provide for the management of your affairs if you become incapacitated?
-  Have you executed a living will, setting forth your wishes about medical treatment?
-  Have you reviewed beneficiary designations of your life insurance policies and retirement accounts to make sure they reflect your current wishes?
-  Have you included in your estate plan a legacy gift for the Kappa Delta Rho Foundation or other charitable organizations that have been important in your life?

David Berbary, Iota Beta '20, is one of four undergraduate Brothers who received the Commerford B. Martin Scholarship at the 104th National Convention this past August in Lexington, Kentucky.

David counts his KDR experience among his most important campus activities and leadership roles since he began his studies at RIT. In addition to Brother Berbary's involvement with KDR, he is highly involved and engaged with the American Institute for Chemical Engineers, a professional club whose mission is to develop chemical engineering students.

According to David, his most important leadership activity on campus is his success inside the classroom. He's earned a 3.84 GPA and works extremely hard to maintain his academic excellence. Brother Berbary is a member of the Order of Constantine, an undergraduate society that recognizes Brothers who have a 3.24 GPA or higher. In keeping with our Fraternity's value of being your Brothers' keeper, he has leveraged his success to be able to tutor other students and work as a teaching assistant.

KDR Precepts Personified By Joseph S. Rosenberg, Ed.D.

Tony D'Amico, Pi Alpha '20, the 2017-2018 recipient of the John C. Carl Scholarship and the James F. Edgeworth Scholarship, represents the very best of Fraternity and our undergraduate Brothers. Tony is our precepts personified in that he is a gentleman on campus, diligently pursues his education, is consistently engaging the community at the University of Toledo and in the greater Toledo community, and is supportive of his alma mater.

His alumni advisor Rick Longenecker, Pi Alpha '86, states the following about Tony:

Tony exemplifies the term "student leader." As a student, Tony has a 3.9 GPA, so he is an academic role model for his fellow KDR's. Tony has served as a committee chair and chapter officer within Pi Alpha. He has also served as an officer within a professional fraternity and as committee chair for other campus organizations. Tony is a leadership role model for his fellow KDR's. He will have a strong resume as a student leader upon graduation and exemplifies all the best attributes of a KDR Gentleman.

Brother D'Amico is very active on campus. In addition to his involvement within KDR, he supports his college community at the University of Toledo. He joined the Professional Business Fraternity, Pi Sigma Epsilon, in the spring of 2017. Upon joining this organization, he became their vice president and from his efforts, the organization placed second in the nation (over 60 chapters) and many of their members gained internships for the summer. In representing the Pi Alpha Chapter of KDR, he was involved with the Interfraternity Council, serving as a member of the judicial board. As part of the judicial board, he worked closely with the vice president of judicial affairs to update, maintain, and enforce the bylaws of the Fraternal community and hold his peers accountable for their actions.

Along with serving as a leader in many organizations, Tony is a member of several honor societies. One is the Lambda Sigma Honor Society, which is an honor society for the top 30 freshmen on campus. It recognizes distinctions in leadership, scholarship, and service. He is also a member of the Order of Omega. This organization is reserved for the top 3% of all students in Greek Life and can only be applied for after reaching junior status. He is a member of the Order of Constantine within KDR, which recognizes those undergraduate Brothers who have a 3.24 cumulative GPA or better.

Along with participation in student run organizations, Tony is also involved with many programs at the University of Toledo.

At the beginning of fall 2017, Tony became a First-Year Resident Orientation Guide (FROG). This position mentors incoming freshmen, assisting them with the transition to college life at the University of Toledo. He is also an orientation leader, selected based on campus involvement and knowledge of everything UT. Through this job, he guides freshmen through the orientation process and answers all questions they have about campus living. Tony also serves the community at the University of Toledo in the Presidential Ambassadors program. The members of this organization represent the President Sharon Gaber at events she is unable to attend. Heavily involved leaders are tapped into this exclusive organization, and only 25 were selected this year.

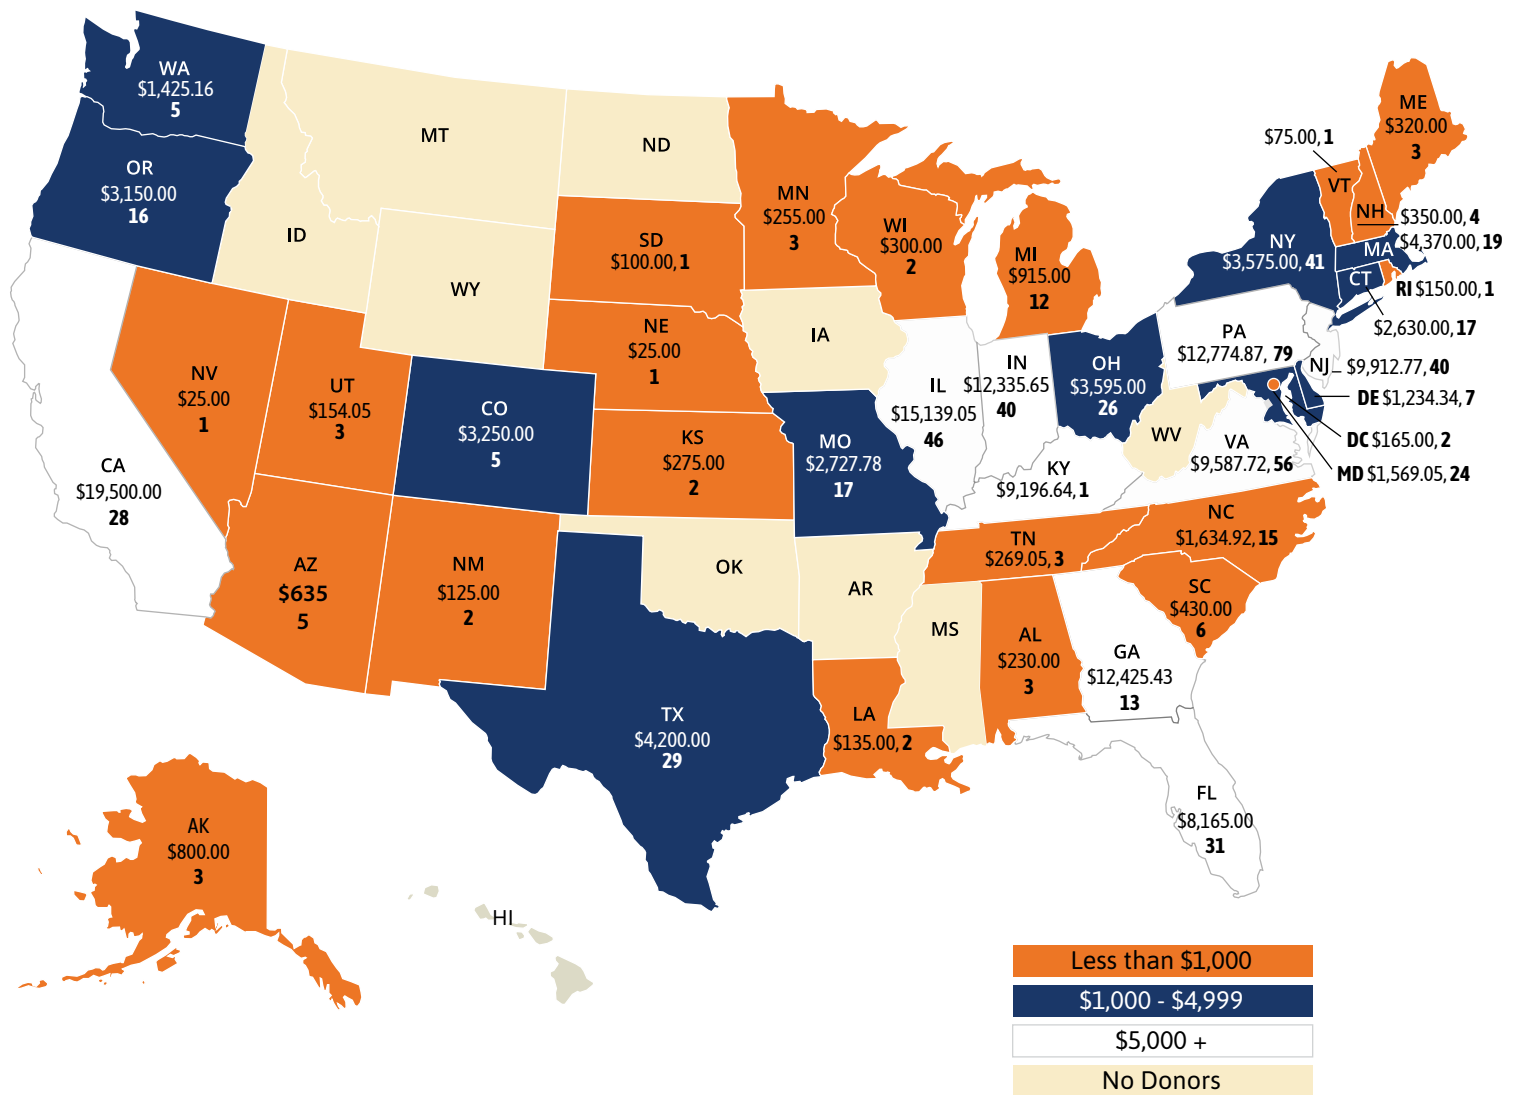

Tony is indicative of the type of college male we are recruiting and providing with educational opportunities through programs, scholarships, and grants from KDR.

Fraternity And Foundation Leadership Move Forward On Feasibility Study Recommended By Joint Task Force

Earlier this year, the Fraternity and Foundation leadership formed a joint task force to evaluate the educational, personal development, and support needs of our undergraduate chapters and individual members. The task force met in person and by conference call. The discussion was broad but ultimately focused on the challenges and needs of our undergraduate Brothers. Mental health awareness, support resources, and suicide prevention are areas of critical need, and we are pleased to say KDR is responding in a dynamic way. Brothers' Keeper is an industry-leading series of programs and support offerings that differentiate KDR from every other fraternity. We're proud to say that upon implementation we will lead the fraternity world in terms of our care and support for our members.

To support the launch of Brothers' Keeper, the Foundation is conducting a feasibility study to gather feedback from the Brotherhood. We've partnered with a consulting firm in Atlanta called Elevate IMS. Over the course of the next few months, the Elevate team will be contacting individual Brothers for in person and telephone interviews. A written and mailed survey will come out in January, and an electronic version will come out to every Brother for whom we have an e-mail address. We want and need your input. To move forward, we must ascertain whether the interest exists among our Brotherhood to join together and lead our fraternal peers.

On behalf of the joint Fraternity and Foundation task force, thank you for your insight and leadership!
